WHIPPING OF GIRL BY MOTHER ENDS IN TWIN TRAGEDY

Policeman's Stormy Career as Officer of Law Closed After Quarrel With Wife Who Aided Him for 16 Years.

THREE ORPHANED BY DUAL SLAYING

Patrolman Odus C. Hewell, who, in his 15 years' service on the police department, had been accused of murder, assault and attempt to murder, assault with intent to murder and drunkenness while on duty, Tuesday in a fit of anger shot twice and killed the wife who stood by him and helped him fight his way out of his difficulties.

Hewell stood for a moment staring at the body of his wife and then put his policeman's pistol in his mouth and pulled the trigger a third time, ending his own life.

The dual tragedy took place at the Hewell home, 181 Racine street, S. W., while the policeman was home for lunch. The Hewells' three children, Dorothy, 17; George, 13, and Lamar, 8, stood by helplessly as Hewell climaxed his stormy life and orphaned them by its tragic end.

Quarrel Over Girl.

Brother officers who investigated on orders from Chief T. O. Sturdivant said they learned that the shooting was the result of a quarrel between Hewell and his wife after the officer had remonstrated with Mrs. Hewell for whipping the daughter, Dorothy, Tuesday morning.

Hewell and his partner, Radio Patrolman A. F. Etheridge, drove to the Hewell home at about 12:30 o'clock, Etheridge to remain outside while Hewell ate his lunch. Within a few minutes after Hewell entered the modest home the quarrel began and within another few minutes the three shots which killed Mrs. Hewell and the policeman were heard.

Investigating officers said the Hewell children told them that Hewell cursed without warning, that he shot his wife twice in the head and that while her body lay at his feet he hesitated a moment and then fired the shot which ended his own life.

Patrolman Rushes To Aid.

Etheridge said that he was seated in the police car outside, that he heard loud noises emanating from the Hewell dining room, and that a few minutes later heard the three shots, two in rapid succession and the third after a moment's interval.

"I thought perhaps someone had ambushed Hewell in the house and went in to see if I could help him," Etheridge said. "Just as I opened the door the daughter came rushing out, screaming. She told me what her father had done and then ran to a neighbor's house. The other children, like Dorothy, were hysterical and unable to tell much of what had happened. It was all so sudden that I do not think any of them realize

Partisan Oratory Rings Up Curtain on Republicans' National Convention in Chicago

WET-DRY BATTLE RAGES ALL NIGHT; BOLT IS HINTED

Administration Forces Capture Majority of Places on Subcommittee and Hope of Repealists Is Markedly Dimmed.

MRS. WILLEBRANDT RAPS PUSSYFOOTING

Former Dry Crusader Says There Are Only Two Possible Positions, Repeal or Indorsement.

BY FRANCIS M. STEPHENSON.

CHICAGO, June 14.—(AP)—Administration forces made a vigorous move toward settling in their own way the prohibition controversy which is plaguing the republican national convention tonight by taking firm control of the subcommittee which will draft the platform planks.

Two cabinet members, Ambassador Edge and Senator Hastings, of Delaware, fresh from the capital, were chosen on the special committee of 15 which will announce the 1932 republican declaration—including the newly finished prohibition resubmission plank.

Senator Bingham, of Connecticut, leader of the repeal movement, was dropped from the special subcommittee announced by James R. Garfield, of Ohio, chairman of the resolutions committee.

At the same time the word spread that the draft of a resubmission plank finally fixed upon by the administration leaders here was conciliatory to prohibitionist demands. President Hoover was consulted about it.

It was a declaration recognizing the principle of resubmission but insisting that congress first provide a substitute for the eighteenth amendment to propose to the states in regular order.

These developments followed events popping like a cluster of firecrackers, including surprise threats from the drys both for a floor fight and a move against the national ticket in November.

As hearings ran far into the night, hope for a report by the special subcommittee on the platform before early morning diminished.

Secretaries Mills, of New York, and Hyde, of Missouri, representing conflicting views on prohibition, were the two cabinet members put on the special platform building committee. Ambassador Edge, New Jersey's representative, is a close friend of the president.

Wet leaders said only four of the 15 members of the resolutions committee considered to be wets were put on the special committee.

The day developed a sharp prohibition reaction to the whirling repeal storm that blew up so suddenly from the eastern states.

TENNESSEE SOLON COLLAPSES, DIES ON HOUSE FLOOR

WASHINGTON, June 14.—(AP)—Representative Edward E. Eslick, of Tennessee, died on the house floor today in the midst of a speech for cash payment of the soldiers' bonus.

Death came with a suddenness that brought gasps from members and the galleries, as the 60-year-old legislator faltered, grasped at the reading stand on which his notes lay and then dropped to the floor.

Members quickly carried him to the speaker's lobby where he was placed on a divan. Dr. George Calver, the capitol physician, aided by two doctor-members—Representatives Larrabee, democrat, Indiana, and Swick, republican, Pennsylvania—fruitlessly applied emergency respiration methods.

In less than 20 minutes Calver pronounced Eslick dead. By his side was his wife, who was listening in the gallery while her husband spoke, and the entire Tennessee congressional delegation.

Calver attributed Eslick's death to "heart block."

"I believe he was dead before he struck the floor," the physician said.

The house, which had continued debate after Eslick was removed, adjourned as soon as his death was announced. Shortly afterward the senate also recessed out of respect.

Representative Byrns, senior member of Tennessee, presented the formal resolution of regret.

"He was beloved by every member

Wounded Over Heart, Atlantan Near Death

John A. Rush, 50, street car operator, shot and critically wounded himself Tuesday night at his home at 110 Waddell street, while his wife and three children sat in the next room, according to police reports. He was taken to Georgia Baptist hospital in a Greenberg ambulance. He was shot just above the heart.

Police said members of the family told them that Rush had worked all day Tuesday and apparently was in good health and spirits. Officers found a pistol near where Rush lay on the floor of the bedroom, and said the gun had recently been cleaned and oiled. The wounded man was unable to give doctors details of the shooting.

Head on Horn Button Saves Boy From Gas

WAYNESBORO, Pa., June 14.—(AP) — Thomas Parkinson's head pushed a button and saved his life.

The blast of a horn sounding incessantly brought neighbors running to State Senator C. W. Parkinson's garage yesterday. They found the senator's son, 17, unconscious from carbon monoxide gas, with his head resting on the horn button.

He was revived.

CRISP IS ADAMANT AS FOE OF BONUS

BY GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.

WASHINGTON, June 14.—Again assailing the soldiers' bonus as financially unsound and impossible of payment at this time, Representative Charles R. Crisp, of Georgia, today told the house he must follow the dictates of his conscience and his judgment "and vote against the pending measure."

Judge Crisp was interrupted a number of times during his speech by applause from both sides of the chamber.

As acting chairman of the committee on ways and means, which refused to report out the Patman bonus bill until it was forced to do so by a petition and a special rule, the Georgian said he had never been intolerant with those who had disagreed with him and that he accorded to everyone the same sincerity of purpose.

"So far as I am concerned," he said, "I have placed the welfare of my country above every other consideration, in this emergency.

"I cannot vote for this legislation because I believe it will work injury upon the country we all love. In 1925, when bonus legislation was enacted by the congress, I signed a minority report, urging that $1 and $1.25 a day extra compensation be paid the soldiers in cash, because the country at that time could have fi-

G. O. P. Meet Ruled By Mounting Discord

Apathy, However, Rules Delegates As Dickinson Delivers Keynote Address; Real Interest of Session Lies in Prohi Battle.

BY EDWARD J. DUFFY.

CHICAGO, June 14.—(AP)—Discord over prohibition and the vice presidential nomination mounted among the convening republicans tonight, after a matter-of-fact midday session which dispatched the opening formalities in jig-time.

It was after the delegates and bosses returned to their accustomed hotel haunts, and hearings by committees got under way, that the breaks began.

Less than 80 minutes had been given over to hearing Senator L. J. Dickinson, of Iowa, pronounce the party keynote, and to the setting up of the committees that later tackled the platform and other tasks that have to be disposed of before President Hoover is renominated.

He and his record, as extolled by the broad shouldered, white-thatched Iowan, broke the outward lethargy of the meeting now and again for momentary demonstrations.

Then the delegates hurried back to committee hearings. Militant and zealous spokesmen for the organized drys and wets presented their case for and against repeal to the platform committee, with a likelihood that a middle-way plank will be agreed upon in the early hours.

Meanwhile, the potent Illinois delegation decided to support flat repeal in the floor contest coming.

Dividing the main interest with this, an impetus for the movement to substitute Charles G. Dawes for Charles Curtis on the vice presidential end of the ticket came from New York quarters. Informal polls show-

TEACHERS TO GET PAYLESS VACATION

Atlanta school teachers, already cut 16 per cent to balance the budget of the board of education, Tuesday were given an additional salary cut in the form of a payless vacation as the board sought to meet further shrinkage in revenue.

Oglethorpe University's credits will be recognized by the city board of education as the result of action taken following a lengthy discussion of a report of the rules committee. An effort to change all school names honoring living persons was lost when a resolution offered by Commissioner E. R. Sweat was tabled.

In absorbing a heavy loss in revenue resulting from passage by council of the June finance sheet, the board of education adopted a two-week vacation without pay for all employes receiving a basic salary of $3,000 or more a year, and a proportionate payless vacation for all employes receiving smaller salaries. The payless vacation plan is expected to save $52,000, and an additional $41,488 will be saved through elimination of a number of items in the budget.

30 To Get Two-Week Vacation.

The current expenditures committee, reporting through Chairman Sweat, proposed a 7-day vacation without pay, and the board adopted the report with an amendment by Commissioner W. C. Slate, the amendment rearranging the vacations with

ECONOMY PUZZLE PASSED TO HOOVER

BY NATHAN ROBERTSON.

WASHINGTON, June 14.—(AP)—President Hoover was called upon by the senate today to submit specific recommendations for reducing governmental expenditures, as the log jams holding up congressional action on relief and economy showed signs of breaking.

Confused over the exact status of the budget-balancing drive, the senate adopted a resolution asking President Hoover to submit specific suggestions for cutting governmental expenditures.

Meanwhile, house and senate conferees neared an agreement on the national economy bill which was predicted by the negotiators to yield savings of from $130,000,000 to $150,000,000.

The stalemate over relief legislation was partially broken when the senate banking committee adopted the $2,000,000,000 Wagner bill as a substitute for the $2,300,000,000 Garner measure passed by the house.

This cleared the way for a compromise between the two houses on whatever legislation is finally approved by the senate.

Plans for the adjournment of congress were held in abeyance pending settlement of some of the disputed issues.

Adoption by the senate of the resolution asking for economy suggestions was an outgrowth of the White House conferences last week-end out of which

Cops Called To Quell Inebriated Brick-Tosser

Passers-by in the vicinity of 928 Peachtree street Tuesday night were in fear for their lives until police arrested a young white man, about 21 years old, on a charge of being drunk and disturbing the peace.

Officers F. L. Tippen and W. C. Nix received a hurry call to 928 Peachtree street. There they found a man on the roof of the three-story building busily engaged in throwing bricks at every one who passed below him. The policemen said he had almost demolished the chimney of the house in getting ammunition.

'BOOM' FOR DAWES GAINS STRENGTH

BY CECIL B. DICKSON.

CHICAGO, June 14.—(AP)—A movement to draft Charles G. Dawes for the vice presidential nomination gained ground today with members of several state delegations ready to put forward their own candidates in the event the Chicagoan refuses to accept.

A rising tide of sentiment for Dawes was apparent. A poll of a majority of the 97 New York delegates showed a strong trend away from Charles Curtis.

Friends of the Kansas veteran sought to muster strength to prevent a bolt that might send the 73-year-old vice president off the republican ticket. The Kansas delegation received from Alabama the privilege of putting Curtis' name in nomination at the beginning of the roll call of states.

The Texas delegation, meanwhile, obtained from Arkansas the right to put Dawes into the running in the event the faction-split Illinois delegation does not decide to advance the Chicagoan.

Illinois Will Nominate.

Although a number of the Illinois group do not believe Dawes will accept the nomination if it is brought about through an out-and-out draft, Len Small, former governor and temporary chairman, said the delegation undoubtedly would place him in nomination.

In the New York delegation there was talk about Major General James G. Harboard, Governor Theodore Roosevelt of the Philippines, William K. Donovan, former assistant attorney-general, and former United States Senator James W. Wadsworth.

Serious consideration to placing in nomination J. Leonard Replogle is to

BOEHM ATTACKS DEMOCRATIC BODY, QUITS AS MEMBER

The city democratic executive committee is a law unto itself, Julian V. Boehm, insurance man and civic leader, charged Tuesday in a letter to Dr. Samuel Green, chairman of the committee, resigning his post on the committee and expressing belief that the committee, as it is organized and operated, is "not truly democratic."

Mr. Boehm has come to the conclusion that a new body should be formed through action of city council or the state legislature, so as to "give the body a legal standing and put it in the same position as our state democratic committee."

Regret that an attempt to secrecy was made in connection with the city tax assessors' election referendum included in the last ballot was expressed by Mr. Boehm, who said that he,

Black Is Leading Kilby in Alabama

MONTGOMERY, Ala., June 14.—(AP)—Senator Hugo Black, of Birmingham, who announced during the campaign before the second primary that, although "personally and politically dry," he would vote for a referendum on prohibition, tonight apparently had been renominated over former Governor Thomas E. Kilby, of Anniston, also favoring a referendum on the basis of unofficial returns.

The Associated Press tabulation at midnight gave Black 86,112 votes to 61,249 for Kilbey, with 1,532 boxes out of 2,136 accounted for. Political observers estimated that approximately 25,000 votes remained in the 603 boxes missing, in which Black probably would maintain his ratio.

Mrs. J. E. Frazier, of Birmingham, and Mrs. A. Y. Malone, of Dothan, were running a close race for democratic national committeewoman, with the latter holding a 6,000 lead, with 1,108 boxes counted. The vote stood: Mrs. Malone 46,449; Mrs. Frazier 40,183.

Representative Miles B. Allgood, of Gadsden, held only a narrow lead over Representative Lafayette L. Patterson, of Alexander City. The count, with 144 out of 245 boxes in the district reported, stood: Allgood 6,356, Patterson 6,178.

Rural Sections of South Favor Dry Law Repeal, Straw Vote Shows

Sixty-four per cent of the rural and small city population of the south are in favor of repealing the eighteenth (prohibition) amendment, according to results of a straw ballot conducted by the Southern Agriculturist, a farm publication, while 36 per cent who voted expressed the belief the dry laws should continue in force.

The ballot printed in the May issue of the paper went to 700,000 subscribers and was worded exactly like the Literary Digest poll recently conducted, which showed the country overwhelmingly in favor of repeal. The ballot asked the direct question of whether or not the reader favored continuance or repeal.

According to circulation figures of the Agriculturist, 48 per cent of the 700,000 circulation is distributed through R. F. D. mail carriers and the bulk of the remainder goes into towns of 2,500 or less population.

Oklahoma was the wettest state, with 84 per cent voting favoring repeal, while Tennessee was the dryest, although 50.8 per cent voted for repeal. Results of the Literary Digest poll placed North Carolina along with Kansas as the only states voting dry by a slight majority, but the Agriculturist placed North Carolina in the wet list with 62 per cent favoring repeal.

Next to Oklahoma, Georgia was the wettest state, with 79 per cent favoring repeal of the prohibition laws. The wet percentage in other states was as follows: Alabama, 68; Arkansas, 62; Florida, 78; Kentucky, 65; Louisiana, 78; Mississippi, 69; South Carolina, 67; Texas, 64; Virginia, 73. Voters from northern states voted 73 per cent for repeal. A total of 9,037 ballots were received.

Mamie Williams' Appeal for Color Rejected as Arnold Faction Wins

BY W. F. CALDWELL,
Associated Press Staff Writer.

CHICAGO, June 14.—(AP)—Despite an impassioned plea by Mamie Williams, Savannah negress, the credentials committee tonight voted unanimously to seat the white-directed republican delegation from Georgia.

Ben J. Davis, Atlanta negro editor, kept the committee laughing with his description of the contestants' "rump" convention in Macon.

"There is nothing in this but their personal feelings," said Davis, declaring the regular delegation had committed no irregularity.

He described the contest as an attempt to keep Mamie Williams from losing out as national committeewoman.

The delegates have already nominated Mrs. Bertha M. Field, of Marietta, Ga., a white woman, to succeed her.

James G. Lemon, negro leader of Savannah, presented the contest, charging the delegation of which James W. Arnold, national committeeman, and Josiah T. Rose, state chairman, are members, was irregular.

He repeated much of the fight on the state central committee he had made before the national committee, which voted in favor of the Rose-Ar old delegates.

Mamie Williams talked over her time and the committee room and spectators' laughter made it difficult for the chairman to make his gavel heard.

She appealed to the committee "to make their action 100 per cent Ameri-

MRS. M. N. WATSON IS TAKEN BY DEATH

Young Society Leader Was Formerly Miss Catherine Strode Raine.

Mrs. Marion N. Watson, prominent in Atlanta society and member of one of the city's oldest and best-known families, died at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at a private hospital. She was 27 years old, and resided at 1279 West Peachtree street.

Mrs. Watson underwent an operation last Thursday at the hospital for appendicitis. Her condition was good, physicians said, until Monday night, when there was a sudden change for the worse. Her death was unexpected and came as a shock to her relatives and friends.

The former Miss Catherine Strode Raine, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph S. Raine, widely known Atlantans, Mrs. Watson was a leader in social circles here for several years. She made her debut in 1925 and was married in November, 1926, the marriage being one of the social events of the season.

A graduate of Washington Seminary, she later attended the fashionable St. Mary's school, in Raleigh, N. C. She was a member of the Pi Pi sorority and since her marriage had been prominently identified with the Junior League of Atlanta. She also was a member of the Girls' Cotillion Club, and of the All Saints church.

Mrs. Watson's father, Joseph S. Raine, is widely known as the secretary of the Southeastern Underwriters' Association. Her husband also is engaged in the insurance business, and is well known in business circles.

Funeral services will be held at 4 o'clock this afternoon at the residence on West Peachtree street. Dr. W. W. Memminger, rector of the All Saint's church, will conduct the rites, and interment will be in the Raine family lot in West View cemetery.

In addition to her husband, and her parents, Mrs. Watson is survived by a small daughter, Edna Raine Watson; two brothers, Joseph S. Raine Jr. and John Raine, and three sisters, all well known in society, Mrs. W. C. Wardlaw Jr., Mrs. Jack Donovan and Miss Mamie Raine. All of the survivors reside in Atlanta.

$3,000 as the dividing line. Superintendent Willis A. Sutton said that approximately 30 employes receive $3,000 or more a year.

Dr. Noah W. Baird offered a minority report proposing that the schools continue operation on the original budget and close when the money runs out, and that any additional appropriations by the city not be deducted from next year's income.

Vote on the Slate-amended Sweat report was as follows:

Yeas: Commissioner W. C. Slate, J. T. Davis, H. J. Penn, S. C. Noland, E. R. Sweat, T. N. Clyatt, Paul A. Whitehead and Alderman E. A. Gilliam—8.

Nays: Commissioners J. H. Landers, Noah W. Baird, Frank R. Fling and Mrs. A. E. Wilson.

Rules Report Adversed.

Mrs. Julia O'Keefe Nelson, chairman of the rules committee, offered a report declaring that since the state has not set up a regular accrediting system, Superintendent Sutton should be instructed to warn the teachers that Oglethorpe degrees are not recognized by the board of education. Alderman Gilliam moved that the board adverse the report, and this action was taken after considerable discussion, during which Commissioner Fling said that "if Oglethorpe is so bad, Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, of New York, who probably will be our next president, would not have wanted the degree Oglethorpe recently awarded him." On Fling's motion, the board voted to recognize Oglethorpe's credits as long as the state gives Oglethorpe an annual inspection.

Commissioner Slate obtained passage of an amendment to the rules providing that a rule amendment can be voted on at the same meeting it is offered without previous notice if a majority or eight members so vote.

A letter from Edgar Watkins, president of the board of founders and chairman of the executive committee of Oglethorpe, expressing the hope that "no longer will there be this continued effort to injure and damage the university but that the matter will be left where it was agreed to be left and where the state board of education has placed it," was read to the board. Mr. Watkins quoted Governor Russell, M. L. Duggan, state superintendent of schools, and Dr. O. G. Sanford, who inspected Oglethorpe for the state board of education, in support of his hope that "the law of the state of Georgia will be obeyed by the Atlanta board of education and that the findings of the state board of education and its rules legally authorized will not be ignored."

Fight Launched on Names.

Commissioner Sweat's proposal to change the names of 10 schools named for living persons was tabled, following adoption of a resolution changing the name of the C. J. McLendon school to that of Sylvan Hills school. The 10 schools are: Maddox Junior High, Murphy Junior high, J. Allen Couch, Jerome Jones, James L. Key, Mary Lin, I. N. Ragsdale, Ella W. Smillie and Annie E. West schools. Sweat sought appointment of a committee to recommend new names for the schools.

Members of the board will be furnished with copies of the school audit now being made by the city, so that a committee headed by Commissioner Slate will have information to work with in its investigation of the matter of adjusting salaries and duties of principals, teachers and others.

Superintendent Sutton and Assistant Superintendent H. Reid Hunter will attend next week the convention of the National Education Association in Atlantic City, it was announced.

Mrs. J. A. Beall was elected to the board of lady visitors from the eighth ward, and Mrs. John Funke from the fourth ward. The resignation of Mrs. J. C. Barrow, of the seventh ward, from the board of visitors, was accepted with regret.

The Campbell Coal Company was awarded the contract to supply coal for the schools.

Angry Policeman Kills Wife and Himself

Angered, it is said, when he found that his wife had whipped their 17-year-old daughter, Dorothy, Patrolman O. C. Hewell, well-known member of the Atlanta police force, Tuesday shot and killed Mrs. Hewell and then ended his own life. The shooting took place in the Hewell home on Racine street. The home is shown in the photograph. Hewell is on the left and Mrs. Hewell on the right. Below is Dorothy Hewell, over whom the quarrel is said to have started and who witnessed the dual tragedy.

as well as other members of the committee, has been the object of considerable censure on the part of citizens of the community.

"You know, as well as I, that I had no knowledge of the proposed referendum until I read it in the newspapers," Mr. Boehm said. "This, to me, does not seem fair to members of the committee, who should, in my opinion, be advised and informed as to what is contemplated in connection with the duties of our organization. It is well known that the real authority and workings of the city democratic committee are vested in the subcommittee. The way the committee is now organized, there is practically nothing that the members outside of the subcommittee members can do.

"I appreciate the compliment paid me in appointing me as a member of the rules committee. I feel, however, that I cannot be of such service to the ward I represent as a member of the committee, as it is at present constituted."

His letter opened with the statement that "some five or six weeks ago I wrote you with a view of ascertaining your reasons for holding the city primaries so early as to give the city a 'lame duck' administration. I regret very much that you have not seen fit to reply to my letter."

Mr. Boehm told Dr. Green, however, that "you have done much toward improving our city primaries, and have been fair and just in your rulings."

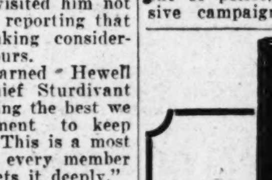

The referendum referred to by Mr. Boehm was a proposal to have the city tax assessors elected by the people. Nature of the refendum was not revealed until the secret proposal was exposed by The Constitution several days prior to the primary.

WOMEN GIVEN CREDIT FOR HOOVER ELECTION

CHICAGO, June 14.—(AP)—Credit for the election of Herbert Hoover in 1928 was given to women voters tonight by Secretary Hurley in addressing the Woman's National Republican Club.

Speaking before nearly 1,000 women and men attending the republican national convention, the war secretary paid tribute to the women's activity in federal elections and said: "In 1928, their votes carried Herbert Hoover into the White House."

be given by the Florida delegation tomorrow, Newman T. Miller, of West Palm Beach, announced. Oklahoma and North Dakota plan to support Curtis, but Connecticut is watching the Dawes movement with interest. Senator Bingham, of Connecticut, is standing by Curtis.

Virtually ignoring Dawes' statement in Washington that he would not become a candidate, his friends in many states claim President Hoover should have a younger man than Curtis. They argue that Dawes would strengthen the national ticket because of his reputation as a business man, diplomat and financier.

Hurley Much Concerned.

That friends of Curtis are much concerned is obvious. Secretary Hurley, a close friend of the vice president, who prevented himself from being boomed for the nomination, arrived today, coming as an emissary from the White House. He manifested much interest in the unexpected developments.

Hurley accompanied J. F. Lucey, of Dallas, to see Orville Bullington, secretary of the Arkansas executive committee, when arrangements were made to nominate Dawes. The war secretary was reticent, but reminded questioners that he was on record for the Kansan.

The Illinois delegation deferred until tomorrow a decision on whether it would nominate Dawes.

Representative W. E. Hull, a delegate, said: "While there is much gossip in the delegation for Dawes, most of us want to learn from the general himself whether he wants the post, and if he wants our support for anything, he can have it."

Arthur M. Curtis, chairman of the Missouri state committee, predicted a "good majority" of the Missouri delegates would vote for Dawes.

DAWES, IN WASHINGTON, REFUSES FURTHER COMMENT

WASHINGTON, June 14.—(UP) Charles G. Dawes, famous outspoken figure in American public life, refused tonight to elaborate on his statement of last night in which he said he was not a candidate for the republican vice presidential nomination, and urged his friends not to embarrass him by their support.

Questioned by the United Press concerning reports from Chicago that he had been advised he would have to make an even stronger statement to escape the nomination, Dawes said:

"That is interesting. I've heard nothing about it. If what I said in my statement last night is not strong enough, I am sorry, but I cannot make my position any clearer."

Asked whether he would make a new declaration in view of the agitation in his behalf at the republican convention, Dawes replied:

"I have nothing more to say than has already been said. Should I have anything more to say I'll do it in my own way and at my own time."

Dawes would say nothing more. He completes his work here tomorrow as head of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and said upon resigning this post he would return to private life.

CRISP IS ADAMANT AS FOE OF BONUS

nanced it and could have paid it. I felt if that was taken as a basis and insurance policies were issued, to fall due in 1945, the very conditions that confront us today would obtain and it would have been the part of wisdom to have paid it in full.

"Today there are hundreds and thousands of American citizens who have bought and paid for insurance in private companies, who would be delighted to have them cashed for their full face value. But they cannot get them paid because it is not in accordance with their contract."

Judge Crisp explained that the present economic condition of the country, the financial conditions of the United States treasury, and the burdensome taxes recently laid upon the backs of the people made it extremely unwise for congress to authorize the payment of the soldiers' adjusted service certificates at this time.

Friend of Veterans.

In conclusion, he said, "I have the kindliest feelings for the veterans and I have supported all remedial legislation for their benefit and have tried to assist them in hospitalization and claims adjusting work.

"But I do not believe these certificates can be paid today. I believe it a fallacy to say that soldiers can be paid without imposing additional taxes.

"If I believed the government could issue $2,400,000,000 of bonds, I never would have voted to levy $1,118,000,000 additional taxes on my fellow countrymen.

"The bonus bill will pass this house, but it cannot be passed over a presidential veto, in my judgment.

"Let me say that just as these brave soldiers were willing to sacrifice their lives, if need be, for their country in time of war, in this time of great distress, of suffering by the masses of the people greater than they suffered during the war, it will be but a small sacrifice for me to lay down my political life, if necessary, to serve my country."

Prolonged applause followed Representative Crisp from the well of the house back to his seat, and he was personally congratulated by a score or more of his colleagues before he left the chamber.

Another Georgia, Representative Edward E. Cox, of Camilla, joined with his colleague in opposing payment of the bonus at this time.

Mr. Cox, who also opposed both the motion discharging the committee from further consideration of the bill and the rule making it a special order of business today, said "the proponents of this measure say its passage will impose no additional tax burdens on this nation. I inquire what Croesus will pay the bill?"

He pointed out that 26.1 per cent of all appropriations now go to ex-service men and that America could stand no additional burdens.

Representative Cox took the floor immediatelyy after Representative Eslick, of Pulaski, Tenn., dropped dead in the well of the house while making a stirring plea for payment of the bonus.

what was going on until both their mother and their father were dead."

Hewell, whose father before him was a policeman, joined the force as a supernumerary in 1913 and in 1914 became a patrolman. His record shows that shortly after joining the force he was accused of shooting John Camp, a collector for his brother-in-law, P. P. Jackson. Hewell and Jackson had engaged in a quarrel at Decatur street and Central avenue and during a scuffle Hewell is said to have drawn his pistol and fired at Jackson, the bullet hitting Camp and wounding him in the arm.

Tried for Murder.

In 1930, Hewell, on call duty, was sent to the butcher shop of Jake Minsk on Decatur street where a quarrel had been reported. In attempting to arrest Minsk, Hewell shot and killed him. For the killing, Hewell was indicted and tried on a charge of first-degree murder, the state contending that the policeman killed Minsk in cold blood, it being testified at the trial that Hewell, after wounding Minsk, fired the shots which killed him while the butcher was lying on the floor.

Hewell pleaded self-defense, asserting that Minsk had approached him, threatening him with a butcher's knife. The jury in the first trial disagreed. At a second trial, Hewell was acquitted after the jury had deliberated many hours.

Mrs Hewell sat beside her husband in court during both of his trials for the killing of Minsk. When the jury finally brought in a verdict acquitting her husband, she wept for joy and later arranged a celebration at the home in commemoration of the verdict.

The records of the police department show that formal charges of drunkenness twice have been preferred against Hewell by superior officers on the department but no record of their disposition can be found.

Chief Sturdivant revealed Tuesday that Mrs. Hewell had visited him not more than a week ago, reporting that Hewell had been drinking considerably during his off hours.

"I often have warned Hewell against drinking," Chief Sturdivant said. "We all were doing the best we could on the department to keep Hewell's morale high. This is a most deplorable tragedy and every member of the department regrets it deeply."

Mrs. Hewell is survived by four sisters, Mrs. N. J. Brown, Mrs. I. J. Pearcy, Mrs. William Scott and Mrs. P. T. Jackson, of Atlanta; five brothers, T. K., R. T., W. L., G. G., and W. T. Eubanks, of Atlanta.

Hewell is survived by a step-mother, Mrs. J. B. Hewell, of Atlanta, and four sisters, Mrs. E. H. Norwood, Mrs. J. H. Kelley, Mrs. R. L. Cowan and Mrs. George Fielding, of Atlanta.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

WOMAN LOSES $1,500 TO MEMPHIS BANDIT

MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 14.—(AP)—While a score or more persons looked on, Miss Hattie Myers, cashier for Mascari Brothers, produce dealers, was robbed of between $1,200 and $1,500 at noon today by a man who leaped from a small automobile, grabbed the firm's deposit from her hands and returned to the car as the driver stepped on the accelerator.

of the house just as he was beloved by every citizen of the state," Byrns said in his voice husky with emotion. "He died as I know he would have liked to die, here on the floor of the house."

William Tyler Page, veteran house employe, said after a search of records that Eslick was the first member to die on the house floor since 1834.

Eslick was standing before the speaker's dais, in the well of the house, when stricken. Facing his colleagues, as he compared United States veteran benefits to those of other countries, he said:

"But, Mr. Chairman, I want to divert from the sordid. We hear nothing but dollars here. I want to go from the sordid side—"

Here he paused. Turning toward the republican side at his left he slumped toward a small table on which a glass of water rested, seemed to catch himself and then collapsed on the floor.

After the house had recessed Representative Rainey, the acting speaker, told newspapermen he would seek unanimous consent tomorrow to end debate and expedite a final decision.

A number of amendments are to be acted on, including one by Representative Kleberg, democrat, Texas, to tax 2.75 per cent beer to raise money for the bonus payments. The house will meet at 11 o'clock (eastern standard time), an hour earlier than usual.

The pros and cons of the proposed legislation had been presented by a number of speakers in two hours of debate when Eslick arose. He was almost through when his voice dropped to scarcely more than a whisper. He turned and made a feeble effort to grasp a table for support. Then he collapsed.

Senate opponents claim sufficient votes to prevent passage in that branch.

The first speaker for the bill was Representative Vinson, democrat, Kentucky, who said its supporters believed it would "meet the fundamental basis of our troubles today."

Representative Crisp, democrat, Georgia, acting chairman of the ways and means committee, opened for the opposition with the contention the proposed legislation would "injure the country."

The principal argument of supporters of the measure, which would pay the service certificates by issuing currency, was that this would cause a wide distribution of money.

Opponents generally characterized it an "inflation measure."

The prospect of a senate defeat or presidential veto of the measure did not deter the army of veterans now here, or those still arriving hourly, from pursuing their objective.

Police estimated some 500 have announced their intention of leaving the city as the result of heavy rains during the past three days. Some already have left.

Estimates of the number here ranged from 18,000 as given by police, to more than 20,000, as figured by the vetreans.

Pelham D. Glassford, superintendent of police, has begun an aggressive campaign to get the veterans out of the city, using enticing offers of provisioned trucks for free rides toward home.

came word that economies or additional revenue of $150,000,000 or $200,000,000 must be found to balance the budget.

The resolution was offered by Senator Robinson, the democratic leader, and adopted without debate.

Most congressional leaders took the view that the budget will be balanced when the economy bill has been passed.

Senator Smoot, republican, Utah, one of the senate conferees, said an agreement had been reached to adopt the Hoover furlough plan for government employes and that the economy bill would be reported tomorrow bearing economies of $130,000,000.

Other conferees denied an agreement had been reached on the furlough plan but all said a decision was near.

As the banking committee reported the Wagner unemployment relief bill to the senate in the form of a substitute for the Garner proposal, negotiations were opened among senate leaders looking toward a compromise on the controversial $500,000,000 public works bond issue feature to which President Hoover is opposed.

House leaders predicted an agreement would be forthcoming.

CASTING ABOUT FOR JONAHS.

Though there is little or no possibility of the republican vice presidential nominee ever becoming vice president and hence an even less chance of his becoming president, there seems to be considerable doubt as to who will receive this doubtful honor. Present indications are that Vice President Curtis is to be made the Jonah of the convention.

Until the last several days it appeared to be a foregone conclusion that Curtis would be renominated.

However, he now finds himself opposed by a lot of odds and ends of delegates who realize more than ever that something in a big, big way must be done if the G. O. P. is not to be led to slaughter. The remote possibility of Hoover's reelection and the scant chance of his death during office which would elevate Curtis to the presidential chair is a picture too dismal for even the republicans. Hence they are finding a lot of reasons why he should not be renominated.

But the vice presidency is a more or less thankless job, particularly when the head of the ticket is a man in the prime of life and more than likely to last for the next four years. This year the republican second choice nomination is being sought after even less than usual. In fact, those "candidates" who control no more votes than their own are all that are seeking it. If a possibility has at least five votes at his command there is talk of drafting him, for the G. O. P. deems it advisable to pick up every possible vote.

More than ever the republicans are out for votes this time and they are casting about for Jonahs.

"Economy" should be the watchword, declares a business leader. We've been watching that word now until we're sick.

REAL ESTATE'S LOW PRICE.

This morning The Constitution publishes in its classified advertising pages the fourth of a series of letters from leaders in the local realty field emphasizing the certainty of profits from the purchase of real estate at its present record-low prices.

Not for decades has it been possible to buy real estate of any kind at today's bargain rates. Atlanta is now nearly twice as populous as it was when present prices were last approximated, so that with the return of normal conditions both city and suburban property is certain to climb rapidly to levels more in keeping with its real value.

The wealth and property of a country is more truly reflected by the value of its real estate than by any other gauge. With property at its present prices the return of better times will be marked by rapid advances all along the line in real estate valuations.

Downtown business property, city residence property and suburban acreage can be secured now for a half, or less, of what it brought two or three years ago—and for a fraction of what it will be worth a few years hence.

There is no more certain way to cause a dollar to "turn over"—to double, treble and even quadruple—in a comparatively short time than by investing it in dirt.

Thousands of Atlantans now renting or living in apartments are faced with the best opportunity they will ever have to secure the site for a home of their own at a price within the reach of the family exchequer.

Sensible investors are putting their money into real estate because they know it will be safer there than anywhere else and that, used in that manner, it is sure to bring in handsome profits.

Now as never before is the time to buy real estate in and around Atlanta.

Mr. Hoover's "rugged individualists" are fast becoming ragged individualists under his regime.

THE HAWAIIAN SITUATION.

Developments in Hawaii since the Massie-Fortescue trial seem to be strengthening the opposition to any immediate change in the present form of government of the islands.

Now that the excitement incident to the trial, its verdict and the commutation of the sentence by Governor Judd has subsided, calm consideration of conditions existing prior to the tragic attack on Mrs. Massie, and the steps which have been taken to clear up an unfortunate local political situation is possible.

Before the Massie attack occurred there had been a general breakdown in the forces of law and order, with a resultant growth of defiance on the part of a minority of the polyglot races comprising the islands' population.

At the request of the leading citizens of Honolulu Governor Judd called the islands' legislature into immediate session, at which new laws were enacted which resulted in the naming of competent heads for the detection and prosecution of criminals.

Under the law of Honolulu a manslaughter conviction is pardonable, while a recommendation of mercy accompanying such a conviction makes suspension of sentence mandatory. Neither is possible in the case of a second degree murder conviction.

It is now known that the jury when it became evident an acquittal was not possible, decided upon the manslaughter conviction which would have the double result of giving immediate freedom to the accused and avoid the danger of a second trial before another jury which might bring in a second degree murder verdict, with its obligatory penitentiary sentence.

Thus, if is revealed, with the passing of the excitement and passion incident to the attack and the trial, that Hawaii itself has acted promptly and firmly towards eradicating the troubles responsible for the breakdown of law and order and that the verdict was the result of calm deliberation and not of racial prejudice.

So it seems only fair that any steps looking to the taking away of self-government from the islands should be held in abeyance until it is established whether the corrective moves made will be successful in curbing the lawless element responsible for the crime wave which for so many months blackened the fair name of these beauty islands of the Pacific.

Particularly is this advisable since among the business and financial leaders of the islands are many men representing the highest type of American citizenship. Many of them are long-time residents of the islands.

They have taken the lead in the movement to clean the island government of objectionable features and weak spots and they should be given reasonable opportunity to restore peace, security and good government.

If they should not be successful, it will be time enough for the government to step in and take control, but in the meantime interference from the mainland will be a handicap instead of a help.

Bertrand Russell says a vegetarian diet makes one pugnacious. It seems that he's right—our young son gets mad enough to fight when we make him eat spinach.

In a way, it might seem reasonable that Hoover should be able to lead us out of the depression—he led us into it, didn't he, and should know the way out?

A Boston physician thinks candidates for marriage should be required to stand an intelligence test before a license is issued. There are others who think people in this condition have already stood a test of intelligence—and failed.

A magazine article is headed "What will the trim businessman wear?" We didn't read it. We're not a trim businessman—but a trimmed one—and are wearing things we selected three years ago.

An economist is worrying because the world has too many people. That soon will be remedied—they're going to hold the next world's fair in Chicago.

Judge (the magazine) says business is so bad farmers are laying off scarecrows. But they don't need them now anyway, with all their city cousins around on vacation.

Tip to June brides-to-be: Love may make the world go 'round, but you have to have a little money in order to go 'round with it.

We think it would be well for New York city to give Jimmy some more traveling expense funds—in the form of a one-way ticket.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

Religious Tolerance In Spain.

It is a hopeful sign for the future peace of Spain that this week, exactly 12 months since the attacks on convents and churches in Spain and in which 56 religious institutions were destroyed and 76 more partially damaged, the Catholic organization known as "Fathers of Families" has been able to hold an enthusiastic congress in Madrid as the opening of a campaign to collect 13,000,000 pesetas for the building of Catholic schools.

Five thousand men and women crowded the largest hall in Madrid for the closing of the congress, without the slightest incident occurring, reports the London Times. Particular interest attaches to the evolution of Catholic opinion since the first bitter reaction to the attack on church property. A long and harsh struggle between Catholics and the republican regime seemed imminent and even the possibility of a minor civil war lurked in the background. Judicious and wise leadership have improved the situation greatly.

Mgr. Tedeschini, Papal Nunicio in Madrid, has been discreet and tireless in his efforts to smooth out difficulties, and "El Debate," the leading Catholic newspaper, and its associated journals in the provinces, have been moderate in their tone even under most provoking circumstances.

This policy is now bearing fruit. Instead of being involved in underhand conspiracies against the regime, the majority of the Catholics are able to openly work and organize for a vigorous revival of Catholicism.

Death in the Desert.

The Arabian desert is strewn with new skeletons, for numbers of camels, sheep and donkeys have died through lack of water. A good deal of minor fighting for water rights and much privation among the Arabs have also resulted from the drouth, for the winter rainfall throughout central and northern Arabia has been only one-sixth of the normal amount, reports Reuter from Basrah.

The wells and waterholes on which the Bedouin depend for their very life have only filled up to one-sixth of their capacity. The lack of rain has also caused terrific sandstorms, which, it is expected, will have a bad effect on the quality of this year's date crop, although there are signs that it will be a heavy one. Great Britain buys over 1,000,000 pounds sterling worth of dates from Arabia each year.

Human Sacrifice.

The sacrifice of a 9-year-old girl to the Goddess Kali has led to the transportation for life of a woman named Umrai, belonging to a village near Lucknow, says Reuter. While some local women were singing songs in praise of Kali at the house of a local village headman, their voices suddenly went hoarse. The women concluded that the goddess had been displeased and was angry with them and that she could only be appeased by the sacrifice of a young girl.

One of them, a woman named Umrai, the most superstitious of all, volunteered to slaughter a girl and thus conciliate the goddess. Early next morning she enticed the little girl to her house and sacrificed her to the altar of the goddess. A small boy, who had witnessed the whole scene from a distance, informed the parents of the girl, and Umrai was arrested.

Health Talks

BY DR. WILLIAM BRADY

IN THE SPRING THE OLD-TIMER'S FANCY.

April 26 was the opening date this year. On that day the first inquiry arrived. Minnesota reader asked me to advise him of a springtonic with the use of sulphur and just how to mix and take it.

This season the proportion of such inquiries in the mail was distinctly less than it has been in former seasons. It looks as though the old-timers are gradually relinquishing their venerable traditions. Ho-hum, what a dull world this will be when all those fine old romantic notions have gone a-glimmering.

Sulphur is a laxative. It has no appreciable effect other than that. Probably sulphur is not absorbed into the blood at all when taken as sulphur, but only when it is present in natural chemical compounds in such foods as eggs, beans, meat, cheese, fish, milk, peas, wheat flour, oatmeal and potatoes. There is comparatively little sulphur in the human body, about one-fourth as much sulphur as phosphorus, for example, and about one-eighth as much sulphur as calcium (lime).

Sulphur is prescribed as a laxative in cases where soft, mushy effects are required. Powdered sulphur mixed with powdered senna leaves and powdered licorice constitutes the familiar compound licorice powder which is still used as a laxative following childbirth and hemorrhoid operations.

Sublimed or precipitated sulphur is for external use.

Sulphur in the form of a well-made ointment (in which the sulphur is quite extinguished, that is, no particle can be felt between the fingers) is still the best remedy we have for dandruff and for scabies (old-fashioned itch). So far as we know, however, sulphur is without value as a remedy for other conditions than scabies where itching happens to be a symptom. (Scabies is a parasitic infestation of the skin, and the sulphur kills the parasites, itch mites, which burrow under the cuticle.) I have concluded that it is impossible to instruct people how to employ sulphur as a remedy for scabies, without personal supervision by the physician. I mean that the doctor's attendance is essential for successful results. So don't waste your time and postage asking me for further instructions. Ask your doctor.

You Can't Judge an Ignorant Pup by the Rules That Condemn a Vicious Dog

By Robert Quillen

Two martyrs in olden days looked with compassion on their executioners and prayed: "Father, forgive them; they know not what they do."

Twenty centuries have passed and the world has become more decent, but still the victims of man's justice are victims of ignorance.

There has been some progress. Law and common sense concede that violators of the law may not be equally responsible. The lunatic no longer is hanged for murder.

But mankind is not divided into two distinct classes, the one normally intelligent and the other imbecile. There are as many degrees of intelligence as there are violators of the law.

If, then, one criminal deserves the maximum punishment because his mind is normal, and another should escape punishment because he is an irresponsible idiot, how can it be just to inflict the same punishment on all sane offenders when no two of them possess the same degree of intelligence or moral responsibility?

A few years ago an ignorant youth from a mountain district was sent to federal prison because he had attempted to draw a postage stamp on an envelope. It was a crude drawing and apparently not intended to deceive. The youth evidently believed that anything remotely resembling a stamp would meet postal requirements. Sending him to prison was about as sensible and just as it would be to hang a two-year-old child.

Of course, the law can't adjust itself to the mentality of every offender. But it can avoid injustice by defining the crime and leaving the rest to those who administer justice.

The courts can do much since the adoption of the indeterminate sentence, but they cannot do enough. What judge has the time or the skill to investigate each offender's degree of culpability and determine the treatment necessary for his redemption?

Psychiatrists at Sing Sing find that only one-fourth of the criminals sent to that institution have normal minds. Is it reasonable to punish a child of 6 and a man of 30 in the same way?

The "punishment" should match the offender, not the offense, for one man can be trusted to offend no more and another can never be trusted.

HOLLYWOOD IN PERSON

BY MOLLIE MERRICK.

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., June 14.—M. H. Aylesworth, new head of R. K. O., keeping a keen eye on the immediate future since that is the spot where motion picture difficulties lie, refuses to make post-mortems on the mistakes made within the industry by overbuilding of theaters which cannot be filled today.

Characterizing the motion picture industry as one that is "going on now from day to day hoping for the turn to come and for sufficient money to keep coming in to tide us over," he declared that, "there must be active co-operation and not just talking and the sooner this takes place the quicker we will be able to face the situation.

"Entertainment is a basic industry, but, unlike others, we must keep going on, whereas the fellow that manufactures some article can stop production when there isn't a market."

Aylesworth recognizes the fact that over half of the people who yesterday patronized motion picture entertainment are unable to do so today through financial stringency. "They must use this money for the necessities of life," he said, "and we come outside of that."

"Hollywood's problem is one of product," he told heads of the industry who greeted him officially in his new capacity, "and at present there is too much product and not enough quality. Too much overhead and not enough co-operation between companies to attain a goal of better product and less waste. Too many theaters and too many seats."

Motion picture attendance has fallen from 10,000,000 a day in 1928 to 6,000,000 per day in the early months of this year. With 8,000,000 wage earners out of jobs there are easily 25,000,000 people unable to spend money for entertainment.

Ina Claire says Helen Hayes is the only sensible actress—"She waits until the right motion picture comes along, then takes it; meanwhile she goes on with her stage work."

And Ina Claire, whose contract with Sam Goldwyn was recently dissolved "by mutual consent," indicates that she is going about that policy in future herself. She has turned down some fine offers from picture corporations because "none of them has been for me."

"I come from the stage. I am rhythmed to it, I understand its finesse and its exaggeration and I am accustomed to long and meticulous search for the correct vehicle and to adequate preparation for it after it is found.

"The necessarily quick methods of picture production involving snap judgment on a number of things are not in keeping with the things I have known and understood. And the fact that I had little or nothing to say regarding anything I did in pictures is also a regrettable mistake."

She isn't losing any sleep about anything; one glance at that dewy freshness makes you realize that. The most patrician lady of the stage drawing room and the most vital personality in the legitimate theater off the stage, is more beautiful than ever. And that is a very definite assertion.

Captain Herrold Emerson Brooks, chemical warfare service reserve, to Washington.

Major James B. Harrington, dental corps, to Fort Myer.

"MOTHER" MOONEY TO CARRY APPEAL FOR SON TO G. O. P.

CHICAGO, June 14.—(UP)—"Mother" Mooney, thwarted by a temporary attack of blindness early today, plans to storm the republican national convention to plead for her convict son tomorrow.

The 84-year-old white-haired mother of Tom Mooney, who is serving a life sentence in San Quentin prison on conviction of the 1916 Preparedness Day bombing in San Francisco, declares she will lay her cause before Governor James Rolph Jr., of California, while the whole convention looks on.

"God decreed that sight should stay in my eyes," she said tonight, "and with His will and help, I'll creep in among these fine people and tell them that my son is innocent and should not be in prison."

"Mother" Mary Mooney, as she is known to labor groups all over the world, was stricken blind today while sitting in the office of David J. Bentall. In the room at the time were seven other women, all representatives of various communist, labor and socialist groups, and two men.

"My God, I can't see," she cried, struggling from her chair and flinging out her withered arms. "Please, God, let me see again so I can make one last effort for my son."

Dr. Bronislava Reznick said the attack was induced by fatigue and nervousness. He requested that Mrs. Mooney return to his office tomorrow, when he plans to recommend other glasses for her failing sight.

MAMIE WILLIAMS PLEADS FOR COLOR

can by putting a little color into it and seating her delegation."

Davis, a delegate-at-large on the regular delegation, said the white republicans had simply outvoted the negroes in the county convention and there was no merit in the contest.

"There is no race issue involved," he said.

The committee voted, 34 to 14, tonight to seat the administration-recognized delegation from South Carolina headed by J. C. Hambright. The vote reversed the action of the republican national committee which had temporarily seated the delegation led by the veteran Joseph W. Tolbert.

A third administration victory was scored as the national committee was sustained by the seating of the Louisiana delegation headed by Ernest Lee Jahncke, assistant secretary of the navy, and John E. Jackson, republican state chairman.

Charges of irregularity, made by M. J. Cousins, heading the contestants, were ignored.

The credentials committee voted to sustain the national committee in seating the Mississippi delegation headed by Percy Howard, veteran negro national committeeman.

ed support for Dawes from there as well as other lesser groups of delegates despite his request that he be left out.

Satisfaction for the administration was provided by the credentials committee, which voted, 34 to 14, to seat the South Carolina delegation headed by J. C. Hambright instead of accepting the national committee report of last week in favor of the Joseph W. Tolbert faction.

On the surface all was placid enough. The only outward hint of the fundamental dispute that disturbs the delegates came in the closing minutes of the initial session of the convention. It was when Nicholas Murray Butler, in a voice so low that he could not be heard above the confusion on the floor, presented his proposed plank for repeal with the request that it be referred to the Garfield committee.

No Inkling.

The assemblage in the main had no inkling of what it was about until after Senator Dickinson had said the request would be granted, and abruptly adjourned the gathering until 11 a. m., central daylight time. Moments later the 1,154 delegates, and their alternates, and the thousands of spectators had risen in their seats and were on their way.

Under the chairmanship of James R. Garfield, the mild-mannered former secretary of the interior chosen by the president for the trying assignment, the resolutions committee congregated in the Congress hotel late in the day. In executive session, they faced long and arduous hours endeavoring to complete the party expression that the convention will be called upon tomorrow to approve.

That the day's formal proceedings held little interest for the party clan was evidenced from the outset, for the scheduled starting hour of 11 o'clock arrived with but a fraction of the red-painted chairs occupied.

Delegates and spectators strode in a few at a time, while Chairman Fess, of the national committee, and others identified with the national organization talked things over on the speaker's platform, watching quietly for a chance to begin.

An American Legion band, the Buckeye Republican Glee Club from Columbus, Ohio, and an organist playing on the $200,000 instrument of the stadium took turns on martial and sentimental tunes. Clusters of delegates stood about in consultation, or pointing out notables of the party as they arrived, or admiring the red-white-and-blue decorations which made the tremendous arena a scene characteristic of such quadrennial political gatherings.

Finally, at 11:26, Senator Fess banged for order and proceeded with a tribute to the Stars and Stripes which served to bring order. At his conclusion, an American Legion color guard marched forth through one of the slanting aisles to the center and there massed the flag and legion pennants for a salute and bugle call.

Welcome Convention.

Two celebrated Chicagoans—Mayor Anton Cermak and Silas Strawn—next welcomed the convention and won applause for themselves.

Then the trumpet-tongued senator from Iowa was ceremoniously escorted from his delegation's place to the platform, to enunciate the positions and contentions of the party on which all could agree. He ignored prohibition.

Before getting far in the reading of his 22-page address, he brought forth the first short demonstration by a reference to Lincoln followed with the statement that the party had met in another grave hour to nominate "another stalwart American, Herbert Hoover."

First applause ran its course, and then the delegates stood cheering the Hoover name while Governor Rolph, of California, lifted high the state flag of California and waved it.

He reviewed the administration record on attempting to combat the business problems of the times, leading up to the reconstruction corporation and lauding its work under the Dawes leadership. Mention of the name of the former vice president led to a scattering of applause.

Seemingly a large portion of the delegates gave not much attention to his speech, but just the same his assault on the democrats, his condemnation of "radicalism," defense of the farm board and praise of the republican party as a "sound money" party now and again brought ripples of applause.

In concluding, his voice hoarse and his collar wilted, the senator roused his hearers once again with the declaration that nomination this week "is an implied obligation to elect in November," and called re-election of Mr. Hoover the most dependable means for restoration of normal economic conditions.

Whistles and cheers and handclapping, and crashes of the cymbals from bandsmen, were wafted to him from the far corners of the huge hall as he retired to his chair.

For an hour, he had held the floor reading rapidly and by this time the delegates seemed anxious to get the remaining business over and be off. By viva voce votes and in one-two-three order the setup of committees was approved.

HOOVER FORCES TAKE COMMAND

Borah, called for a militant dry plank and ordered a minority report if resubmission is proposed to the convention.

As the battle was raging before the committee Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, crusading dry of four years ago, was making a radio speech in which she declared there was no such thing as "resubmission." She said the party should declare for repeal or against it and quit straddling.

The repealists also organized under Senator Bingham, of Connecticut, for a floor battle should the modified resubmission plan drafted by the Hoover administration leaders be adopted.

President Hoover's position was bolstered as the resolutions committee finally sat down to its task. Secretary Hurley arrived suddenly and went on the committee from Oklahoma.

Prohibition was the dominating problem of the committee. Hearings were also granted tonight to advocates of other planks, but when the committee closed the doors for an all-night session at a late hour it was prohibition that worried the members.

Hoover Aides Busy.

Throughout the day members of the president's official family worked over the resubmission proposal, consulting with the White House and with dry leaders.

Everything appeared settled as the committee assembled again except a dispute whether submission of prohibition should be to state legislatures or to state conventions. The prohibitionists strongly opposed the latter.

In its earlier hearing a riot call to police headquarters brought reserves to the second floor committee room at the Congress hotel but they weren't needed.

Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler and James W. Wadsworth, former New York republican senator, led the debate for the anti-prohibitionists, demanding repeal.

Dr. Ernest H. Cherrington, head of the board of strategy of the prohibition enforcement forces, and Dr. Daniel A. Poling, head of the Allied Group for Enforcement, championed the prohibition cause.

The hearings before the committee were limited to four hours and the first was given over to prohibition, with the wets and drys limited to 30 minutes each.

Wadsworth Cheered.

Mr. Wadsworth entered the spacious committee room amid a roar of cheers from the women repealers outside. Chairman Garfield presided.

For nearly half an hour wets and drys, men and women, had stood in a tightly packed throng outside the committee room.

Elbow to elbow were Pierre S. du Pont, chairman of the United Council; Bishop James Cannon Jr., of the National Prohibition Board of Strategy; Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, repeal advocate; Dr. A. C. Millar, of Little Rock, Ark., member of the strategy board, and Mrs. Charles H. Sabin, head of the Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform.

Butler spoke first, saying that he found the language admirable in the resolution for repeal adopted by several states. He was not asking for indorsement of repeal, he said, but simply urging that the people be given an opportunity to vote.

Several members of the committee joined in the applause that followed.

DuPont, speaking for the United Repeal Council, contented himself with reading a resolution proposed by the council for repeal and then introduced Wadsworth.

Action or Death.

Wadsworth told the committee that the party that fails to declare its beliefs on the problems of the day and fails to propose action "does not serve and soon must die."

"We cannot fool anybody with talk of modifying or revising the amendment," he said.

"Beware lest an obvious dodging of this question will pin the label 'prohibition party' on what is still the republican party."

Fred G. Clark spoke for the Crusaders and asserted "prohibition has failed." "We demand repeal," he concluded.

Outside the crowd trying to get into the hearing room, blocked the stairway and elevators and the sergeant-at-arms called police to assist in keeping order.

By the time the police arrived, the crowd had been admitted to the hearing room and the congestion had ended.

Mrs. Sabin introduced Mrs. Courtland Nicols, the vice chairman of the National Prohibition Reform League, who said:

"The eighteenth amendment must be repealed and not merely diluted."

Cherrington was the first speaker for the prohibitionists. He said the eighteenth amendment was entitled to all the safeguards and protection thrown around the rest of the constitution.

Wet Plank Assailed.

He objected to binding republican candidates throughout the country by a plank recommending a change in the prohibition laws because, he said, such a plank would put candidates in half the states in a position of being disloyal to the party.

As Dr. Cherrington concluded there was prolonged applause from prohibitionists.

Ella A. Boole, representing the Women's Christian Temperance Union, told the committee that if the republican party indorsed resubmission or repeal of prohibition it would lose the support of many of the women in the November election.

F. Scott McBride said the reason "the wets, our opponets, are asking for this plank is in order to coerce the members of congress and the United States senate and thereby circumvent the constitution."

Mrs. Henry W. Peabody, for the Woman's National Committee for Law Enforcement, read a resolution opposing any modification of the eighteenth amendment.

Dr. David A. Poling, editor of the Christian Herald, was the last of the speakers.

He said 1,512,000 men, women and youths had been organized within the last year in the allied forces for prohibition.

"And all of them are for the eighteenth amendment as it is," he said.

Thirteen members of the Pennsylvania delegation favoring repeal, who met late today under the leadership of Joseph Mackrell, of Pittsburgh, decided to reopen the question of the delegation's stand on prohibition at the caucus early tomorrow.

These repealists charged that the vote of 49 to 15 on a resubmission and federal control proposal did not represent the true sentiment of the delegation. The wet delegates said the action was taken at a "surprise" caucus which they did not attend.

Sensing a losing fight in the committee, the wets promptly arranged to pool their influence behind a common minority report demanding repeal. They will put that report before the convention for a vote and an open battle on the floor.

Besides the prohibition controversy, the multitude of other issues facing the resolutions committee dwarfed appreciably. A bundle of hand-fashioned Hoover planks on farm relief, the tariff, foreign affairs and the economic problem were smoothed over for presentation by the host of cabinet members.

The prohibition battle was conceded by veteran party workers to be the "toughest job" faced by republican platform workers in this century.

Interest of the administration was evidenced by the sudden arrival on the ground of Secretary Hurley, of the Hoover official family. He promptly took a place on the resolutions committee as the representative of Oklahoma.

Farm Relief Program.

Representatives of farm organizations offered a broad program of relief.

Edward A. O'Neal, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, presented Charles E. Hurst, vice president of the federation, who urged the equalization fee to control surpluses, international action to stabilize silver, and improvement in credit facilities of the federal reserve and federal farm loan systems.

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, advocated a program, including indorsement of the Hoover unemployment and business relief measures recently presented to congress; modification to legalize 2.75 per cent beer; six-hour day, five-day week; a declaration against wage cuts and for high wages for labor; modification of the anti-trust laws so that labor, industry and agriculture may develop along normal lines, and the Davis-Kelly coal stabilization bill.

Text of 'Keynote' Address At Republican Convention

CHICAGO, June 14.—(AP)—Following is a partial text of the "keynote" speech delivered by Senator L. J. Dickinson Tuesday at the opening of the republican national convention:

Perhaps it was with prophetic vision that the American people elected Herbert Hoover four years ago with the greatest popular and electoral college vote any president ever received. At any rate he had scarcely taken the oath of his office before economic storm clouds had begun to cast their sinister shadow over the nations of the world.

His first act prevented a financial panic. Invoking the powers of the federal serve board, he prevented this catastrophe. Thus he cushioned the effects of the debacle in Wall Street which followed the greatest period of stock speculation the world had ever known.

With the knowledge that every major economic convulsion in the past had been attended by strikes, riots, bloodshed and death, President Hoover's next concern was to maintain social order.

To this end he summoned to the White House industrial leaders of the nation and obtained from them a promise to maintain existing wage scales as long as it was possible to do so.

On the same day leaders of organized labor, sitting around the same conference table, gave their pledge that there would be no industrial wage disturbances.

Done More.

Had Herbert Hoover accomplished no more in this depression, he would have done more than all of the other presidents had done in the 14 major economic dislocations which have gone before.

But our president planned a campaign to deal with the unprecedented situation in which the world found itself in the back wash of the greatest of wars.

With financial panic averted, with industrial peace assured, the chief executive moved rapidly to mitigate unemployment distress.

However, no action of government or of people could stay the march of the insidious enemy within our gates. Unemployment and suffering were inevitable. To relieve this to the fullest possible measure, the president set up in Washington a national unemployment committee to co-operate with the states both in finding employment and in relieving the needy.

There was a generous response from every state and with the co-operation of the people the president was able to resist rising clamors for a federal dole.

Contrast this picture of a stable social order, the people united in aid to their less fortunate fellows, with the chaois in many countries abroad. There revolution followed revolution. Government after government fell. Battle and bloodshed became an almost every day occurrence.

Action Necessary.

This was the foreign situation only a year ago. Drastic action was necessary if the international financial structure was to be preserved. Herbert Hoover took that action. He proposed and the other powers quickly agreed to a one year's moratorium on reparations and war debts. Germany was saved from financial chaos that would have involved the entire world.

With this catastrophe averted, the president continued to wage the battle against depression on a hundred fronts in the United States.

Before congress assembled last December, President Hoover prepared for it the most far-reaching rehabilitation and reconstruction program that has ever been designed by any leader in any country under any circumstance.

Foremost in this plan was the creation of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation with reserves of two and a half billions of dollars to furnish necessary credit otherwise unattainable.

As Herbert Hoover poured out his tremendous energies and abilities upon the altar of public service and the welfare of all of the people, what of the democratic opposition?

For two long years they hampered the president at every turn. Through a highly subsidized press bureau, democratic leaders, democratic senators and democratic congressmen south to distort his every word; to belittle his every effort at human and economic relief; to impugn his every motive; to frustrate his every move. Their efforts were to "smear Hoover."

Heaped Blame.

Upon his shoulders the anvil chorus of democracy placed the responsibility for every ill at home and abroad.

As might have been expected, they overplayed their hand, with the nation threatened by its greatest economic crisis, people demanded that partisan politics be submerged in the general welfare. Having no program of their own, they naturally and wisely followed the president who alone had a workable program.

But after they had assisted in partially translating this plan into law, our democratic friends were no longer able to contain their hope of victory within the sphere of the good of the nation. On the all-essential proposition of balancing the budget, they elected to follow their own course. And with what result?

The democrats in the house of representatives flouted their own leadership; their tax bill was completely rewritten by the revolting democratic majority; their economy measure was torn to shreds.

Call for Inflation.

Democratic sponsors call for undue inflation of the national currency. The safety of the country requires the maintenance of the gold standard. The value of the American dollar must be maintained throughout the world.

Nor was this moribund issue the sum total of the products of the master minds of democracy. The proposed billions in bond issues for unnecessary and unproductive public works, presumably on the theory that your budget is unbalanced when your outgo exceeds your income—you can squander yourself into prosperity.

In their efforts thus to debase the dollar by fiat money and other equally unsound financial schemes the democrats stalked forth with the ghost in 1896.

The farm board has been the butt of much criticism, the greater part of which is unjust. We have heard much abuse of the board's operations in stabilization of cotton and wheat by their financing of co-operatives to purchase these commodities, but we have heard very little of the fact that by their entry into the market in February during the crop year of 1930 and again in November of the next crop year they stemmed the panic which had broken in agricultural prices.

The farm board held prices in each of these two crops above world levels to such a degree that the very moderate estimate of the amount realized by the American farmer over and above what they would have realized otherwise is between $2,000,000,000 and $3,000,000,000.

Lost $150,000,000.

It matters little if the government loses $150,000,000 for the savings it made to homes of farmers throughout this whole land. It was throwing a regiment into the front of the battle to lose, but saved millions.

Directly and indirectly, the federal government has, during the last three years, poured into the agricultural industry nearly $1,000,000,000. As I said before, grievous his suffering may be, no farmer can deny the undeviating friendship of the republican party.

Since the beginning of the economic crisis, the democratic party has shown an utter lack of cohesion on every important issue, and on none has it been more divided than on the tariff. Its leaders have run the scale from free trade to the highest possible protection.

With falling prices and depreciated currencies overseas, the stands just one bulwark for the preservation of our people. Without the rates of the Hawley-Smoot act of 1930, we would long since have been inundated by a flood of cheaply produced foreign products.

Gentlemen of the opposition cry to high heaven against some of the rates that were being written in that bill. But while they wailed, they were not only voluntary, but eager partners in the writing of duties for their local and state industries which in many cases even surpassed what staunch protectionist republicans believed were necessary.

In the senate alone 1,010 votes were cast by democratic senators either for increases in rates or against decreases in rates. And the democrats furnished the margin of votes that were necessary for the enactment of the measure!

Even more recently—in congressional consideration of the budget balancing tax bill—we have had further illustrations of the avidity with which the democrats pursue high tariff rates. They generously supported duties on copper, coal oil and lumber. And all this after two years of the most bitter and venomous denunciation of the Hawley-Smoot act!

Today partisanship is sublimated before patriotism.

And yet to my mind there is no greater patriotism than the employment of every effort toward the restoration of normal conditions. And there can be no more dependable means to this end than the re-election of Herbert Hoover as president of the United States.

Mabel Willebrandt Urges Straight Repeal

CHICAGO, June 14.—(AP)—Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, long a leader of the dry cause, said in a radio speech tonight she hoped that if the majority of the republican convention were determined to have the constitution changed, the platform would declare for repeal instead of "disguising their real object" behind the "weasly word of resubmission."

"For the sake of preservation of the orderliness of government," she said, "I hope that this convention, if a majority are determined to have the constitution changed, will frankly state in favor of repeal, rather than disguising their real object of securing a repeal behind the misleading and weasly word of resubmission," she said.

"Thus the issue will be clearly drawn."

Mrs. Willebrandt, former assistant attorney-general in charge of prohibition enforcement, said there was no such thing as resubmission of any part of the constitution.

She argued that change could be obtained only by submitting a new amendment repealing the old and thrusting the whole question of prohibition back upon the states, or substituting some changed form by which the federal government would deal with it.

Photographers' Lights Rouse Chairman's Ire

CHICAGO, June 14.—(UP)—Senator Simeon D. Fess, of Ohio, a short, serious man, still wearing the general aspect of the school teacher, opened the convention soon after 11 o'clock as chairman of the national committee, a post he soon will relinquish.

He rapped his gavel after a brief concert on the huge organ, which was opened with "Between the Devil and the Deep Blue Sea" and was carried on with a snappy rendition of "Dixie." Fess became much irritated when the photographers focused their dazzling lights on the platform, with a sputter from the opposite gallery.

"I want those lights off," he shouted. "You can't have those on when I am speaking. I am running things."

TRUCK, BUS RATES STUDIED BY BOARD

Proposals for Modernizing Rate Structure Taken Under Advisement.

The public service commission, after hearing motor carriers Tuesday, took under advisement proposals for modernizing the rate structure of truck lines in Georgia.

The commission called all truck operators to appear before the body here Tuesday in an investigation of the rate structure as related to present business conditions. There was a large attendance.

At the hearing proposals were made by the operators themselves to change the rates on a large number of articles covered in the last revision by the commission February 25, 1930, and some 400 additional commodities not now handled by trucks.

Chairman James A. Perry said that generally the rates proposed by the operators will work for reductions, yet there were some proposed increases. He did not state in what commodities the increases might be expected.

Mr. Perry said that an order will be issued by the commission making the changes necessary to bring about the modernizing of the rate structure just as soon as the body has had time to go through the entire list and effect the corrections.

J. F. BECK EXPECTED TO HEAD CITY CLUB

J. Frank Beck, councilman from the eighth ward, and first vice president of the City Club of Atlanta, will be nominated for the presidency of the club to succeed Walter McElreath, resigned, at the luncheon at 12:30 o'clock Thursday at the Winecoff hotel, it was announced Tuesday. The nomination is virtually tantamount to election.

Mr. McElreath resigned to devote his time to his candidacy for congress from the fifth district.

Other nominations scheduled for Thursday are Josiah T. Rose, now second vice president, to the first vice presidency; Allen Clapp, now third vice president, to succeed Mr. Rose, while Luthen Allen, a member of the board of governors, will be proposed for the third vice presidency.

New officers of the great council of the Degree of Pocahontas were installed Tuesday afternoon preceding the opening of the convention of the great council of Red Men this morning at the wigwam.

The new officers were presented with corsages by Newman Laser and C. C. Gillett, in behalf of the members, presented Mrs. Carrie Thurmond, of Augusta, retiring great Pocahontas, with a pocketbook and umbrella. The new officers who were installed by Ordinary T. H. Jeffries, of Atlanta, were as follows:

Great Pocahontas, Mrs. Otis Hathcock, Atlanta; great Wenona, Mrs. Medlock, Lithonia; great Minnehaha, Mrs. J. I. King, Atlanta; great prophetess, Mrs. Carrie Thurmond, Augusta; great keeper of records, Mrs. Cora E. Smith, Atlanta; great keeper of wampum, Mrs. Charles C. REVIVAL OF RELIGION URGED BY LOHMANN

"A nation wide revival of religion will do more to put the bootlegger, racketeer and gangster out of business than any other power," declared Rev. Fred Lohmann, of St. Louis, in his opening sermon at the Beulah Heights camp meeting, Berne and Herman streets, last night.

Dr. Lohmann, who is pastor of Trinity Tabernacle, St. Louis' largest independent church, and president of an association of 1,200 ministers, said he did not wish to be considered a radical on any subject, but that America is getting what is coming to her in the depression, reaping what she has sown as a nation.

Mr. Lohmann will speak at the camp meeting every night for two weeks. His theme tonight will be "Four Things Which Have Made America Great." Music is being furnished by a quartet from Brooklyn, New York.

INSURGENT COLONEL SLAIN IN NICARAGUA

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras, June 14.—(AP)—Word from the mountainous regions of the north where government troops have been pursuing a rebel band for a week said today that Colonel Moises Vasquez, a rebel leader, was killed in a skirmish on Monday.

A federal detachment cut off a rebel column which was retreating through the mountains to join the main rebel army. It was estimated that about 20 rebels were killed.

PLATFORM OUTLINED BY HAROLD SHEATS

Harold Sheats, Atlanta attorney who is seeking election to the legislature from Fulton county, Tuesday outlined his platform in response to inquiries as to the exact nature of reforms which he has in mind.

His platform on local matters, Mr. Sheats said, is as follows:

1. Election of judges of the municipal court by the people instead of the present method of appointment.
2. Salaries of judges of all courts to be fixed by statute.
3. Salaries of all department heads to be fixed by statute.
4. Protective and restrictive legislation having as its aim the reduction in cost of operation of government.

FLAG DAY OBSERVED AT CEREMONIES HERE

Atlanta paid honor to the Star-Spangled Banner Tuesday in observing with the nation the 155th anniversary of the birth of the flag of the United States government. Exercises for Flag Day were held at the Elks' Club with Spanish War veterans attending and John T. Boifeuillet, historian and lecturer, making the principal address.

On June 14, 1777, the Continental Congress upon the suggestion of George Washington as commander of the Revolutionary army, adopted the flag, 13 alternate red and white stripes and 13 white stars in a field of blue. Although there has been controversy as to whether Betsy Ross or George Washington designed the flag, it has remained the same in design although there are 48 stars at present.

WATCHMAN IS HELD IN MULLINS SHOOTING

John Walker, night watchman of the C. A. Smith Company warehouse on the Atlanta, Birmingham & Coast tracks, was being held by police without bond pending an investigation into the shooting Monday night of Arthur Mullins, 27, of 607 Jones avenue, who is in a critical condition at Grady hospital.

Mullins, shot once through the abdomen, was taken to the hospital Monday night, where he said he had been shot by a night watchman by mistake as he leaned over to pick up a plank. An emergency operation was performed shortly after his admittance to the hospital, and physicians said Tuesday that he had a chance for recovery. Walker said he commanded Mullins to replace the plank on the property he was employed to guard and that he had refused and advanced on him in a threatening manner.

DEFENSE POSTPONES TRIAL OF CHOSEWOOD

Trial of Charles L. Chosewood, former councilman from the third ward, indicted during the probe of city hall "graft," was indefinitely postponed Tuesday in Fulton superior court due to the illness of C. L. Chosewood Jr., his son and one of the principal witnesses.

The defendant is under two indictments, one charging interest in a city contract and the second simple larceny. The first alleges that he recommended the awarding to his son of a contract for purchase of stone from a rock quarry in 1927. The second indictment alleges that he took $325 worth of granite block curbing and some lumber belonging to the city.

8 MEMBERS NAMED TO VOTERS' COUNCIL

Executive committee of the Men's Council of the Atlanta League of Women Voters has been enlarged by the appointment of eight additional members to serve during the next year, according to Andrew M. FRIENDLY COUNSEL

BY CAROLINE CHATFIELD

Problems of general interest submitted by readers will be discussed in this column. Correspondence invited. Your name held in confidence. Write Miss Chatfield, care The Atlanta Constitution.

DEAR MISS CHATFIELD:

I am the son of a poor farmer. My father has told me all along that he couldn't send me to college so I have made up my mind to go to work on the farm after my graduation next month. Now my uncle comes and offers me a fine graduating present. He says I may take my choice of a year in college or a six months' trip to Europe. I want to make a wise choice since this is a matter of such great importance to my future life. I am tempted by the trip because that would be the greatest pleasure, yet I don't want to sell out for pleasure. Which do you think I should choose?

RUPERT.

ANSWER:

If you are serious minded and earnest the trip to Europe would probably be the wisest choice. It seems not to have entered your mind that your father's inability to give you a college education doesn't shut the door of college in your face. It's not difficult for a boy to work his way through college. There are innumerable agencies conspiring with him to make it easy. But a six months trip to Europe is a luxury which only the most fortunate youths may enjoy.

If you have reasonable intelligence and seeing eyes you can't spend six months in Europe without getting mental stimulation that will make you eager to learn more of all the things you see and hear. Once a youth gets his ambition stimulated he manages to solve the economic problems that are in the way of his realization of his ambition.

Without advising you to look a gift horse in the face, it is reasonable to believe that when your uncle has seen you making the most of the first opportunity he offers you, he will be quick to offer you others and eager to help you get through college.

In the meantime get some travel books and read about the countries you expect to visit. There is no particular thrill in meeting a stranger about whom you know nothing. But to grasp the hand of a man or woman of whom you have heard all your life, whose distinctions you know and whose striking traits you are familiar with, is a pleasantly exciting experience. Likewise to visit a city whose historic atmosphere you have steeped yourself in, whose monuments you have seen in picture, whose art treasures you have worshiped from afar, a city in whose streets have walked notables with whom history has made you acquainted, to visit such a city is a joy and delight.

There are possibly some adventures that people may undertake that do not require preparation, but a trip to Europe is not one of them. Before you leave home you will have unconsciously determined what you will get out of the trip. If you don't like history and haven't learned much about it in school, you won't learn much in Europe. If you are not interested in art; in architecture, in painting and sculpture, then famous cathedrals, noted public buildings and art galleries will bore you unimaginably. If you have no taste for literature and no bright particular interest in the European men and women that have created it, then shrines, monuments, museums and a large part of the mementoes in them will be as cold and dead

LOVELINESS FOR THE LOVELY.

Smartness and slimness begins with the undies.

And isn't today's little French pantie set just dear?

Note how the panties hug the hips through the pointed yoke. The legs are shaped falling with a flat, graceful fulnes. The brassiere has the important V neckline. It is dart fitted.

It requires such a small amount of material to make these darling undies. Excellent quality remnants can be bought now for a mere trifle.

For its trim, if you like, you can use bias binds. For instance, on pale pink, pale blue binds are delightfully effective—and practical, too.

Pink batiste with blue binds, a pretty voile in small flowery pattern and dimity print are lovely and cool for summery wear.

Style No. 443 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, 20 years, 36, 38 and 40 inches bust. Size 16 requires 1 1-2 yard of 39-inch material with 2 1-4 yards of lace band.

Our Summer Fashion Magazine will help you economize. It includes styles for the miss, the stout, the matron and adorable models for the kiddies. Also modern embroidery for the home, lingerie, pajamas, etc.

Price of book, 15 cents.

Price of pattern 15 cents in stamps or coin (coin is preferred). Wrap coin carefully.

Secret Societies Revived.

Disorganized conditions in China have caused a revival of the secret societies which abounded just before and after the revolution. Many of these were merged in the Kuomintang but with the rapid disintegration of that nationalist party new secret organizations are cropping up.

JUST NUTS

Sudden Love

By ELIZABETH SANXAY HOLDING

SYNOPSIS.

Esmee Sully spends her forlorn young life between the office, where she is an inefficient typist, and a dismal home. The widowed Mrs. Sully loves her children blindly, but doesn't know how to direct their spiritual or physical needs. Lew, a year older than Esmee, is mingling in bad company. Cynthia, the oldest, has been deserted by her husband. Jimmy Considine, a crook lawyer, forces Lew, whom he has in his power, to introduce his sister, Esmee, starved for beauty and change, is fascinated by Jimmy's grand manner, but finds him an unmanageable lover. Then she meets Michael Marriott, a dissipated young playwright. It's love at first sight. She feels his need of her is real. Returning home one evening, Esmee finds Michael waiting for her. He'd been drinking heavily. Esmee takes him home in a cab, but finds he has no key and can't get in. In desperation she takes him to a hotel and registers as his wife. Claire Cowley, Michael's sister, tells Esmee that Michael is engaged. But when Michael calls, Esmee goes to see him. He tells her his engagement is broken and begs her to marry him. Esmee tries unsuccessfully to break with Jimmie, who accuses her of double-crossing him and threatens to have Lew sent to jail. Esmee drives out to the country with him Sunday and he promises freedom for Lew if she will spend the week-end with him. NOW GO ON WITH TH STORY.

INSTALLMENT XXVII.

"I'm sorry I said that!" he cried. "I'll go anywhere you want, Esmee. I'll be any way you want. I'll leave you at a hotel. I'm only keeping my arm around you to steady you, darling, so that you can rest better. You know, don't you, little darling Esmee. . . . Don't cry! Pyne!"

"Sir?" said Pyne.

"No!" said Esmee. "We'd better go to Claire's, Michael, dear."

But she could not stop her tears. She was so afraid that all men were alike. She could foresee nothing but storm, violence, passion in her life—and she wanted days, months, years of tranquility.

"Nothing, Pyne!" said Michael. "Only, can't you find one of those lanes, you know, some place to park—where it is quiet. Miss Sully's tired."

Unerringly Pyne found absolutely the right lane, quiet and peaceful.

"Want to take a stroll, Esmee?" asked Michael.

She said yes, but it was not true. She was a poor walker at any time, in her flimsy cheap shoes. She tired so easily. They sat down on a fallen log, with their arms about each other, in the sunflecked shade of a grove of delicate white birches. Michael talked about the time when they should be married.

"I'm going to take you to Europe," he said. "Paris in the spring and then a week or two in London . . . Esmee, you have the loveliest mouth. A little shadow in the corners like a Murillo Madonna . . . Put your hand over my eyes. I want to know if I can still see you . . . The line of your cheek that's like a child's—and your dark brows . . ."

"I'm not being nice to my dear Michael," thought Esmee. "He could not—no one could know—just how finished I feel . . ."

She raised her head and kissed him on the cheek. He returned the kiss, on her forehead, with a sort of hasty gentleness and she closed her eyes. She was aware of the budding trees rustling overhead, of her dear Michael's arm about her . . .

She opened her eyes with a violent start.

"What is it, darling?" he asked.

"Just nothing, Michael," she answered, trying to keep from him any sign of the terror that had sprung at her.

"I'll swear to God you'll die for it . . ."

That was what Jimmy had said to Michael. And he had meant it. He would send some one to kill Michael . . . and Lew . . . Back came the old picture of Lew in a stone cell with his young head in his hands. .

She hated this little glade now. It had grown dark and somber.

She had done this. She had destroyed her lover and her brother. And if she had had wit, coolness, resource she would have avoided this. She had not managed Jimmy. If Michael had not come . . .

"Now what can I do?" she thought. "Ring up Jimmy? Pretend I'm going back to him, so that he'll let Michael alone . . .?"

She could not pretend to Jimmy because he would not believe her.

Then must Michael die, and Lew go to his ruin? For her?

"No!" she thought in a panic. "I will go back to him, and I will marry him. I'll ring him up and tell him so this evening—before anything can happen . . ."

And what would that do to Michael? She thought of him, deserted betrayed, without an explanation, for manifestly if she told him her reason for going back to Jimmy he would stop her, he would come and take her away again. Or try to take her away.

"I swear to God you'll die for this . . ."

Michael to die—now? In all his youth, with all his promise? She flung her arm about Michael's neck and kissed him with a desperate passion.

"I love you, my daring Michael . . . I love you so . . . You don't know . . ."

Flint to tinder her fervor was to his.

"God, Esmee! You've come alive!" he said.

"Michael!" she whispered. "Let's not go to Claire's . . Michael—let's go somewhere all by ourselves."

"Shut up, darling!" he said. "No! I won't."

"Just for dinner, Michael . . . Please, Michael! Some darling, cozy place, all by ourselves."

He hesitated. But Michael was no mystery to her as Jimmy was. She could manage Michael, and she had no scruples. She wanted a little time with Michael, one little happy hour. Then she would have to go back to Jimmy, and not see him ever again. Not even explain.

"You see, darling," said Michael. "I think, on your account, it would be better if we went to Claire's before dinner. I mean—"

He looked down into her soft gray eyes. Her lips were parted, there was the loveliest color in her cheeks.

"Esmee!" he said. "It's not legal to look like that . . ."

"Please, Michael!"

She clung to him so. The little glade seemed to her dank and combre and frightening now.

"I think there are snakes here," she said apprehensively. "Let's go away, Michael. Let's have a darling, quiet little dinner all by ourselves."

"And then you'll go to Claire's, darling. And I'll start making arrangements at once. I don't know what you do, but Claire will. I suppose I see a clergyman, and we get a license. Very likely we can get the thing arranged for Monday or Tuesday."

Michael decided then that he could figure out a short cut which would take them back to the car, and he led her to a meadow they must cross, to reach the road. But there were cows in the field, and Esmee was afraid of them.

"Not with me, are you?" asked Michael.

"Not with you!" she said, and went, holding his hand tightly, and trying not to look at the cows.

"Tired, dear little darling?"

"No, Michael. Not a bit."

That was another lie, but what did she care? A dreadful fatigue weighed upon her, a sorrowful fatigue of body and soul. It was to her as if this were the last day of her life, so that everything she saw had an infinitely precious value. She was looking at the sky, these fields, these woods, with Michael, and without him nothing would ever look like this again.

They saw Pyne, sitting at the wheel, exactly as they had left him, except that he was smoking a cigaret.

"Michael . . ." she said, "let's be happy. . . . You are happy, aren't you, Michael?"

"Fifty-fifty," said Michael. "Half happy and half—otherwise."

"O, Michael! Why not a hundred?"

"Man," said Michael, "is reputed to be a thinking animal. And there are two or three little things, Esmee, that I—don't enjoy thinking about."

College Gets New Mural

Dartmouth College now boasts a mural by the noted Mexican artist, Jose Clemente Orozco, who recently came to Hanover, N. H., to demonstrate the art of fresco painting. The only other mural of this sort in possession of a college in the United States is the monumental Prometheus fresco, which Orozco executed at Pomona College, Claremont, Cal.

GRIFFIN'S TAX RATE EXPECTED TO BE CUT

City Has $83,066.51 With All Bills for Year Paid.

GRIFFIN, Ga., June 14.—(AP)—The Griffin Daily News says a reduction in the city tax rate is expected following the announcement by city officials that the city completed the first six months of the current fiscal year with all current bills paid and with $83,066.51 cash on hand.

The present tax rate is $1.85 and a reduction of 25 per cent is expected, the paper says.

The city's fiscal year begins December 1 and ends November 30. During the six months' period ending May 31, the report submitted by city officials shows that in addition to increasing the cash reserve the city expended $25,000 in permanent public improvements. During the period the city's income was $205,034.52, while expenditures totaled $193,227.59. The city was operated at a saving of $5,726 over the estimated budget set for the period.

YOUNG PEOPLE OPEN CONFERENCE IN MACON

MACON, Ga., June 14.—(AP)—More than 200 boys and girls and young men and women of south Georgia opened the 10th annual young people's assembly of the south Georgia Methodist conference with a banquet at Wesleyan conservatory, where the delegates will attend classes, recreational programs, and religious services during the rest of this week.

Theo J. McGee, Atlanta, past president of the assembly, talked at the dinner and J. Norwood Clark, incumbent president, was toastmaster.

"Your action on Sunday morning before your Sunday school class," Mr. McGee said, "is no satisfactory evidence of your character. I want first to know how your emergency brake works. You have no satisfactory evidence of your character when everything goes well and smooth."

ROAD EXTENSION PLAN IN GEORGIA COLLAPSES

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., June 14.—(AP)—Apparent failure of efforts to have U. S. Highway West-25 extended from Knoxville to Augusta, Ga., through North and South Carolina and Georgia was reported Tuesday by R. C. D'Armand, secretary of the East Tennessee Automobile Club.

Under D'Armand's plan the highway would have taken in the Indian Gap route through the Great Smoky mountains.

Highway commissions of both North and South Carolina disapproved the plan, he said, pointing out that U. S. Highway East-25 already traverses the states and saying they did not favor duplication of the number.

He said the Georgia highway commission favored the plan.

EIGHT UNDER ARREST IN COLUMBUS THEFTS

Party Held in Tennessee With Three Allegedly Stolen Cars.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., June 14.—(AP) Eight persons were under arrest here Tuesday charged with automobile theft while police held three automobiles—two of them alleged to have been taken from a car rental agency in Columbus, Ga.

The party was arrested last night in a raid on a suburban home, where Sheriff Chester R. Hackney said pads of forged automobile bills of sale were found.

W. T. Trainor, government agent, assisted in the raid. The eight were placed under bond of $5,000 each for hearing Thursday. The sheriff said they came here about a month ago and had been under watch for some time.

None of the party would give an address, but gave the names of R. C. Gore, R. L. Carroll, C. H. Harris, W. C. Gunter, W. M. Massey, Kitty Kimball, Mrs. R. C. Gore, and Grace W. Martin.

HEART ATTACK FATAL TO NASHVILLE YOUTH

NASHVILLE, Ga., June 14.—(AP) Word has been received here from Yulee, Fla., of the death of John Henry Passmoore, 22, of Nashville, from a heart attack attributed to excitement. Passmoore plunged into the Belle river to recover oars to a boat in which he and a friend were rowing.

Resuscitation efforts revealed there was no water in his lungs and friends he was visiting said he was subject to heart attacks. He was visiting in Florida with his wife.

Macon Vets To Leave For Washington Today

MACON, Ga., June 14.—(AP)—Preparations were being made Tuesday by a group of World War veterans to leave here Wednesday morning in a truck for Washington, where they will join the "bonus" army encamped there waiting for a decision from congress and President Hoover on their demands for immediate payment of the adjusted service certificates.

At an informal meeting Tuesday morning 13 veterans, including two negroes, signified their intention of making the journey. D. E. Horne, whom they elected captain, said he expected more to join them in the morning when they depart. O. C. Giles was chosen quartermaster.

L. L. Woodson, a veteran who lost an arm at Verdun, furnished the truck, on which the veterans plan to pass through Augusta, Columbia, S. C., Raleigh, N. C., and Wilmington, Del.

Druggist Gives New Formula To Stop Headaches

Realizing that no one drug can relieve all headaches, as they come from so many causes, a North Carolina pharmacist has developed a combination of several ingredients, so blended and proportioned as to relieve almost any headache in a few minutes. You can get this formula wherever drugs are sold under the name "B. C." 10c and 25c packages, and when you have one of those violent, nerve-racking headaches, from inorganic causes, "B. C." will give you soothing relief in three minutes. "B. C." should also be used for the relief of muscular aches and pains, common colds and neuralgia, reducing fever, and for quieting a distressed nervous system without opiates, narcotics or such habit-forming drugs.—(adv.)

Jimmy Foxx Hits 24th and 25th Homers as Athletics Win

HOWELL AND VINSON TAKE LEAD IN AMATEUR

FOXX CLOUTS 24TH AND 25TH; ATHLETICS WIN

Yankees Execute Triple Steal To Win Over Indians.

DETROIT, June 14.—(AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics unlimbered their heaviest artillery and shelled the Tigers into a 10-to-5 rout today, the barrage including Jimmy Foxx's twenty-fourth and twenty-fifth home runs of the season in successive times at bat. The victory gave the A's the series, three games to one.

Vic Sorrell pitched passable ball for four innings, but went to pieces in the fifth when he was found for six hits and five runs, including Foxx's first homer of the day with Simmons and Cochrane on base.

Truett Banks Sewell, just recalled from Toronto, received his baptism of fire in the sixth and seventh, relieving Sorrell. He came through the sixth without damage, but the first four men to face him in the seventh hit safely and all scored. The first hit of the inning was Foxx's twenty-fifth home run. Elson Hogsett finished out the game and allowed one run. Rube Walberg went the route for the A's.

He allowed ten hits, two of them doubles by Gerald Walker. One of those doubles came when the ball took a freak bound off the fence and was trapped behind the scoreboard.

Earl Webb, acquired yesterday from Boston in a trade for Roy Johnson and Dale Alexander, did not arrive in time for the game.

Yankees Pull Flashy Triple Steal.

CLEVELAND, June 14.—(AP)—It took some of the New York Yankees' best hitting and a flashy triple steal to give Danny MacFayden his first victory since he joined the club today. MacFayden was officially credited with the victory as the Yanks defeated Cleveland's Indians, 7 to 6, but he was hit hard and finally pounded from the hill in the ninth.

The victory gave the Yanks the series, three games to one.

The Yanks were always on top after Bill Dickey clouted his tenth homer of the season after Ben Chapman had singled in the second inning but the Indians, and Earl Averill in particular, made plenty of trouble.

Averill also hit a homer, his eleventh of the year, with none aboard in the third, smacked a double to open Cleveland's ninth-inning rally in which he scored on singles by Vosmik and Morgan, and hit two singles.

Cleveland rapped MacFayden hard, getting 14 hits, and sent him to the showers after Averill scored in the ninth. Eddie Wells made the next man pop out and then Walter Brown stepped in to whiff Kamm for the final out.

The Yanks hit Clint Brown pretty steadily through the middle part of the game but it was a clever bit of base-running that brought them their winning run in the seventh. Two walks and Chapman's single filled the sacks. Lary was hit by a pitched ball, forcing one run in, and then Chapman, Lazzeri and Lary worked a triple steal to bring Chapman across the plate.

SPIDER WINS.

TORONTO, Ont., June 13.—(AP)—Emile (Spider) Pladner, of France, outpointed Willie Davies, of Charleroi, Pa., in a 10-round bout here tonight. Pladner weighed 117 1-2 pounds; Davies 118 1-4.

Foxx Must Hit Longer Home Runs Than Ruth; Terry Friendly

Jimmy Foxx, who laced his 24th and 25th home runs Tuesday afternoon, to keep ahead of Babe Ruth, who is nearest the Foxx, has to hit them 41 feet farther in Shibe park than Babe Ruth does in the Yankee stadium—that is the difference between the right and left field fences. On the road the two about average up. Forty-one feet will catch a lot of home runs.

Memphis Bill Terry, who never liked the system of espionage which John McGraw maintained, has not only abolished it all but has opened the door from the manager's office into the general club room. None of the Giants had any idea what McGraw's ofice looked like. Not only did Terry thus better the morale of the club but he offered use of the telephone on his desk. Players had formerly put a nickel in a pay telephone in the clubhouse. Terry will not make the mistake of being too chummy with them but he will hold the respect of players—something McGraw was losing.

There was once a manager in the Southern association who still holds an official post with one club, who would not speak to his players on the street after a game was lost. It wasn't long before he lost so many he had to quit. The players will not throw games but they will make no effort to win them. Which may be figured a couple of ways. Once they get down on a manager and begin to let him take punishment he may as well resign.

Gunboat Williams, who is a spar partner for Max Schmeling, enlisted in the navy some years ago at Atlanta. The story of it is that he left the family farm at Lafayette, Ala., when he decided he was too large to go to school. His father said, "Son, as long as you stay under this roof you are going to school." The next morning the kid started for school but kept going until he arrived in Atlanta.

Joe Jacobs has, so reports from New York have it, a censor who hangs around Schmeling's sparring partners to pipe them down when they start answering questions asked by newspaper reporters. This dates back to the camp before the Stribling fight when one of Schmeling's punching bags gave out an interview which was none too favorable to Maxie. It angered Joseph Jacobs no little, causing him to blow great clouds of smoke from his cigar. And this year the censor is on duty.

The old style fight camp where the spar mates and the fight principal all lived together in one big, unshaved, happy family, is gone. The sparring partners now live in a separate cottage and never see the man they are training except during the settos in the ring.

Left-handed golfers met in Cleveland last Monday night and formed a national organization with Babe Ruth, the home run hitter, as president. They plan a national open tournament and amateur tournament for left-handed golfers. They may even restrict the caddy field to left-handed caddies. Most of them seem that way when a round is going badly.

Baseball traditions, which had it that all left-handed pitchers were a bit daffy, continue to exist in a mild sort of fashion. Very few baseball players care to act daffy enough to be entertaining whether left-handed or not.

Wrestling half filled the Madison Square Garden bowl, where the Schmeling-Sharkey fight will be held, when Lewis and Shikat met. The way is now open for a Londos-Lewis match and New York may get it. With Londos far out ahead of the remainder of the field Lewis seems to be his best rival. The odds are that Londos will win from Lewis.

Atlanta's milk fund match will be next week when Londos meets Dusek in a match which will share with the crippled children. Londos has taken no part in the verbal battles in New York. His manager, Ed White, is one of the smarter men in the game.

Knoxville, Tenn-O-See, seems to be unusually poisonous to those Crackers. They lost an entire series there on their last visit and took a horrible beating in the first game yesterday. They come home tonight for another week of evening games. The Crackers seem to go along in better fashion at night.

The baseball fan from Newnan who wrote in and suggested that we give America back to the Indians and the Crackers back to R. J. Spiller, should see the former owner of the Crackers enjoy life. The verbal barbed shafts no longer bounce from his head. He is building some old-age insurance in a good golf course at Austell and enjoying life.

Red Barron should get a lot of comfort out of the fact that his ball club, which cost very little, is going along better than Jakey Atz's New Orleans outfit. Atz is a veteran and has quite a lot of money and a real major league connection behind him.

The Crackers will play a night double-header Thursday night, the first one of the year. Which means that baseball will be dished up from 7:30 p. m. until about 11:30 p. m. A little too much dishing, if you ask me. A better plan would be to play an afternoon and night game with the afternoon ticket good for the night game.

Primo Starts Action To Attach Property

NEW YORK, June 13.—(AP)—An order attaching the property of Max Schmeling, heavyweight boxing champion, as the result of a suit brought by Primo Carnera, giant Italian boxer, was filed in county clerk's office today.

Carnera began the attachment proceedings on the eve of Schmeling's contest with Jack Sharkey, although he started the suit months ago. Carnera asks $100,000 damages for Schmeling's alleged failure to box him under a contract last September.

Schmeling's answer asserted the state boxing commission released him from the contract because of an injured finger.

Curtis To Succeed Kenney at Riverside

GAINESVILLE, Ga., June 14—According to announcement made today by Colonel Sandy Beaver, Captain E. J. Curtis, who has been a member of the Riverside teaching force for five years, will succeed Major Kenney as athletic director.

The complete Riverside coaching staff has not been named. Raleigh Drennon, former Tech star, who has done splendidly here, is privileged to return as the main team coach if he so desires, President Beaver made it known, provided he succeeds in acquiring certain units necessary to the job. The complete staff will be announced as soon as it has been named.

CORBETT SEES MAX SCHMELING IN FAST DRILL

Former Champion Is Impressed by German's Form and Condition.

By Max Schmeling,

(Copyright, 1932, by the North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.)

KINGSTON, N. Y., June 14.—James J. Corbett has just paid me a visit and I put on a special workout for him. I worked indoors for the first time since I began training for this fight with Jack Sharkey, and the new ring floor was not so fast. Nevertheless I had a very satisfactory workout.

I asked Joe Jacobs to tell the three sparring partners I was using to come in and put up hard fights with me, for I knew Corbett is a keen observer of boxing, and I certainly did not want to look bad before him. I knew if my sparmates were to come in there and ease up, he would be quick to see this and then would form a false opinion about me, and my condition, although I do not see how anybody could think I'm not in good condition when they see me.

The result was we put on three good fights. I let loose pretty freely, and the big boys I'm training with, Louis Barba, Chester Matan and Dick Onken, were in there doing their best, because they knew I was going to cut loose on them.

GIVES HIM KICK.

I got a great kick out of watching Corbett sit here at the ringside and eye every move I made. I could see that he was very much interested, and he talked incessantly with the men who crowded about him.

I had heard that Corbett was a very sick man. He looked pretty good to me, and he told me afterwards that his visit had done him a world of good.

"I guess we who have held the great title, Max, never quite lose the old thrill when we sit at the ringside," he said. "You are a wonderfully improved fellow. You have learned much," he went on, "I know how you learned. You did something I used to do. I remember when I was getting ready for my fight with poor old John L. I used to go to my room, carefully lock the door, stuff up the keyhole and then go to work in front of a mirror. I used to see John in front of me.

SPENT HOURS.

"I tried left jabs till my arm was about ready to fall off. I sidestepped, feinted, I hooked and swung, and then I'd put over the knockout. I don't know how many hours I spent in this practice, but I know it did me a world of good. More, in fact, than some of my actual boxing. I used to dream of the fight, and so I won."

I was amazed. Corbett seemed to be young again when he talked like that, and I felt a queer feeling running through me as I listened, for he was reading my innermost thoughts. I never confessed before of the many long hours I spent in this same experiment. I, too, dream of victory, of the fight, and always I win. But I laughed because I was embarrassed, for James J. Corbett was looking at me with a seeing look in his eyes.

I said simply: "It is true. I have done that. But, Jim, there's one difference, I forgot to stuff up the keyhole."

Te laughed at that.

OCEANS OF STAMINA.

"You have oceans of stamina, Max, and you certainly know your infighting," he said. "You need that nowadays, for the style of fighting has changed since my time. You are hitting much better. You are young, strong, and healthy. You are a powerful hitter. I watched you battle that young fellow Onken, and I could feel the blows myself.

"Don't hold you man cheaply, Max. Go in there prepared for the fight of your life. If you don't win this fight, it will be because Jack Sharkey is a greater fighter than he ever has shown himself to be. I wish you all the luck in the world."

And, do you believe it, I felt a lump in my throat, and I wanted to hug the old fellow. I felt he wanted me to win. Well, I want to win, and now I feel more certain than ever that I will win."

Three Men Given Dodger Releases

NEW YORK, June 14.—(AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers today announced the release of three players to get within the major league limit of 23 men.

Fresco Thompson, second baseman, was sent to Jersey City of International league on option; Bruce Caldwell, first baseman, was optioned to Hartford of the Eastern league, and Paul Richards, catcher, was sold outright to Minneapolis of the American association for an unannounced sum.

Cairo Syrupmakers Defeat Tifton, 9 to 4

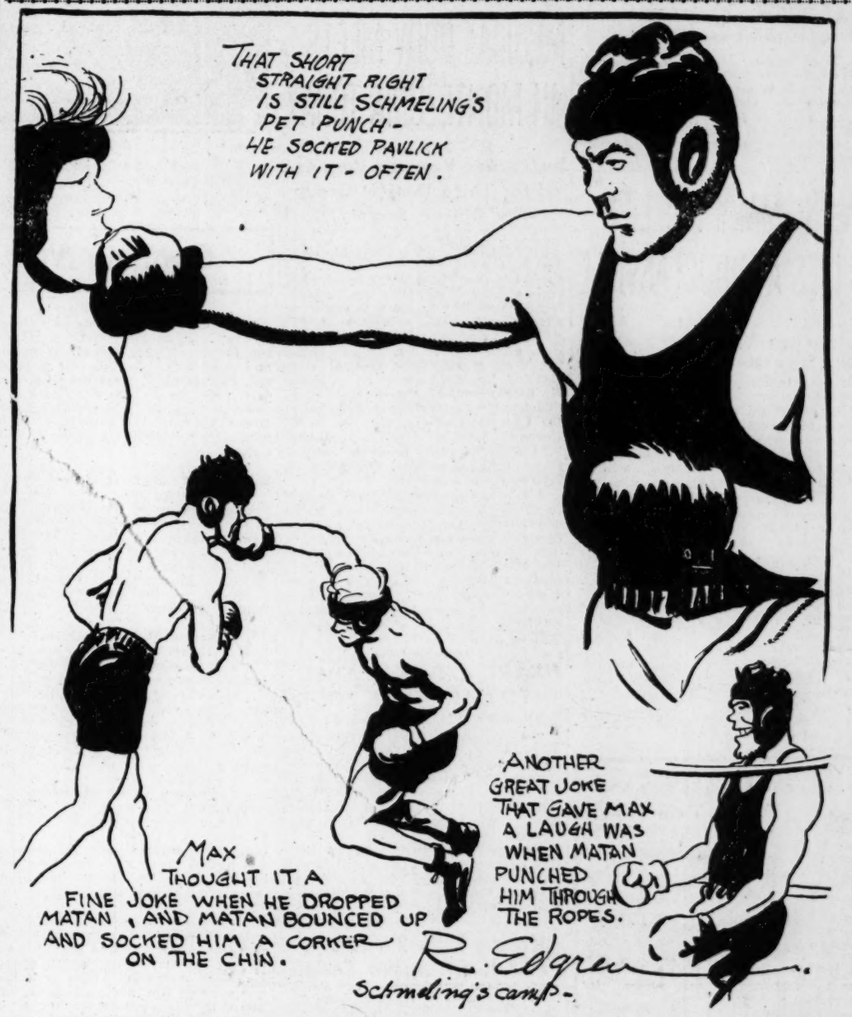

CAIRO, Ga., June 14.—The Cairo Syrupmakers turned back the Tifton Rams, 9 to 4, here this afternoon to maintain a slight lead in the Georgia-Florida league. Nix, who started for Tifton, received poor support but was wild and Divine replaced him in the fifth. Shealy hit a home run for Cairo in the eighth with none on. Cairo added two double plays to its long string.

The two teams had their game in Tifton last Friday halted in the first inning when a free-for-all fight was narrowly avoided after Umpire Graham called a Tifton man out at third, but the game this afternoon was devoid of wrangling.

CRACKERS BACK HOME TONIGHT

Little Rock Foe of Atlanta; Twin Bill Next Night.

The Atlanta Crackers return home today from their series in Knoxville and tonight at 8 o'clock will play the Little Rock Travelers of Harry Strohm in the opening game of the series.

Tomorrow night there will be a double-header between the two teams, Business Manager Chick Roos announces, in order to get off a game that was rained out here earlier in the season. The first game of the night twin bill will start at 7:30.

Roos had originally planned the double-header for tonight, but owing to the fact that the Crackers and Smokies played two games yesterday, it was moved up a night. Between games tomorrow night, Tommy McAuliffe, the famous armless golfer, will give an exhibition of driving off home plate. McAuliffe was scheduled to appear at the park on a night last week, but his performance was postponed due to threatening rain.

Owens Schedules Buckhead Program

Wrestling and boxing will feature the regular weekly card at Buckhead Friday night, in the gymnasium at 200 Pace's Ferry road.

In the wrestling match, Wayne Coleman, of Roswell, Ga., meets Red Powell, Atlanta, who is considered one of the better younger wrestlers developed in these parts. They will meet in a best two out of three falls, one hour limit match.

Battling Bozo, popular Atlanta fighter, who has a good record, will meet Johnny Sims, another Atlanta fighter, who made a good showing on the first card staged in Buckhead.

In the preliminary bout, two colored fighters, Hoke Finley and James Thomas, who are willing mixers, will clash in a six-round bout.

Old Trade Rumor In Cub Outfield Popping Up Again

CHICAGO, June 14.—(AP)—The old rumor that the Chicago Cubs are about to make a deal for an outfielder, had popped up again today.

The latest candidate was Wallie Berger, of the Boston Braves, a strong hitter last season, but not so strong this year. President William L. Veeck has conferred with President Emil Fuchs, of the Braves, but has not revealed the topic of conversation. The reports said a pitcher—not named—would go to the Braves for Berger.

The major league rule requiring clubs to be down to the 23-man player limit by midnight of June 15, was no immediate source of worry to either the Cubs or White Sox. The Cubs were down to 23 men and the Sox to 22, after sending Outfielder Jack Rothrock to Toronto of the International league yesterday on option.

Miller, Richard Wrestle Tonight

Sammy Miller, Assyrian champion, and Young Richard, Dallas, Texas, will headline an all-star wrestling card at 8:30 tonight at Almand park.

John Reynolds, Macon, and Jack McAdams, Atlanta, and Gordon Maudin, Atlanta, and Ambrose Cole, Birmingham, will share honor in the double semi-windup. The main match will be the best two out of three falls with a two-hour limit, while the semi-finals will be two out of three falls with a one-hour limit.

It was the same card that was scheduled for last Friday night but was postponed on account of rain.

Admission will be 49 cents and ample free parking space has been provided in a lot adjoining the wrestling arena.

AMERICAN ACES SAIL FOR MEET

Van Ryn, Shields and Allison Enter Wimbledon Tourney.

NEW YORK, June 14.—(AP)—John Van Ryn, Frank Shields and Wilmer Allison sailed for Europe tonight with one eye on the British championships at Wimbledon and the other on the inter-zone Davis cup finals at Auteuil.

They will arrive at Wimbledon next Monday, the day the British championships start, and will begin play without any chance for preliminary practice. Their Davis cup teammate, Ellsworth Vines, however, has been in England more than a week and will have had plenty of time to accustom himself to playing conditions abroad.

After the British championships, the Davis cup team will assemble for practice at Paris preparatory to the interzone finals July 22, 23 and 24.

Great Britain, considered America's probable opponent in the interzone finals, has reached the fourth round of European zone play along with Germany and Japan. Italy and Switzerland now are engaged in their third round series to determine the fourth semi-finalist. England and Germany are paired in one fourth round series, and Japan will play the winner of the Italy-Switzerland test in the other.

It Doesn't Pay To Get Tough With Jap Cops

SHIMONOSEKI, Japan, June 14. (AP)—Japan's premier marathon runner, the Korean, Kuon Tai Sa, was severely beaten and injured today by two Japanese policemen aboard a ferry plying between Fusan and Shimonoseki.

Although his injuries were painful it was hoped they would not prevent him from running in the Olympic games at Los Angeles.

He was returning from a visit to his home in Korea, where he went following his victories in the Olympic tryouts here May 25. He planned to join the other members of Japan's Olympics team in Tokyo to leave for America June 26.

The policemen aboard the ferry said they were conducting the usual examination of Korean travelers and that Kuon became insolent, so they pummeled him.

YATES IS BEST OF ATLANTANS WITH 74 CARD

Two Leaders Score 70's To Hold Commanding Lead on First Day.

By Dillon Graham,

Associated Press Sports Writer.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., June 14.—(AP)—Two youthful challengers for the southern amateur golf championship—Billy Howell, of Richmond, and Eugene Vinson, of Meridian, Miss.—fired sub-par rounds of 70 to tie for honors in the first 18-hole qualifying round here today.

Playing over the west course, the boys were the only contestants to equal or break par 71, and were three strokes in front of William Sadler, of Birmingham, whose 73 was low on the east course. Half of the field shot the east course today and the others the tougher west layout. The order will be reversed tomorrow in the second 18 holes of the qualifying test.

Vinson, one of the early starters, had posted his fine score before Howell started, and the young Virginia star had this mark before him as he opened his assault on par.

CARDS ARE SAME.

Their cards were the same, 36 out and 34 in, but it was only through a superb closing rally that Howell duplicated Vinson's figure. He shot the last four holes in three under perfect figures and barely missed a long putt on the 18th, which would have given him a 69.

While Howell and Vinson were carving their excellent rounds, many outstanding golfers were having difficulty in getting their 75's and 77's. Sam Perry, of Birmingham, the 1929 southern champion, and Charles Yates, young Georgia titlist of Atlanta, had 74's, while Emmett Spicer, champion 1926 and 1930; Julius Hughes, of Atlanta; Joe Adams, of Asheville, N. C., and Pollack Boyd, of Chattanooga, had 75's.

Billy McWilliams, of Rome, Ga., and Darden Hampton, of Chattanooga, the Tennessee titleholder, were among others bracketed at 77, while Jack Toomer, of Jacksonville, Fla., who was a finalist a year ago, soared to 78, along with James Tupper, of Nashville, and Harry Pritchett, of Columbus, Miss., a former Southern conference winner.

FACE HARD GOING.

J. C. Le Bourgeois, of New Orleans runner-up in 1929, shot a poor 81 and will need a score in the middle seventies tomorrow to qualify. Others who were high today and must come back strong in the second round to equal the 158 mark, estimated as the border line for the championship flight, are Berrien Moore, of Atlanta and John Thames, of Birmingham with 86's, Alan Smith, of Asheville, N. C., and Frank Sitz, of Gadsden, Ala., with 80's. Sitz was a semi-finalist a year ago.

Howell, Vinson and Smith were the only favored contenders who played the west course today, virtually all the other stars including Spicer, Perry, Hampton, Boyd and Toomer shooting the more open east layout. Tomorrow Howell and Vinson will have the advantage of shooting for the medal over this easier course where Howell carded a 68 and Vinson a 69 in practice Monday.

Chasteen Harris, of Memphis, the defending champion, is not forced to participate in the qualifying round and is automatically ranked No.

WEST END WINS, RETAINS LEAD

West End added another victory to its string with a 7-to-0 verdict over Druid Hills Tuesday morning at East Lake and remains at the top of the Woman's Golf league, sponsored by the Atlanta Woman's Golf Association.

East Lake, the host defeated Ansley Park, 7 to 3, and holds second place in the standings.

Capital City forfeited to the municipal team in the other match of the sixth round of the schedule.

Tommy McAuliffe, the armless golfer, shot a 101 Tuesday morning at East Lake in an exhibition match with Rowley, McKennon and Glosser.

Officials of the Atlanta Woman Golf Association announced that the annual Maier & Berkele tournament will be played next week on the No. 2 East Lake course.

Qualifying rounds will start at 8:30 o'clock and every member of the W. G. A. is eligible and invited to participate. Others who join the association before Monday are also invited to play.

Dead Heat Is Run In Ascot Stake

ASCOT, England, June 14.—(AP)—Sandy Lashes and son of Mint today finished in a dead heat in the Ascot stakes as Royal Ascot, most aristocratic of British turf settings, opened in the presence of the king and queen.

Sandy Lashes, owned by Mrs. W. S. Long and son of Mint, carrying the silks of J. Brown, finished the two miles four lengths in front of Cooper's Roide Paris. Twenty-four ran.

The two winners were well backed by the large crowd. Sandy Lashes closing at 100 to 6 and Son of Mint at 100 to 8. Roide Paris was held at 5 to 1.

The race was worth 2,000 pounds with extras, the two winners dividing the stake.

The dead heat was the first in the history of the Ascot stakes, which was first run in 1839.

Morrison Fined, Suspended by Crackers; Marquard Put on Staff

RUBE TO PITCH; 'CLEAN HOUSE' LATEST ORDER

Players Who Break Rules Will Be Punished, Officials Declare.

By Jimmy Jones.

Johnny Morrison, veteran right-handed pitcher of the Atlanta Crackers, has been suspended indefinitely without pay and fined $50 for "flagrant violation of training rules on the Knoxville trip," Business Manager Chick Roos, of the club, told The Constitution last night.

Rube Marquard, coach of pitchers and who last pitched for Jacksonville in 1930 after a notable career with the Giants, will go on the pitching staff as an active member, taking Morrison's place.

The disciplinary measure against Morrison is the first of several that will be taken in the way of a house cleaning, Roos declared.

TOO MUCH.

"All season now we've been going along with some of the older players, defending them and listening to their tales of woe, while at the same time they have been taking advantage of Red Barron behind his back and breaking training rules right and left," he added.

"There are one or two others who are going to get the same medicine unless they mend their ways and start playing baseball, for if it puts the club in last place, we're going to have a "clean house" by July 1," Roos concluded.

The business manager was righteously incensed over reports from Knoxville that Morrison had gone in to pitch in poor condition yesterday and Barron, as a punitive measure, had left him in there to "take it" during a 16-0 trouncing inflicted by the Smokies.

Furthermore, Roos announced that he is contemplating putting a fine on Pitcher Maurice Bream, who was ordered to report to the park for daily workouts while the club was on the road. Weavers had been asked ... Bream and had expired.

COLEMAN GOES.

Pitcher Frank Coleman, sent down by the Boston Braves, has been turned back to that club because of wildness and general inffectiveness, and the Braves have ordered him to report to Wilmington, N. C., of the Piedmont league, today.

"The action against Johnny Morrison should be an example to the other players who haven't clear consciences," Roos further stated. It is not believed that Morrison will be returned to the roster when his suspension is up, as his work has been disappointing, both this season and last. He has won only three games and lost ten this year.

Roos plans to officially place Rube Marquard on the active pitching staff when the club returns today. There has been talk of this for sometime and a number of persons, including Marquard himself, have urged the move. The Rube, who pitched for 19 years in the National league, saw his last big league service with the Boston Braves in 1924. He still believes he has many good games left in his venerable left arm.

Waycross Golfers Are Seeking Tie

WAYCROSS, Ga., June 14.—Waycross is particularly interested in its next two matches in the Tobacco Belt league because if it wins these two matches it can go into a tie for the league trophy.

Both of these remaining matches are with Douglas. On Thursday, June 16, the match will be played in Waycross and on Thursday, June 23, the match will be played on a neutral course, probably in Valdosta.

The team percentages at present are: Douglas, .833; Waycross, .572; Fitzgerald, .500; Tifton, .143.

THE SPORTLIGHT
By Grantland Rice

Sarazen and Fresh Meadow.

Gene Sarazen's brilliant and amazing assault upon the par of Prince's and his record-breaking march in the British open will be a big boost for the United States open at Fresh Meadow, which breaks out a week from tomorrow.

There will be any number of stars in a battle array over Fresh Meadow's verdant turf, but it takes an outstanding performance like that of Sarazen's to build up the show and provide the needed "human hero interest." For Sarazen to win at Sandwich was one thing. For Sarazen to set up the best score ever known for 72 holes for championship golf was something else again.

Outside of his Sandwich performance, the next point is that Sarazen has been highly favored for some time to win at Fresh Meadow. Gene was the club professional at this Long Island course for some years. He knows every dip and roll, every slope and slant—where danger lies and where safety will count. He will be a formidable factor from start to finish in his bold attempt to stand with Bobby Jones as one of the two golfers able to win both classics in the same year.

Jones led the big march at Hoylake and Interlachen in 1930 in his last stand. Sarazen has his chance at Fresh Meadow to stand alone with the brilliant Georgian who will be trailing Gene from the sidelines.

Different at Fresh Meadow.

It will be different at Fresh Meadow. Sarazen faced a strong field at Sandwich, but he will face a stronger field next week.

He had Mac Smith and Armour on his trail at Sandwich. He will have them at Fresh Meadow. In place of Percy Alliss and Arthur Havers, he will have Hagen, Farrell, Horton Smith, Bill Burke, George Von Elm, Diegel, Cooper and a dozen others.

In Sarazen's case it will be largely a question as to how much nerve reserve he has left after burning so much of it away in the dizzy pace he set abroad. You may still recall what happened to Tommy Armour at Inverness last summer after his victory at Carnoustie. The same thing has happened to others—including Hagen on several occasions.

There is a world of mental and nerve pressure in ripping wide open for four rounds as Sarazen did. But the stocky Italian is as strong as a young horse and after a week's lay-off from golf he may be ready for another fast whirl.

To bag two national championships in the same month, however, would be a stupendous performance against the class of competition he must face.

Concerning Mac Smith.

There will be almost as much interest in the coming fate of Mac Smith, who started 22 years ago by finishing second in the British open and who again finished second no later than last week.

Smith's 288 at Sandwich was a classic. His last day charge of 70-71 was a great performance. He has proved that he is still hitting the ball under fire as well as ever, and the rather narrow confines of Fresh Meadow should give his unerring accuracy a good, sound chance to crack the ancient hoodoo that first broke out in 1910.

When one reaches 40, the years are beginning to run out in active competition against the wild surge of youth and younger days. Each attempt takes on a darker hue, but Mac Smith still has the game that is good enough to win. Fresh Meadow may be the harbor he has looked for through so many years.

The Sprinting Jubilee.

Only a little while ago the tip-off featured Wykoff and Keisel, of the west coast, as two of our leading Olympic sprinters. They still are. But it is a grave question today whether either can outrun Metcalfe, of Marquette, or Toppino, of Loyola, who have been ripping the epidermis off Old Man Time for the past few weeks. Metcalfe has put on at least three astonishing performances over the 100 and 200-meter routes. So has Toppino, the southern flyer. It undoubtedly will take a new world's record to displace either Metcalfe or Toppino, and even a new world's record may get no better than a draw.

A Feature Duel.

Don't overlook the home run war between Jimmy Foxx and Babe Ruth. The counter battery work employed on both sides has become one of the leading summer features and it may carry on to the finish of the race. The young Philadelphia blaster started a steady cannonade back in April. He has maintained the salvo with a few intermissions ever since.

The Babe started in a hurry, subsided for a spell, and then came tearing back with his best stuff.

Foxx and Ruth are not the only people in this home-run scrimmage, but one of the two should lead the pack when the wind-up arrives. Ruth is spotting his rival 14 years, a killing handicap for anyone except Ruth who seems to have no interest in a calendar or a clock.

Chambers' School Will Open Today

Mike Chambers' summer training school will open at Georgia Tech today with around 20 Atlanta businessmen enrolled.

Chambers plans to conduct the school for around six weeks as a sort of summer avocation.

How One Man Lost 42 Pounds

"Gentlemen: I weighed 287 lbs. in May, 1931. I weigh 245 lbs. now (Jan., 1932). I plan to lose one lb. each week and do so. My hope is to reach around 200 to 225 without physical injury. I weighed 225 when 21 years of age, am now 50 years old. I feel better now. I take and recommend Kruschen Salts — have used 4 bottles." William P. Powers, Utica, N. Y., January 23, 1932.

To lose fat SAFELY and quickly take one-half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water in the morning before breakfast. To hasten results go light on fatty meats, potatoes, cream and pastries.

For your health's sake ask for and get Kruschen—the cost for a bottle that lasts 4 weeks is but a trifle at any drug store in the world and if after the first bottle you are not joyfully satisfied with results—money back. Jacobs Pharmacy Co., and Decatur agent, Threadgill Pharmacy; Hapeville agent, Chapman Drug Co.; College Park agent, Chapman Drug Co.; East Point agent, Christian's Pharmacy, and all good druggists will be glad to supply you.—(adv.)

CRACKERS LOSE DOUBLE-HEADER TO SMOKY CLUB

Atlantans Blasted in First, 16-0, and Drop Second, 5-3.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., June 14.—Good pitching, consistent hitting and reliable fielding—three qualities that are hard to beat in baseball—carried the Knoxville Smokies to a double victory over Atlanta here this afternoon. The Smokies won the first game, 16 to 0, behind the four-hit pitching of Bill Thomas, and rollicked to a 5-to-3 victory in the night cap.

Bill Thomas had the Crackers swing from the hip in the first game. They couldn't do a thing with his fast-breaking curves and tantalizing slow balls. And while the Crackers were whiffing and behaving very poorly in all departments, Knoxville was pasting Mr. Jughandle Johnny Morrison and Coleman, who relieved him in the third, most impressively.

Jim Seagraves, a youngster who was signed when the Southeastern league went blooey, out-pitched Andy Messenger to win the nightcap. Howard Freigau hit the only home run of the afternoon in the third inning with no one on base.

Babe Bigelow with four of his hits in the opener made the best showing of the day at the platter.

GOB IS BIGGER, MORE POWERFUL, NEIL DECLARES

Fighting for "Vindication," Bostonian Is Confident of Winning.

By Edward J. Neil,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

ORANGEBURG, N. Y., June 14. Jack Sharkey, bigger, more powerful than ever before in his ring career served warning today that a great heavyweight battle impends in the new Madison Square Garden bowl a week from tonight.

Entering the final week of training for his 15-round title battle with Max Schmeling next Tuesday night, the Boston sailor punched three brilliant rounds with Joe Sekyra, Bohemian light-heavyweight blond, from Dayton Ohio.

Sharkey is heavier than ever before in a career that extends all the way back to the days when he leaped into overnight fame by taming the supposedly unbeatable negro, Harry Wills, almost seven years ago. He scaled 203 pounds after a ten-round workout today. He weighed 207 pounds before the drill.

But most of the added weight has gone into Sharkey's shoulders. As he blasted lefthooks into the body of the flashy light-heavyweight who went ten rounds to a decision with Schmeling three years ago, the added ballast showed in his punching power.

The Boston gob who is facing his last opportunity as a title challenger, genuinely seems to have lost all the old irritableness and bluster.

"Well, things have changed in the past year," Sharkey explained today. "When I was getting up there, it was a question of money. If I lost there was always another chance.

"But this time I'm fighting almost for nothing. The only thing that interests me is vindication. I know I can whip Schmeling."

JIM HESSLYN IS SUSPENDED

John Podubney, Russian heavyweight wrestler, was given an Atlanta boxing commission decision over Jim Hesslyn, of Australia, Tuesday night at the city auditorium in the feature of Promoter L. C. Warren's wrestling card. Hesslyn was suspended indefinitely by the commission who ordered Doc Langford, the referee, to award the decision to Podubney.

It all happened after Hesslyn had won the second fall to square the match and when Hesslyn was alleged to have kicked Podubney as the referee walked to a neutral corner of the ring.

And that was not all of the action in the show, for an irate fan was ejected from the auditorium by city policemen shortly before Podubney won the first fall for climbing into the ring and kicking one of the participants. The referee was separating the wrestlers, and during the excitement, when many spectators rushed to the ringside, a fan climbed into the ring and began kicking Hesslyn.

Podubney won the first fall in 23 minutes with a leg strangle, but fell a victim to a series of leg splits and forearm blows to lose the second fall in 24 minutes.

In the semi-windup, Marvin Plestina, of Chicago, threw Jack Taylor, Birmingham, in nine minutes with a body block. Two preliminary matches were very interesting. Oscar Williamson, Atlanta, defeated Sammy Miller, Macon, in a 15-minute match, and A. K. Bell defeated H. Wynne in 14 minutes of the second preliminary.

During the intermission Plestina issued a challenge to Jim Londos for a world's championship match and posted a $1,000 forfeit. Plestina offers $10,000 for the match. $5,000 to go to charity and $5,000 to Londos for accepting the match. And offers to post the $10,000 in an Atlanta bank as soon as the match was accepted.

REDS 5-5; PHILLIES 6-2.

PHILADELPHIA, June 14.—The Phillies rallied in the ninth inning for three runs to win the first game of today's double-header with the Cincinnati Reds, 6 to 5, but they couldn't beat Jack Ogden's seven-hit pitching and Jim Elliott's bad first inning in the second contest and Cincinnati came through with a 5-to-2 triumph.

Chuck Klein hit his sixteenth homer in the seventh inning of the first game with two on base. In the ninth, the Phils nicked Owen Carroll for five hits to win. Six of the first seven Reds to face Jim Elliott in the first inning, hit safely to score four runs before Harold "Ace" Elliott came to the rescue. Eddie Delker's homer accounted for the only Phillie run.

ECONOMIC LAME, IS FEARED OUT OF RICH DERBY

Boatswain Is Now Favorite To Win $50,000 Feature Saturday.

CHICAGO, June 14.—(AP)—The ill luck following candidates for the American Derby, $50,000 feature of the Washington Park season, which will be run Saturday, tonight apparently had caught up with the latest favorite, J. H. Louchheim's Economic.

After working the derby route in 2:10 in easy style today, the colt appeared to be in good shape. About an hour later he developed lameness and swelling in his left foreleg, and Trainer Happy Buxton held only slight hope that Economic would be able to start.

Ill fortune of various kinds already has removed Burgoo King, the leader of the three-year-old division; George D. Widener's filly, Evening; Mrs. L. G. Kaufman's Tick On, and Top Flight, star of the C. V. Whitney stable, from the race.

Boatswain, Walter M. Jefford's winner of the Withers, became the favorite following Economic's injury.

Kirkwood Girls Beat Pattillo, 10-9

Making their debut in the Cherokee league yesterday, the Kirkwood girls' team won over the Pattillo club, 10 to 9.

The game was featured by the pitching of Clements for Kirkwood, who yielded only five hits and struck out fourteen.

Score by innings:

DR. C. L. RIDLEY HEADS HEALTH ADVISORY BODY

Committee Will Aid Dr. Abercrombie, State Director; Report Submitted.

Dr. C. L. Ridley, of Macon, was elected chairman of the advisory committee to Dr. T. F. Abercrombie, state director of public health, at its first meeting held Tuesday in the office of Governor Russell. Dr. Ridley was elected unanimously upon nomination by Robert F. Maddox, Atlanta banker, who was president of the old state board of health which expired last December 31.

Dr. James G. Williams, of Buford, representing the Georgia State Dental Society, was elected vice chairman, and C. L. Tinsley, accountant of the department of public health, was elected secretary.

Other members of the committee which was authorized under the reorganization bill abolishing the state board of health, were Colonel R. C. Ellis, of Americus; Dr. J. A. Redfearn, of Albany; Dr. H. L. Erwin, of Dalton; Dr. W. H. Myers, of Savannah; Dr. M. M. Head, of Zebulon, president of the Medical Association of Georgia, and Mrs. R. H. Hankinson, of McDonough, president of the Georgia Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Dr. Abercrombie submitted his annual report to the committee, and various features of it were discussed fully. The financial report of the department also was submitted, which showed that the department, as is its custom, is continuing to operate within its appropriation. The appropriations for the department were cut $17,000 by the last legislature.

Per Capita Tax Levy in Atlanta Is Almost Doubled in 15 Years

Atlanta's per capita levy for city, state and county taxes for 1931 was almost double the per capita for 1917, according to a department of commerce of the census bureau report, showing $41.45 last year as against $22.37 in 1917. The figure were compiled by L. A. James, of the bureau, and were based on an estimated population of 277,600.

During 1931 the payments for operation and general maintenance of Atlanta's general departments amounted to $8,395,106, or $30.24 per capita, as against $30.08 for 1930 and $14.57 for 1917. Payments for the operation and maintenance of public service enterprises last year amounted to $497,677; interest on debt, $876,671, and outlays for permanent improvements, $637,895.

All payments for the year, according to those figures, was a sum totaling $10,407,340, of which amount $61,548 represents payments to a city department or enterprise to another for services.

While the per capita tax levies increased from 1917 to 1931 were increasing, total revenue receipts were also mounting. Receipts for 1931 were $10,716,437, or $38.60 per capita, or $946,983 more than total payments, which amount went to reduce indebtedness and increased cash balance.

Despite the fact that per capita taxes were increasing, the proportion of property taxes was decreasing. Property taxes for 1917 represented 62.2 per cent of the total income, 55.1 per cent for 1930 and 54.7 per cent for last year. The increase in property taxes collected was 121.1 per cent from 1917 to 1931 but there was a decrease of 5.2 per cent from 1930 to last year.

The per capita of property taxes collected was $21.12 in 1931, $22.78 in 1930 and $13.52 in 1917. Earnings of public service enterprises operated by the city represented 17.8 per cent of the total revenue for 1931, 17.3 per cent for 1930 and 13.1 per cent for 1917.

While the per capita net indebtedness increased from $21.68 in 1917 to $55.36 in 1930, a drop was shown on December 31, 1931, to $52.81 per capita, or a total net indebtedness of $14,660,642. The total funded or fixed debt on December 31, 1931, was $16,236,592, of which amount $3,151,000 was for public service enterprises.

On the assessed valuation of property in Atlanta subject to ad valorem taxes for city corporation in 1931 was $424,500,924, the levy for all purposes was $11,507,669, of which $6,367,514, or 55.3 per cent, was levied for the city corporation; $1,606,298, or 14 per cent for the state, and $3,533,857, or 30.7 per cent, for the county.

48 Schoolboys Catch Athletes' Foot

"Last winter my son, age 14 years, with 48 others in his grade, contracted a serious foot ailment at an indoor swimming pool.

"His feet became so sore and itched so bad he could not have bed covering even touch them, but would sleep with his feet out of bed. His shoes and stockings hurt him so he begged to stay home off his feet.

"Having heard of many remarkable results obtained from the use of Moone's Emerald Oil and being advised by a friend to try this wonderful oil, did so.

"To my surprise and satisfaction it cleaned up his case, called Athlete's Foot, completely with two medium-sized bottles."

This actual experience reported by Mrs. Harry Dayton, 72 Farragut street, Rochester, N. Y., is by no means unique.

Many swimming pools have been closed on account of the spread of this crippling infection, and health authorities recommend that mothers rub their children's feet every night with Emerald Oil for precaution as well as cure.

First-class druggists like Jacobs Pharmacy Co. are selling lots of Emerald Oil with the flat promise that one bottle will banish every trace of Athlete's Foot or you get your money back.—(adv.)

S. A. L. ANNOUNCES ONE-CENT EXCURSION

The Seaboard Air Line Railway has inaugurated 1-cent per mile round trip rates, effective next Saturday on excursions from Atlanta to all eastern points, according to Fred Geissler, general passenger agent of the system.

The excursions rates apply to and from many other points throughout the east and north. The excursion Saturday will carry two Pullman and dining cars, one leaving at 11:55 in the morning and another at 7:20 in the evening. The trains will pass through Athens, Raleigh, Petersburg, Va.; Richmond, Fredericksburg, Alexandria, all historical points of interest, Washington and New York.

All conveniences, including lunches and coffee, will be served in the regular coaches, according to Mr. Geissler.

Tickets will be sold for all regular trains and will be good until June 26.

Mr. Geissler said that baggage may be checked on tickets sold at the reduced rates with stop-over privileges, on either going or return trip, and one-half fares for children between 5 and 12 years of age will be observed.

REP. C. H. BRAND UNDER TREATMENT OF DOCTORS HERE

Congressman Charles H. Brand, of the eighth Georgia district, has been in Atlanta for the past week. He was ordered here for hospital treatment by his physician in Washington, after a severe attack of bronchitis and nerve fatigue.

Just before leaving Washington he suffered a serious relapse after his strenuous fight in the house against the Steagall guaranty bank deposit bill.

He was confined to his room in Washington for a few days, and in order to be near his daughters in Atlanta he came here, and for the past few days has been under the care of a physician.

He is still confined to his room and will probably not be able to return to Washington for at least a week.

Congressman Brand, whose home is in Athens, is unopposed for re-election.

WORKS OF SHEETS TO BE ON DISPLAY AT HIGH MUSEUM

Pencil drawings, etchings, and lithographs executed by Millard Sheets, prominent artist of Los Angeles, will be displayed at the High Museum of Art beginning today and continuing through July 15. This will inaugurate the summer schedule of exhibitions at the museum, which will contain, it is said, some of the finest examples of the graphic arts the museum has shown.

The majority of the works to be exhibited in Atlanta, aside from that of Sheets, will come from artists of Italy, France, Germany and Switzerland. The pencil drawings of Sheets will be of particular interest, as they portray the personality of the artist better than any other medium, according to L. P. Skidmore, director of the High Museum. Sheets is said to have won an enviable place in the art world by the purchase, four months ago, by the city of Los Angeles of his prize winning painting, "Angeles' Flight."

Classes in free instruction to children of members of the museum and the summer session of the museum school are fast reaching their capacity, Mr. Skidmore stated, calling attention to their educational advantages, which should not be overlooked by Atlanta citizens.

Ex-Broker Is Nabbed At Penitentiary Gates

Percy Jay Fuller, former New York broker, who Tuesday completed a sentence in the federal penitentiary for using the mails to defraud, was rearrested by sheriff's deputies as he left the prison. The Atlanta deputies had a warrant for Fuller's arrest on an old perjury charge.

The former broker was held for several hours at the Fulton Tower while his attorney, Hugh Howell, arranged for a bond hearing before Governor Richard B. Russell Jr. Governor Russell ordered the ex-broker freed on $2,000 bond pending the arrival of extradition papers from New York.

James W. McKittrick, New York detective, here to escort Fuller back north said he expected extradition papers today or Thursday.

STARNES IS FIRST IN STATE AUDITION

G. B. Starnes, of the Georgia Power Company at Rome, has been awarded first honor in the General Electric audition contest in Georgia. Over 200 salesmen from every part of Georgia competed in this audition through a carefully planned series of elimination contests. It was sponsored by the electric refrigeration department of the General Electric Company with the help of the W. D. Alexander Company and the Georgia Power Company, the purpose being to aid every salesman of General Electric refrigerators in improving the presentation of their sales talks.

Finals of the audition were held in Atlanta on June 3 at Mr. Alexander's cabin on Lullwater road. A dinner was served to the contestants and judges who were W. W. Barr, O. M. Jackson and W. F. Ogden, of the Georgia Power Company.

Mr. Starnes won the right to represent Georgia at district finals to be held in Philadelphia at a later date. He was also awarded $50 first prize. Mr. Holt, Georgia Power Company, Milledgeville, took second honors and $25, while W. K. Moore, won third honor and a $10 prize.

STATE IS PLANNING ACTION ON HUGHES

With one of a pair of bandit's victims dead and the second not expected to survive, Fulton county authorities Tuesday afternoon were planning murder charges against Wallace Hughes, alias W. V. Knight, for presentation to a grand jury sometime this week.

G. C. Moon, 47-year-old meat salesman, died late Monday afternoon from a bullet wound in the abdomen, and W. J. (Shorty) Hamilton, manager of Hartman's cafe, where the holdup and shooting occurred a week ago, was in grave condition Tuesday night from a similar wound. Doctors said his survival was problematical.

Funeral services will be held for Moon at 11 o'clock this morning at Wesley Memorial church, with Rev. Felton Williams, pastor, officiating. Interment will be under direction of A. C. Hemperley & Son in Crest Lawn.

Moon is survived by wife, a son, W. J. Moon, and two brothers, C. C. Moon, of Andalusia, Ala., and E. E. Moon, of Gadsden.

Moon's death left his family without means of support and without funds for burial expenses, according to E. S. Hartman, proprietor of Hartman's cafe, who has started a subscription fund for the family.

HARDWICK IS READY TO LAUNCH CAMPAIGN

Three political speeches to be made by as many candidates in the two major contests this week Tuesday held chief interest for the voters.

Thursday, at Albany, former Governor Thomas W. Hardwick will announce his platform as a candidate for governor. Friday night, over radio, Governor Richard B. Russell Jr. will deliver his first strictly political speech in his race against Representative Charles R. Crisp. Saturday, at Carnesville, Eugene Talmadge, commissioner of agriculture, will resume his speaking campaign.

After these three speeches, hotel headquarters in Atlanta will be opened by a number of the candidates, including Crisp and Russell. In the gubernatorial free-for-all, John I. Kelley was first to open with a suite at the Piedmont hotel.

Headquarters of Abit Nix, at Athens, issued a statement Tuesday replying to charges made by W. J. Crowe, campaign manager for Kelley, that Nix is unfriendly to the reorganization law.

"Mr. Nix has pointed out in plain language," the statement said, "that he is not opposed to the reorganization program. The claim that he is the candidate of opponents of the reorganization program is incorrect and not in accordance with the facts."

The official ballot for the state primary to be held September 14 will be prepared here today by the rules committee of the state executive committee. This meeting is also scheduled to take action on a report of a special committee which found that the Fulton county committee was irregularly elected last March.

MISS HATTIE MARR, 46, IS FOUND DEAD IN BED

Miss Hattie Marr, well-known resident of Riverside, was found dead in bed Tuesday morning at her residence on Hollywood road. She was 46 years old. A coroner's inquest will be held today to determine the cause of death.

Miss Marr, who was a member of an old family and who was an ardent worker in the Daughters of the American Revolution, is survived by two sisters, Miss Carrie Marr, of Atlanta, and Mrs. Paul Smith, of Canton, and four nieces and one nephew. Funeral arrangements are under the direction of the Williams Funeral Home, Hapeville.

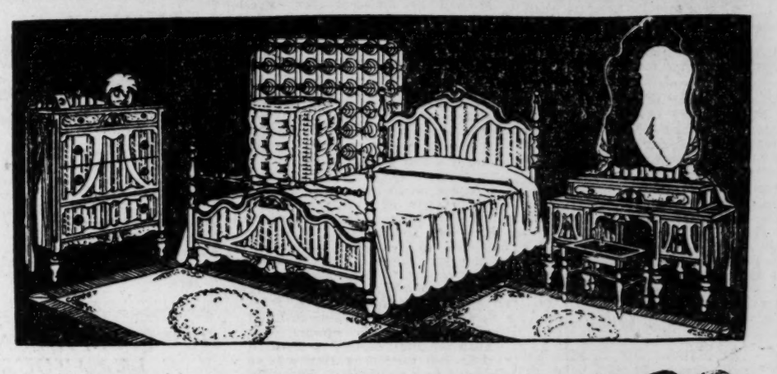

Robert G. Stephens Is Visiting Old Home

Robert G. Stephens, vice president of the Central Hanover Bank & Trust Company of New York, is in Atlanta for a few days, visiting his family.

Mr. Stephens was formerly connected with the Trust Company of Georgia and, being a native of Atlanta, he has been given a warm welcome by his old friends and associates. He is a son of the late J. M. Stephens, for many years division superintendent of the Western Union Telegraph Company.

Mr. Stephens was a guest at the weekly Rotary Club luncheon Tuesday.

Miss Chambers Becomes Bride Of Mr. Feagin at Macon Ceremony

MACON, Ga., June 14.—The marriage of Miss Elmina Chambers and Douglas Feagin was beautifully solemnized this evening at 7:30 o'clock at the Vineville Baptist church, with Dr. J. E. Sammons performing the ceremony.

Preceding the ceremony a program of music was rendered by Miss Fannie Matthews, organist.

The ushers, Hamilton Napier and Gordon Thorpe, entered first and they were followed by the bridesmaids, Mrs. Davis Adams, Mrs. Ellsworth Hall Jr., Mrs. Benjamin Hardy Jr., of Barnesville, and Mrs. J. Eugene Cook, of Wrightsville. The groomsmen were Ellsworth Hall Jr., Davis Adams, Billington Sanders Walker and Benjamin Hardy Jr., of Barnesville.

The bridesmaids were gowned alike in Molyneaux models of French blue flat chiffon. The dresses were unrimmed except for a row of tiny ruffles which made the skirts flare at the hemlines, and were worn with short jackets of the material tied in soft bows in front. They wore crepe slippers dyed to match their gowns, and carried arm bouquets of Pernet roses.

Miss Caroline Feagin, sister of the bridegroom, and junior maid of honor, was followed by Miss Dena Barrs, of Jacksonville, Fla., maid of honor. Their dresses, fashioned like those worn by the bridesmaids, were of yellow flat chiffon. They wore yellow slippers and carried arm bouquets of Pernet roses.

The bride entered with her father, Judge Hugh Chambers, who gave her in marriage, and they were met at the altar by the bridegroom and his best man, his brother, Jack Feagin.

Bride Enters.

The bride's exquisite brunette loveliness was enhanced by her wedding gown of white satin, a Lanvin model. Long sleeves which ended in points over the hands, and a full skirt, which added in a smart train in back were interesting features. Her veil was of tulle, over which was worn a cap of real Brussels lace. The bride carried an arm bouquet of lilies of the valley.

The bride's parents, Judge and Mrs. Hugh Chambers, entertained the members of the bridal party and the out-of-town guests at a reception at their residence on Vineville avenue. Judge and Mrs. Chambers, and Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Feagin, parents of the bridegroom, received the guests with the members of the wedding party. Mrs. Chambers was lovely wearing a gown of French blue chiffon, and a corsage bouquet of sweetheart roses and lilies of the valley. Mrs. Feagin's gown was of coral chiffon, fashioned in princess lines. Her flowers were lilies of the valley and forget-me-nots.

Assisting at the reception were Mrs. Billington Sanders Walker, Miss Carroll Thompson, of Atlanta; Miss Mary Alfriend and Mrs. J. W. Adams Jr.

Wedding Journey.

The bride and bridegroom left for a wedding trip, the bride traveling in a stunning gray and black ensemble of crepe Elizabeth. She wore a becoming turban of black, with a short drop veil, and her bag was of black kid.

Out-of-Town Guests.

Among the out-of-town guests were Miss Carroll Thompson, Mrs. W. H. Irby, Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Chambers and Richard Broadbent, of Atlanta; Mr. and Mrs. George Ellis, of Americus; Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Cook, of Wrightsville; Mrs. W. E. Farrar, of Columbus; Mrs. W. H. Weeks, Misses Marian and Clara Weeks, Mrs. E. H. Chambers, Miss Catherine Chambers and Elbert Chambers, of Decatur; Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Hardy Jr., of Barnesville; Miss Dena Barrs, of Jacksonville, Fla., and Miss Mary Myers, of Athens.

Miss Zimmerman Weds Joseph Zion.

Of cordial interest to many friends and relatives was the wedding of Miss Lillian Zimmerman and Joseph Zion, which took place Sunday evening at 5:30 o'clock at the home of the bride's brother, Simon Zimmerman, on Atlanta avenue, with Rabbi Tobias Geffin officiating. The home was decorated with palms, ferns and cut flowers. On either side of the altar were seven-branched candelabra holding burning white tapers.

The maid of honor, Miss Dorothy Zimmerman, niece of the bride, was gowned in a green chiffon with accessories to match. Her flowers were a shower bouquet of tea roses with ribbons to match her dress. The matron of honor, Mrs. Abe Pizitz, sister of the bridegroom, from Huntsville, Ala., was gowned in a blue chiffon with accessories.. She wore a corsage.

Simon Zimmerman gave his sister in marriage and they were met at the altar by the bridegroom and his best man, Sam Zion. The blonde beauty of the bride was enhanced by the striking costume of beige and peach with accessories to match. She carried a bouquet of tea roses combined with orange blossoms and tied with a bridal ribbon and tulle.

Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Simon Zimmerman entertained at a reception after which the bride and groom left for a short trip to Charleston, S. C. Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Leo Charikoff, of Tampa, Fla. Mrs. Abe Pizitz, of Huntsville, Alabama.

Miss Edith Walthall Becomes Bride of Mr. Ford in Alabama

Lovely Mrs. Alan Bowdoin Ford, formerly Miss Edith Walthall, whose marriage took place in Gadsden, Ala., on June 3. Mr. and Mrs. Ford will reside at 1765 Boulevard, N. E., in Morningside. Photo by Elliott studio.

Coming as a complete surprise to their many friends throughout the south is the announcement made today by W. P. Walthall of the marriage of his daughter, Miss Edith Walthall, to Alan Bowdoin Ford, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Ford, of Fellsmere, Fla., formerly of Atlanta. The marriage was solemnized in Gadsden, Ala., Friday evening, June 3, the Rev. Dr. Clare Purcell, pastor of the First Methodist church, officiating.

Mrs. Ford is prominently connected in the south, her father being identified with social and civic movements in Atlanta and an outstanding realtor, being connected with the Adams-Cates Company. Her paternal grandfather was William Morgan Walthall, of Palmetto, Ga., and she is descended from the Garretts of Georgia. The late Mrs. Walthall was Miss Eudora McGympsey, of Louisiana.

The bride has made a host of friends for herself as one of Atlanta's most charming and accomplished young women. She is a graduate of the Girls' High school, where she was prominent in all scholastic activities; a graduate of Randolph Macon Woman's College in Lynchburg, Va., where she was a member of the Alpha Omicron Pi Sorority, and active in all school clubs. For three summers she was diving and dramatics instructor at Camy Sequoya, in Bristol, Va. She is a very gifted and versatile young woman, and universally popular.

Mr. Ford has lived in Atlanta most of his life. His parents, who have only recently removed to Florida, are well known here and throughout Georgia, his mother having been before her marriage Miss Sally Markham, of Columbus, and his father being originally from Marietta, Ga. Mr. Ford is a graduate of Emory University, where he received a degree in business administration. He is a member of the Kappa Alpha fraternity; of the O. D. K., national honorary fraternity, and of the D. V. S., senior honorary society, and the Druid Hills Golf Club. At present he holds the position of office manager of Dunlap & Co.

Mr. and Mrs. Ford will be at home after June 15 at 1765 Boulevard, N. E., in Morningside.

Decatur Rebekah Lodge Will Hold 'Mother and Daughter' Party June 17

Decatur Rebekah lodge will hold a mother and daughter party at the hall in Decatur Friday evening, June 17, at 8 o'clock. Members of the lodge may invite either their mother or daughter and if they cannot invite their own mother or daughter, are privileged to invite a substitute. This entertainment has been planned by Mrs. Harper H. Harden, chairman of the entertainment committee, and as Mrs. Harden's mother is a member of Decatur lodge, she has invited Mrs. Maude Hughes, past president of the assembly of Georgia. Mrs. Ida L. Flemming will have as her guest her granddaughter, Miss Frances Flemming; Miss Ina Mae Butler, noble grand of Decatur lodge, will have her mother as her guest; Mrs. F. R. Johnson, vice grand, will have as her guest her daughter, Miss Frances Reeves; Mrs. J. Mack Johnston has invited her three daughters, Misses Affa Johnson, Corine Johnson and Rossiebell Johnson; Miss Louise Collier will have as her guest her mother, Mrs. Charles C. Collier; Miss Louella Phellps will have her mother as her guest; Mrs. L. D. Broadwater will have her mother as her guest, and Mrs. Mittie Anderson will have as her guest her daughter-in-law, Mrs. W. D. Anderson.

Mrs. E. Walter Trippe, past president of Georgia, and present musician of the assembly, will be present and give several of the songs which were popular in the gay nineties, such as "After the Ball," "Two Little Girls in Blue," and others. Mrs. Jessie Pitts will render the modern music, the public is invited, as well as members of the order in Atlanta. Mrs. Mittie Anderson is chairman of the refreshment committee, and the punch bowl will be presided over by Misses Frances Flemming and Frances Johnson. Miss Ina Mae Butler is closing her term as noble grand of Decatur lodge, after a very successful term, with Mrs. M. R. Johnson, as vice grand; Mrs. H. H. Harden as secretary, and J. Mack Johnson as treasurer. Invitation is extended to members of the order to visit them whenever possible on Friday evenings.

Miss Hanson Reads At Auxiliary Tea This Afternoon

Gladys Hanson, beloved member of St. Philip's Episcopal cathedral, and an actress of great renown, will give a varied and interesting group of readings this afternoon at a silver tea for the Woman's Auxiliary at 4 o'clock at Seven Oaks, home of Colonel P. H. Snook at 1292 Cleburne avenue, N. E.

Miss Hanson has done outstanding work on the stage. She has played in Shakespearan plays as well as in the lighter and more modern plays to which she brings much talent, charm and personality.

For years the Snook family has been intimately connected with the cathedral of St. Philip. Mrs. Snook having been the soprano soloist for years. Colonel Snook for years served faithfully on the chapter, giving of his time, energy and thought for the betterment of the cathedral's welfare. His daughters have taken an active part in the workings of the cathedral, and Miss Lucinda Snook is now vice president of the Woman's Auxiliary, which is sponsoring this tea. Miss Snook served for three years as diocesan president of the Woman's Auxiliary.

The auxiliary, through its president, Mrs. William Perrin Nicolson Sr., extends to friends of the cathedral a cordial welcome to the tea.

Miss Houston To Be Honored.

Miss Josephine Houston, of Charlotte, N. C., will be central figure at a bridge-tea Saturday, June 18, when Mrs. Francis Dwyer will entertain in her honor. Mrs. Forest Fowler will entertain Friday, June 17, at a bridge-tea in compliment to Miss Houston. Others who will fete this attractive visitor are Mrs. Herbert Phillips and Mrs. Chester Willard. Other informal affairs are being planned in Miss Houston's honor.

Mrs. Rufus Thayer Feted at Parties During Visit Here

Mrs. Rufus G. Thayer, accompanied by her young son, Rufus Thayer Jr., has arrived from Annapolis, Md., to spend some time as the guest of her father, Claude Shewmake, and her sister, Miss Elizabeth Shewmake, at their home on West Peachtree street. Mrs. Thayer is receiving a cordial welcome and is being entertained at a series of delightful informal parties during her visit.

Mrs. H. Clay Moore Jr. entertains at tea today at her home on Shadowlawn avenue in compliment to this attractive visitor, and Mrs. Louis E. Chalenor plans a party in her honor, the date of which will be announced later.

Mrs. Charles T. Winship was hostess at luncheon yesterday at her home in Brookwood Hills in honor of Mrs. Thayer and later in the day she was central figure at the tea at which Mrs. Stuart Gould Jr. was hostess at her home on Peachtree road.

Mrs. Thayer was, before her marriage, Miss Anna Harriet Shewmake, a belle and beauty of Atlanta society. Later in the summer she will be joined by Lieutenant Thayer and they will go to California where Lieutenant Thayer will be stationed with the Pacific fleet.

Mrs. Dunson Honored At East Lake Club.

Mr. and Mrs. B. N. Hansberger entertained at dinner last evening at the East Lake Country Club, honoring their sister, Mrs. B. L. Dunson, of Hartford, Ala., and in celebration of Mrs. Hansberger's birthday. Miss Cooper Weds Mr. Hutchinson At Church Ceremony in Perry, Ga.

PERRY, Ga., June 14.—Marked by beauty and simplicity was the wedding of Miss Frances Cooper to John Wilburn Hutchinson, of Atlanta, which took place this evening at 7:30 o'clock at the Perry Baptist church. Rev. A. R. Hutchinson, of Morris, Okla., performed the ceremony in the presence of a large assemblage of friends and relatives of the popular young couple.

Garlands of pink and white roses interspersed with greenery formed the background for the wedding party. The arched windows were draped with smilax and hanging baskets of roses. The altar candles were lighted by Misses Carloine Nunn and Frances Foster, of Perry.

Wedding Music.

The wedding music was played by Miss Elizabeth Brunson, of Perry, pianist, and by Mrs. Claudia Pate, of Montezuma, violinist. The bridal chorus sang "Bells of Saint Mary's," and "Ah Sweet Mystery of Life." Composing the chorus were Mesdames Allen Pritchett, Tom Cater, Coleman Hodge, Clinton K. Cooper, Misses Martha Strother, Martha Cooper and Mary Lawson, all of Perry; Mrs. J. T. Davis, of Sarasota, Fla.; Miss Thelma Tingle, of Monticello, Miss Frances Felton, of Montezuma; Miss Martha Hutchinson, of Birmingham, Ala., and Mrs. Tom Mobley, of Macon. Their dresses were fashioned alike in pastel shades. They carried choir books covered in white satin and showered with roses.

Coleman Strother, of Perry; Eugene Beckham, of Perry; J. A. Greene, of Atlanta, and W. H. Arnold, of Atlanta, acted as ushers.

The matron of honor, Mrs. George Dallas Baker, of Thomason, a cousin of the bride, was gowned in sunset organdie, embroidered in white wool. With this she wore a short taffeta coat and carried an arm bouquet of sunset roses.

Preceding the bride came the flower girls, Louise Kezar, of Elko, and Betty Gooden, of Perry, dressed in pink organdie, and carrying old-fashioned nosegays.

Lovely Bride.

The bride entered with her brother, Clinton K. Cooper, who gave her in marriage, and they were met at the altar by the bridegroom and his best man, Captain A. G. Hutchinson, of Jefferson Barracks, Mo.

The bride was beautiful in her wedding gown of ivory satin fashioned on princess lines, the neckline of which was trimmed with insertions of rose point lace embroidered in sequins. Her veil of ivory illusion tulle, cap shaded, was caught in back with lace, trimmed in sequins. She carried an arm bouquet of bride's roses showered with lilies of the valley.

Following the ceremony the aunts of the bride, Mrs. M. G. Edwards, Mrs. J. P. Etheridge, Mrs. C. F. Cooper, of Perry, and Mrs. W. J. Little, of Macon, entertained at a reception at the home of Mrs. Edwards. Mrs. Cooper, mother of the bride, was gowned in navy blue lase, fashioned over chiffon and she wore a bouquet of sweetheart roses and lilies of the valley. Mrs. J. W. Hutchinson, of Atlanta, mother of the bridegroom, wore chiffon with a bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley. Mrs. Edwards wore flesh taffeta, Mrs. Little, black lace; Mrs. Cooper, pink chiffon, and Mrs. Ethetridge flowered chiffon. Their flowers were roses and valley lilies.

Assisting in serving were Mesdames H. P. Dobbins, C. B. Andrews, L. F. Cater, T. C. Rogers, Paschal Muse, Alva Davis, W. C. Massee, J. H. Short, H. T. Gilbert, A. S. Gossett, J. H. Clarke, A. I. Foster and Floyd Tabor, of Perry; Mrs. Lamar Mullis, of Macon; Misses Catherine Lawson, Evelyn Hunt, Coralie Brown, Margery Short, Jean Houser, Fannie Alice Clark, of Perry, and Miss Mary Little, of Macon.

The bride and bridegroom left on a wedding trip and will reside in Atlanta upon their return.

Officers' Club Fetes Reserve Unit June 17

FORT McPHERSON, Ga., June 14.—The reserve officers on duty at Fort McPherson will be honored at an informal reception and hop to be given by the members of the Fort McPherson Officers' Club Friday evening at the clubhouse. Major George Woodward and Mrs. Woodward, Major Walter F. Macklin and Mrs. Macklin and Lieutenant Marvin W. Peck and Mrs. Peck will act as the official hosts. Receiving the guests will be a group of ranking officers of the military contingent and their wives.

The reserve officers arrived Sunday from their homes throughout the corps area for a fortnight's training under the expert supervision of Major Steven J. Chamberlain, commanding officer of the twenty-second infantry. Assisting Major Chamberlain will be Captain Edwin Aldridge and the other officers of the regiment. Lieutenant Albert Carol Morgan is in charge of quarters and the reserve officers' mess. The reserve group comprises newly commissioned graduates of the R. O. T. C. units maintained by the government in the southern states making up the corps area.

Mrs. Crenshaw Will Speak Before Club.

Mrs. E. P. Crenshaw will speak on "Wild Flowers" at the meeting of the Hapeville Woman's Club on Thursday, June 16, at the city auditorium at 3 o'clock. A. B. Chiles will present an interesting address on "Birds." The garden division of the club, of which Mrs. Frank Davis is chairman, is sponsoring the meeting, and the public is invited to attend. Mrs. D. B. Evans will render several musical numbers and Mrs. Chester Martin, president of the club, will preside.

Friday evening, June 17, at 8 o'clock, at the city auditorium the educational committee of Hapeville Club will sponsor a musical. An admission fee of 25 cents and 10 cents will be charged and the public is invited. Mrs. O. C. Holmes is chairman of this division.

Adair Park Garden Club Holds Meeting.

Adair Park Garden Club met at the home of Mrs. W. J. Agnew on Brookline street Friday with Mrs. Emmett Quinn presiding.

Mrs. F. P. Whitley and Mrs. D. W. Watson gave interesting talks on the "Culture of Roses." Each member was presented an attractive booklet containing the club membership and calendar for the year.

Tea was served in the beautiful garden of the hostess. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. J. T. Brown, on Mayland avenue.

Those present were: Mesdames J. R. Curtis, C. A. Perry, A. J. Dunlap, Herman Fulton, W. O. Petty, W. E. Vaughn, Emmett Quinn, S. N. Freeman, F. P. Whitley, J. L. Richardson, J. T. Brown, Edith Cole, W. J. Agnew and D. W. Watson.

There's a certain indescribable diaphanous something about a hotel that makes people want to return there again and again to lunch or dine. This psychical "something" is particularly evident at The Algonquin.

How a Famous Novelist Found Shelter

SOME years ago a genial voyager arrived in New York, unannounced, late at night, from West Chester, Pa. There was no vacant room in The Algonquin.

The traveler explained that he had given The Algonquin as his address for important engagements, telegrams and mail. In spite of his polite requests for shelter the weary novelist had to be refused.

Inquiring for the head man he was ushered into Frank Case's office.

"It seems I cannot get a room here," he said quietly. Then added, "My name is Hergesheimer."

"Not the Hergesheimer?" said Case.

"Well, at least a Hergesheimer," replied the tired traveler.

"Did you write 'Java Head'?" inquired Case.

"Yes."

"You can have any room you want, Mr. Hergesheimer. You can have my room. You can have a whole floor."

And thus began the first of the 4,392 visits that the famous novelist has so far paid to The Algonquin.

La Follette Men Accused Of Disrespect to Hoover

CHICAGO, June 14.—(AP)—The conservative republican faction of the Wisconsin delegation today took to the convention credentials committee a resolution calling "un-American unpatriotic" various actions of the progressive group, citing, among other things, their refusal to rise to their feet in the stadium when the chairman mentioned the name of the president and the national colors passed.

Hearers Are Apathetic As Dickinson Speaks

CHICAGO, June 14.—(UP)—The republican party opened its campaign today for the re-election of President Hoover in a convention scene which lacked that fire, enthusiasm and color the American people crave.

The "keynote" speaker, Senator L. J. Dickinson, of Iowa, did his best to rouse them from apathy by lauding President Hoover's measures to relieve the depression and by calling for "party loyalty." But the delegates turned their attention to undersurface controversies which later will break forth in floor battles that will look more like the conventions of old.

Something seemed to be missing.

Leonard Heads Speak Here on Wednesday To the Georgia Gilham Dealer Convention

A. M. Taylor, director of advertising; R. I. Petrie, sales manager of the Leonard Refrigerator Company, and P. C. Gilham, who will tell state dealers of the Gilham Electric Company about the company's sales and advertising plans for 1932 at their meeting here on Wednesday at the Atlanta Athletic Club.

Georgia dealers of the Gilham Electric Company, distributor of Leonard refrigerators, will attend on Wednesday the dealer convention of the company at the Atlanta Athletic Club.

Details of the 1932 sales and advertising campaign of the Leonard Refrigerator Company, said to be the largest the company ever attempted, will be explained to the meeting by R. I. Petrie, sales manager, and A. M. Taylor, director of advertising. They will also assist the distributor in presenting the Leonard lines of household refrigeration.

Generally the company holds its distributor convention in Detroit, Mr. Petrie explained, but this year it was decided to localize the meeting by holding the factory session with the annual distributor dealers' convention.

"The Leonard factory will be literally brought to the field at these distributor-dealer conventions through the showing of a movietone of its various manufacturing departments taken at the Detroit and Grand Rapids plants," Mr. Petrie said. "The sound pictures are said to be the most costly and interesting industrial movies ever filmed. Many of the most important operations are shown vividly with an explanation of the process by a factory expert.

"We are awaiting the opening of the convention with great anticipation since the Leonard advertising and selling program is an unusually comprehensive one this year, involving a greater expenditure of money and based on the results of intensive surveys and studies of the market by some of the country's greatest experts."

Repeal or Ruination Warning of Willys

NEW YORK, June 14.—(UP)—John N. Willys, motor car manufacturer and retiring ambassador to Poland, believes the people of each individual state should determine whether or not they want prohibition.

Willys said he had read the full statement of John D. Rockefeller Jr., who declared for repeal of the 18th amendment, and that he thought Rockefeller was "100 per cent correct."

"You mark my words," said Willys, who arrived on the Europa, Monday. "This country will go to wreck and ruin if it is not changed, and changed soon. The United States hasn't got a Chinaman's chance today if this liquor law is permitted to continue. We are losing so much by taxes that we don't collect, and we are spending so much money in trying to enforce a law that nobody will obey, that it is getting to be a lot of money, even for so big and rich a nation as the United States."

Hoover 'Pussyfoots' on Dry Issue, While Party Awaits His Orders

BY WILLIAM ALLEN WHITE.
(Copyright, 1932, by the North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.)

CHICAGO, June 14.—The wets are trying to stampede the republican convention. Experience should teach them that the republican convention never stampedes on important matters.

Yet the bands are blaring and at public meetings orators are rearing and charging. Through the hotel corridors singers and marchers are clattering around. The drys are enjoying a low visibility. They are holding forth hopefully, but the noise and outward visible signs of power are all with the wets.

Perhaps the drys are like the Conyes of whom it is written: "The Conyes are feeble folk, yet they build their homes among the rock." The dry rock in this instance is the White House.

No word has come from the White House authoritatively. Seven members of the cabinet are delegates—three wet and four dry, at least reasonably dry, but this is the largest group of cabinet members that ever sat as delegates in a national convention.

The president's secretary, Mr. Richey, is here and his political adviser, Ray Benjamin, is here, but no one has been able to squeeze out one syllable from these worthies committing the president to either extreme position in this prohibition contst.

Yet the White House is, after all, the rock against which the repealers beat in vain—the refuge of the little dry convoys of the rocks.

The New York delegation and the New Jersey delegation have passed vigorous left wing wet resolutions which are for trading purposes. They represent an extreme position which their leaders know is a good position to take for swapping purposes with the bone drys. But it is hardly likely that Ogden Mills, President Hoover's secretary of the treasury, member of the resolutions committee and platform maker for the convention, will in the end go further than what seems to be the White House limit—a referendum under constitutional forms after a substitute for prohibition has been agreed upon among a majority of members of the congress.

This program, it is evident, postpones any serious change in the law or in the enforcement of the law so long as Mr. Hoover is in the White House for three or four years. Probably, upon that position the leaders of the convention will stand. The game of the stampeders is to get them off their feet by clamor and noise.

It has been 20 years since anyone tried to stampede a republican convention. Theodore Roosevelt and the progressives made the last assault in Chicago in 1912. They had or claimed to have a majority of the delegates, but they didn't have the organization. They had, and demonstrated in the election, a majority of the republicans in the republican states.

For a week before the convention of 1912 bands were blaring and crowds were clamoring up and down this same Michigan avenue and mobs were roaring and Chicago was in tumult in these same hotels with progressive demonstrations. Yet the delegates on the floor seated by credentials did not bulge an inch. Orders were orders then.

Roosevelt, Seabury Exchange Messages

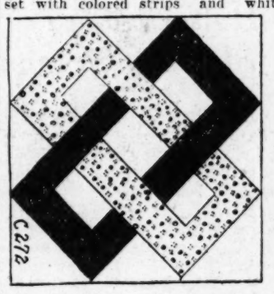

NEW YORK, June 14.—(AP)—Governor Roosevelt and Samuel Seabury today exchanged communications for the first time since Seabury filed his "analysis" of the Mayor Walker testimony with the governor last week.

The governor in a telegram asked Seabury, counsel to the Hofstadter legislative committee, to send copies of his analysis and the eight volumes of testimony to Martin Conboy and John E. Mack, the attorneys Roosevelt appointed to aid him in studying the Walker case.

Seabury replied, also by telegram, that copies had already been sent to Conboy and would be sent to Mack at Poughkeepsie by special messenger.

Fulton grand jury returned 22 true bills and two no-bills at its regular Tuesday session. All were of a minor nature save an indictment against John H. Lee which charges him with blackmail. It is alleged that he attempted to extort $25 from C. C. Vick on June 8 on threat of making charges against him to his employers.

Trial of Tom Perryman, Murray W. Harmon and R. H. Evans, indicted for the alleged murder of a negro student of Morehouse College, slated to be heard in Fulton superior court Tuesday, has been postponed indefinitely. It was stated that a crowded calendar prevented the court reaching the case Tuesday. Three men already have been convicted of the murder of Dennis Hubert, the student.

Detective Chief A. Lamar Poole and Captains A. J. Holcombe and G. T. Butler were among 20 members of the police department who underwent the physical examinations conducted by city health officers upon orders from Police Chief T. O. Sturdivant. Forty members of the department had previously undergone examinations.

John Temple Graves II, editor of the Birmingham Age-Herald and former Atlantan, was the principal speaker Tuesday at the Flag Day program of the Kiwanis Club luncheon at the Ansley hotel. He praised Atlanta, and said its "championship complex" was responsible for its place of leadership among American cities. Mr. Graves was introduced by Colonel J. C. Woodward, founder of the Georgia Military Academy, and Bryan Grant was chairman of the committee in charge of the program.

Companionate marriage was excoriated by Dr. Charles F. Weigle, evangelist, conducting a revival meeting at Wesley Memorial church, Tuesday night during his sermon, "Power—Spiritual and Temporal." Dr. Weigle will preach tonight at 7:45 o'clock on "Law Enforcement and the Church."

Fulton county commissioners met at the office of Chairman Paul S. Etheridge Tuesday night to adopt a definite plan of equalizing the salary list of the county to meet anticipated decreased revenue. It was said that the commission will meet privately probably every night this week in an effort to equalize the salaries and that no revelation of what action they may do will be made until the entire task is completed.

Mrs. Estelle Bradley Lamont, former Atlanta beauty who won fame in Hollywood moving pictures after winning a local beauty contest, will arrive in Atlanta tonight to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Bradley, of 348 Atlanta avenue. She is now the wife of Charles Lamont, motion picture director.

Probe into alleged irregularities in handling of papers in city recorders' court which was begun last week by the Fulton grand jury is slated to be continued this morning, according to the solicitor-general's office.

Police cannot arrest men for carrying placards, it was ruled by Judge John D. Humphries in Fulton superior court when an injunction was sought against the police department to restrain them from arresting union men picketing the Whitehall street bridge, now under construction. He ruled, however, that the police can arrest men if they block traffic or break a city ordinance. Two men arrested and tried in connection with the case are Dan Allen, of 494 Capitol avenue, and L. A. Bishop, of 487 Crew street. The city recorder is to make his decision this morning. He was awaiting a ruling by Judge Humphries.

Bond Clerk J. S. Heard Jr. Tuesday was given a $3,000 check by the sheriff's office for the $3,000 cash bond posted by Ann Burlack, one of the six persons named in an indictment charging attempt to incite to insurrection. The bond along with the others was ordered forfeited Monday on failure to appear for trial. All other bonds were posted by the National Surety Company, of New York.

Crisp Acting Leader In Garner's Absence

WASHINGTON, June 14.—Representative Charles R. Crisp, of Georgia, has been moved up to acting majority leader of the house because of the illness of Speaker John N. Garner, of Texas.

Garner's condition was reported "about the same." He was kept in bed today with a slight fever.

When the speaker became too ill with a throat infection to preside over the house last Monday, Majority Leader Rainey, of Illinois, was appointed acting speaker. As acting chairman of the ways and means committee, Judge Crisp was next in line for the majority leadership and without the formality of a vote, he automatically assumed the position temporarily vacated by Representative Rainey.

During today's fight on the Patman bonus bill which was dramatically postponed by the unfortunate death of Representative Eslick, of Tennessee, Mr. Crisp, as the dean of Georgia's delegation, led the opposition to bonus legislation and allotted time to each member who spoke against the bill.

Atlanta Writers' Club.

FLORIDAN ASSAILS HOLDING COMPANY

Benj. Foster Charges Tha 'Enormous Managemen Fees' Impose Hardship.

WASHINGTON, June 14.—(AP)—Growth of the Associated Gas an Electric Company from a $1,200.00 concern in 1906 to one with assets 8641,820,000 and an income of $34 648,000 in 1929 was traced for th federal trade commission today by E aminer Charles Nodder. The compa controls utilities in 26 states, th Philippine Islands and Canada.

Nodder testified in hearings held i accordance with a senate resolutio for inquiry into affairs of utility co panies.

Before Nodder testified concernin the growth of the company, the matt of management fees of the system ca under fire from S. Davis Wilson, Phi adelphia lawyer, and Benjamin Foste a stockholder in the Florida Publ Service Company, a subsidiary.

Foster contended that "enormou management fees" impose great har ships on the operating companies.

Operating Expenses Increased.

Wilson placed in the record a co plaint filed by Foster in a Flori court alleging that since 1928, und associated management, the Flori company's operating expenses increa ed from 41.7 per cent of its total rev nue to 50.4 per cent in 1930, whi labor and material costs were decli ing.

In 1928, Foster's complaint sai fixed charges amounted to $822,3 "under the management and control the company's proper officers a directors." By 1931, the complai added, these charges had increased $1,085,108 under Associated Gas a Electric management without a corr sponding increase of gross revenue.

Three "Write-Up" Methods.

In a chart accompanying his repo on the associated company appreci tions, Nodder showed that from 19 to 1929 exclusive of "write-ups" its numerous subsidiary holding co panies and trusts totaling $50,20 875. Subtracting depreciations $16,845,723, Nodder said the co pany's net appreciations totaled $3 362,152.

The witness described three "writ up" methods employed to give t ledger values. One was appraisal market values. Another was adjus ment of the value of investments agree with "book values" on subsidia books.

The third method described was th of transfer by a subsidiary compa of "current net earnings" from corporate surplus to its "stated capit for common stock" account.

"Entries of this nature are frequen ly made by subsidiary companies lieu of (or in addition to) the de laration of dividends," Nodder said.

How Earnings Are Taken.

"The Associated Gas and Electr Company upon such action by its su sidiary companies, charged its inve ment account with the amount of su transfer . . . and concurrently cre ited the same amount to an income a count styled 'current net earnings subsidiary companies transferred stated capital.'

"This was closed to corporate su plus at the end of the year," Nodd said.

"This class of adjustment is equi alent, however," he said, "to the ta ing up by a holding company of ear ings of subsidiary companies, witho such earnings being declared as di dents or otherwise made available the holding company."

C., grandfather of the bridegroom, assisted by Dr. George Trowbridge, rector of All Angel's church, performed the ceremony in the presence of a large assemblage of fashionable New York society.

The ushers included Richard Van Dyke Knight, Elisha Walker Jr., Nelson Adams, Francis L. Wurzburg Jr., Francis Cowles, Arnold Berns Jr., John R. Wilson, John Gerli, Rodney Parson and Alfred Ogden.

The bridesmaids were Misses Dorothy Mercadante, Mildred Davis, Betty Gerard, Molly Townsend, Ethel Barrymore Colt, Grace Cowles, Eleanor Waters, Elise Plankinton and Margaret Nicoll. Their gowns were fashioned alike of Jordan green mousseline de soie, made with tight-fitting high waisted bodices and long full skirts. The necklines were cut square and the sleeves were short and puffed. Their large straw hats were of matching green and worn tilted over the right eye. The bridesmaids carried arm bouquets of yellow daisies.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Joseph B. Terbell Jr., wore a gown fashioned like those worn by the bridesmaids, of yellow mousseline de soie. She wore a yellow picture hat and carried an arm bouquet of white daisies.

The bride entered with her father, James Oliver Boone, and they were met at the altar by the bridegroom and his best man, Joseph B. Terbell Jr.

A beautiful brunette, the bride was lovely in her mother's wedding gown of ivory satin, fashioned with sleeves and bodice of duchess lace. The long full skirt ended in a court train in back. Her veil of illusion tulle and rose point lace, over 100 years old, was caught to her hair in cap fashion with a row of tiny orange blossoms following the lines of the cap across the face. Her only ornament was a pearl necklace, a gift of her mother. She carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley and gardenias.

Immediately following the wedding, Mr. and Mrs. Boone entertained at a reception at the Park Lane. During the evening, the bride and bridegroom sailed on the S. S. Europa for a three months' motor trip in Europe.

KNOWING FINGERS POINT TO

Rigo's KILL-KO

The Surest EXTERMINATOR . . . of FLIES . . . MOSQUITOES . . . BED-BUGS, ANTS.. ROACHES, and . . Other Insect Pests. .

Why? . .

Kill-Ko is much more than perfumed coal oil. Kill-Ko contains an over-abundance of Pyrethrum Flowers, the one active scientific and expensive insect-killing ingredient. Its formula is never cheapened by substitutions of weak or useless mixtures. Its genuine quality holds friends from the start.

HOME MAKERS who once use Kill-Ko are never led astray by claims for other preparations. They know that Kill-Ko sprayed into the air actually kills Flies, Mosquitoes, Roaches, Ants, Bed Bugs and other insect pests and is harmless to humans or animals. Try Kill-Ko. Fifty cents is a small amount to spend to make sure of peace and comfort and positive protection.

Woman's Division Will Give Play This Evening

An interesting play entitled "The Eyes of Love" will be given under the auspices of the woman's division of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce at St. Philip's parish house this evening at 8:30 o'clock.

This play is under the supervision of Miss Susie Wailes, who has organized the Impersonators' Club in connection with the ways and means committee of the woman's division of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce. Not only has Miss Wailes directed the play, but she takes the part of an old negro mammy, and thus displays her unusual dramatic talent.

Others taking part in the play include Miss Frances Silvers, Miss Sarah McKinney, Miss Maud Everhardt, Charles de Loach, Campbell McKay, Tubby Hollingsworth, Tom Ewing, Francis Haddock and Harley Brown.

Miss Dinkler's Guests Feted at Parties

Among the interesting visitors in the city ars Mrs. F. A. Wilson-Lawrenson, of Birmingham, Ala., and Mrs. Katherine Whitfield Delaphane, of Montgomery, Ala., who are the guests of Mrs. Carling Dinkler at her apartment in the Ansley hotel. Mrs. Lawrenson formerly resided in Atlanta and is receiving a cordial welcome from a host of friends in the city. Mrs. Delaphane has often visited here and her visits are invariably the inspiration for much informal entertaining among her friends and admirers.

Mrs. Ralph Smith will entertain at a buffet supper this evening at her home on The Prado in compliment to these attractive visitors. Thursday evening they will be central figures in a party at the summer opening of the roof garden of the Capital City Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Evans Will Be Honored.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Evans will be guests of honor at the annual Christian Endeavor alumnae banquet to be held Thursday evening, June 16, at 6:30 o'clock at the First Christian church. A special invitation is extended to former Endeavorers, particularly those who were active at the time Mr. Evans was southern secretary. Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. William Beck, Raymond 6070, or Miss Alice Downing, Dearborn 3760-J. Supper is 35 cents.

Mr. Evans is widely known throughout the country, having been affiliated with the International Society of Christian Endeavor in an official capacity for a number of years.

William Beck, alumnae superintendent for the state, is in charge of arrangements.

Dr. Samuel S. Daughtry, pastor of the Westminster Presbyterian church, will serve as toastmaster.

Miss Hicks Honored.

Miss Evelyn Hicks, a popular bride-elect, whose marriage to Joe Davis Brown will be an interesting social event of June 22, was guest of honor at a miscellaneous household shower at which Miss Elizabeth Catron entertained yesterday.

Those invited to meet Miss Hicks were Misses Dorothy Hinman, Lois Mitchell, Maureen Faulkner, Mesdames R. W. Standridge, S. E. Fincher, T. P. Branch, Marginia Scarboro, Bonita Crowe, Elizabeth Taylor, Alton Farriss, George Coates, John Poole, Opal Shaw, Fay Boland and A. T. Hicks.

Miss Catron was assisted in entertaining by her mother, Mrs. I. I. Catron.

Culbertson on Contract

When to Pre-Empt and Why.

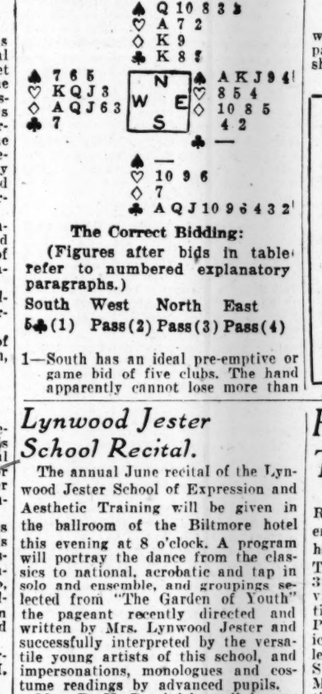

BY ELY CULBERTSON,
World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

The great majority of contract hands lend themselves to approach bidding—to bids which reveal not only the strength held by our partner, but the strength held by our opponents as well. Occasionally, however, in the course of a contract session, hands occur which do not lend themselves to such treatment. In this type fall all kinds of forcing bids on hands in which our honor holdings is so great that we cannot reasonably expect our partner to be able to respond because lacking in honor strength, nor can we hope that our opponents will overcall, because their hands, too, must be well nigh barren of honor holdings. This is the basic reason for using forcing bids in opening the bidding, and these bids, although correctly designated as forcing, are in reality only gigantic approach bids, for the opening suit bid of two implies primarily that the bidder is uncertain as to the final declaration, but wants the assistance of his partner, however weak his holding may be, in determining what is the best final bid on the combined hands.

With another type of hand, however, the opening bidder has no doubt, so far as his holding is concerned, as to what suit should be named as trump. This is a hand of inflexible type, with a strong, long and predominant trump suit, and, generally speaking, the best results will be obtained with such holdings by the use of pre-emptive or game bids.

An interesting example of this type of hand occurred in a recent duplicate game at the Wissahickon Bridge Club in Philadelphia, Pa. Where the hand was opened with a pre-emptive bid of five clubs, five clubs were made. Where the hand was passed, East and West were able to get together for a game contract of five diamonds, which was also made, and south then faced the undesirable choice of bidding six clubs out of a clear sky, for what might be a penalty loss, or permitting his opponents to make game.

South—Dealer.

The Correct Bidding:

(Figures after bids in table refer to numbered explanatory paragraphs.)

South	West	North	East
5♣(1)	Pass(2)	Pass(3)	Pass(4)

1—South has an ideal pre-emptive or game bid of five clubs. The hand apparently cannot lose more than one club trick, one diamond trick and three heart tricks. If doubled and these tricks are lost, it is only a bagatelle of 400 points, which is further lessened by the score for honors held by south.

2—West, vulnerable, or, in fact, not vulnerable, would be courting a heavy penalty to overcall with five diamonds. While south has disclosed the inflexible nature of his hand, he knows nothing about the distribution of eiter north's or east's cards.

4—Nor can east venture to overcall with five spades.

To pass with south's holding, of course, results in east and west finding the fit of their hands in diamonds at once. East and west can make five diamonds, losing only one heart and one diamond. North and south can make five clubs, and south, in view of his long holding and freakish distribution, should boldly, but correctly, over-bid to shut out the exchange of adverse information.

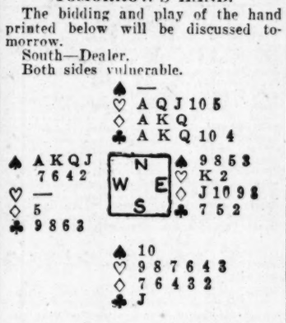

TODAY'S POINTER.

Pre-emptive bids at contract are ordinarily made on hands of an inflexible type—that is, hands which require that, regardless of partner's holding, they shall be played with a predetermined suit as trump.

TOMORROW'S HAND.

The bidding and play of the hand printed below will be discussed tomorrow.

South—Dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

Study the hand, decide how you would bid and play it and then compare the results you obtain with those shown in tomorrow's article.

French Programs Begin Thursday.

The Thursday afternoon French programs to be given under the auspices of the department of romance languages will begin Thursday, June 16, at 4 o'clock in Room 103 Theology building, and there will be 10 weekly programs during the summer.

The principal speaker will be Monsieur Charles Loridans, French consul in Atlanta and president of the Alliance Francaise of the city. Monsieur Loridans, who is a Chevalier de la Legion d'Honneur, will use as his subject the "Life and Carer of the New French President, M. Albert LeBrun," with whom he is personally acquainted. Madam John M. Slaton, vice president of the Alliance Francaise, who has also been decorated by the French government with the title of officier d'Academie, will preside at the first meeting.

In addition to a discussion of the life and career of M. LeBrun, Monsieur Loridans will show how most of the French statesmen of today have risen from the ranks of the plain country people to the position of highest rank by their intelligence and hard work. There will be appropriate musical numbers throughout the summer and the public is invited to attend the programs and there is no charge for admission.

Strikingly, Radically New Phantom★ Kotex

SANITARY NAPKIN (U. S. Pat. No. 1,857,854)

Most important improvement in sanitary protection since the invention of Kotex itself in 1920.

The new Kotex is called PHANTOM★ KOTEX because—you scarcely realize you are wearing it!

No revealing outlines—The new PHANTOM KOTEX is flattened and tapered so that ends are completely inconspicuous.

Greater security—The smooth, snug fit gives greater wearing ease than you've ever before experienced.

New Kotex Belt, narrow, adjustable, only 35c—Wear it with the new PHANTOM KOTEX. The combination makes for complete ease, for completely inconspicuous protection.

Copyright 1932, Kotex Company

AT LAST! A radically new design in sanitary protection. You are scarcely aware that you have it on. Made, of course, by Kotex—originators of the modern sanitary napkin.

It is called PHANTOM ★ KOTEX. Why? Because the ends are so flattened and tapered that it leaves no outlines even under the closest-fitting of gowns. Not the slightest bulk suggested even under the filmiest of summer silks. And—for those who require extra protection—Super-Phantom Kotex is ideal. There's extra protective surface but the ends are so skilfully flattened as to be completely inconspicuous.

Kotex features retained

The special Kotex features you have always appreciated are retained, of course. It is soft after hours of use; wonderfully absorbent; treated to deodorize; can be worn, with equal protection, on either side; disposable, easily.

More than 24 million pads were used in hospitals alone last year.

Insist upon getting genuine Kotex, when you buy it already wrapped. Each tapered end of the new pad is stamped "Kotex" now—so you can't get inferior substitutes.

Kotex prices are today the lowest in Kotex history. This new improvement comes to you at no increase in price. All dealers have the new PHANTOM KOTEX.

HOW SHALL I TELL MY DAUGHTER?

Many a mother wonders. Now you simply send your daughter the little booklet entitled, "Marjorie May's Twelfth Birthday." For free copy, address Mary Pauline Callender, Room 1140, 180 North Michigan Ave., Chicago, Ill.

NOTE: Kotex—now at your dealer's—marked "Form-Fitting" is the new Phantom Kotex

BY JOHN L. COOLEY.

NEW YORK, June 14.—(AP)—Stocks made quiet progress in a dull market today. Prices were rallying at the close.

Improvement seemed based largely on intangibles, such as Wall Street's conviction that the bonus was doomed and that congress was about ready to adjourn.

Alcohol shares got some stimulation from anti-prohibition trends at Chicago.

Auburn finished 3 1-4 off. However, it was lending at a premium of 75 cents a share at the close. National Distillers, Corn Products, U. S. Industrial Alcohol, and a number of tobaccos took command of the situation after an early sag and pulled themselves, as well as other representative leaders, to 1 to 3-point advances. Sales totaled 755,230 shares.

American Tobacco "B", Liggett & Myers "B" U. S. Steel, Procter & Gamble, and numerous others were up from a major fraction to 2 points.

Sugar stocks liked the higher prices for refined and the stronger futures market.

Dividend news was prominent in the day's happenings. Western Union omitted a payment.

The market was treated to a rare spectacle. A regular dividend by a railroad, Virginian being the carrier thus distinguished.

Although repayment of New York city borrowings and preparations for treasury financing were contributory factors to shrinkage in loans and investments of reporting reserve member banks, the large decline was probably influenced also by recent gold losses and recurrent legislative uncertainties.

DECREASE IS SHOWN IN COTTON CONSUMED

WASHINGTON, June 14.—(AP)—Cotton consumed during May was reported today by the census bureau to have been 332,439 bales of lint and 50,178 of linters, compared with 367,280 and 50,936 in April this year and 465,363 and 66,930 in May last year.

Cotton on hand May 31 was reported as follows:

In consuming establishments, 1,463,389 bales of lint and 304,299 of linters, compared with 1,532,967 and 307,985 on April 30 this year and 1,257,616 and 272,626 on May 31 last year.

In public storage and at compresses, 7,608,604 bales of lint and 48,158 of linters, compared with 8,163,937 and 50,494 on April 30 this year and 5,490,017 and 70,177 on May 31 last year.

Imports for May totaled 22,664 bales, compared with 15,720 in April this year and 15,189 in May last year.

May exports totaled 500,871 bales of lint and 11,603 of linters, compared with 544,563 and 9,355 in April this year and 335,796 and 4,968 in May last year.

Cotton spindles active during May numbered 21,639,352 compared with 23,429,246 in April this year and 26,379,092 in May last year.

Foreign Markets

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

LONDON—Forenoon prices showed strength especially gilt-edged securities and German bonds. Some sections became irregular later due to profit-taking. Close quiet and steady.

PARIS—With trading at a minimum, prices were steady as a result of bear coverings and favorable foreign markets. Young loan issues improved smartly and oil and rubber shares were firm. The market closed steady.

BERLIN—Trading restrained in view of political negotiations. The market opened weaker but closed resistantly.

ATLANTA SPOT COTTON.

Atlanta spot cotton closed steady, unchanged, at 4:95. Receipts, 35; shipments, 73; stocks, 166,450.

NEW YORK, June 14.—(AP)—Cotton ruled generally higher today.

July closed at 5.11, with the general market closing steady at net advances of 2 to 4 points.

The opening was steady at a decline of 3 points to an advance of 1 point, with most positions lower. Nervousness over the possibilities of increased weevil infestation and crop damage during the summer, seemed to stimulate buying.

After showing net gains of about 7 to 9 points, demand tapered off. Later fluctuations were rather irregular with December closing at 5.49. Last prices were 5 or 6 points off from the best under realizing.

The census report placing domestic mill consumption for May at 332,439 bales compared with 367,280 the previous month and 465,363 for May last year, appeared to be about in line with expectations and without apparent effect on the market.

Liverpool cables reported continental buying and covering but said the Manchester goods market was unsettled. Exports today 10,782, making 8,177,676 so far this season. Port receipts 5,556. United States port stocks 3,705,493.

IMPROVED TREND NOTED IN NEW ORLEANS

NEW ORLEANS, June 14.—(AP)—Cotton was moderately active today and although prices fluctuated they developed a moderate improving trend.

The market opened active when Liverpool cables came in 1 penny point better to 1 worse than due. Private cables stated that there was continental buying and shorts covering. Manchester cabled that cloth and yarns were quiet, with labor uncertainties restricting business.

Liverpool is due in New Orleans tomorrow 1 penny point down.

Port receipts 5,656, for week 15,220, for season 9,773,253, last season 8,876,079. Exports 10,982, for week 34,602, for season 8,010,236, last season, 6,312,595. Port stock 3,727,297, last year 3,134,472. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 96,043, last year 60,448. Spot sales at southern markets 3,071, last year 2,391.

Miscellaneous Markets.

DRY GOODS.

NEW YORK, June 14.—Sales of coarse sheetings were made at concessions of 1-8 cent a yard. The reduction of 16 per cent in prices on wide sheetings for domestic use is being generally followed. Seamless hosiery manufacturers are taking better quantities of inferior dull luster viscose yarns. More business is being done on men's wear in worsteds. Id silks more interest is developing in fall lines. Burlaps were unchanged.

METALS.

Brokers' Views

Cotton Letters.

FENNER, BEANE & UNGERLEIDER.

NEW YORK, June 14.—The cotton market, at best of the day, showed an advance of 7@9 points compared with the previous close. Final prices were 2@4 points above those of yesterday. The outstanding feature was persistent buying of July by spot houses. A broker frequently operating for the far east also was credited with a purchase of about 10,000 bales in first few minutes of trading. There was also some buying by the continent while Wall Street interests bought on fairly liberal scale. July liquidation was heavy at the opening and appeared throughout the session in moderate volume. Manchester said cloth and yarn markets were unsettled account of threatened labor disturbances. We favor purchases on any moderate setback.

BEER & CO.

NEW ORLEANS, June 14.—Liverpool cables were about as due, being a shade better than due on near months and a shade worse on far months. The local market opened 3 to 5 points down but the trend turned upward after the call on short covering on early reports of showery weather in the belt and additional reports of increasing weevils and some indications of damage being done to the young squares, but the advance was rather slow as the weather map indicated showers only in northern and eastern sections of the belt and heavy rains confined mostly to the southeastern portion of the belt. The low price continues the main sustaining influence. Cotton goods markets show no improvement except there appears to be a growing demand for men's wash suits as disclosed by a survey in 24 states.

DOBBS & CO.

NEW YORK, June 14.—HUBBARD BROS. & CO. SAYS: There has been a small covering move and some fresh outside buying in cotton, based on the gradual improvement of the weather, particularly in the eastern belt. This covering move continued today in a small way, but when the market reached the high point, offerings were made from the south in sufficient quantity to prevent the market from rallying through and making a substantial new high for the move. Weevil talk has been prevalent in the market in the last week. We prefer the constructive side of the market.

LIVINGSTON & CO.

NEW YORK, June 14.—Cotton today was rather more active and exhibited a firm tone after the early decline on short covering and buying attributed to Wall Street probably encouraged by the increasing weevil talk. The firmer tone of the stock market was also an influence. The detailed weather report showed showery conditions northwest Texas, southwest Oklahoma and the Augusta and Wilmington sections. There were also heavy rains in Savannah and Charleston districts.

Stock Letters.

FENNER, BEANE & UNGERLEIDER.

NEW YORK, June 14.—Today's market again presented the spectacle of strength in prices with trading activity at a low level. The reluctance of holders of stocks to sell at current levels is indicated by the restricted volume on which rallies are being effected.

Bonus legislation promises to be a focal point of interest tomorrow but economy legislation may also come up for action. Adjournment of congress within several days looms as a possibility which is expected to be followed by more sustained constructive activity in the stock market.

Market action suggests a likelihood that stocks may break through the recent trading range on the upside in the next rally.

BEER & CO.

NEW YORK, June 14.—Today's market was another dull affair with most stocks closing up on the day.

There seems to be nothing new in the picture at this time to change our cautious attitude. Would buy only on dips and sell on rallies.

Politics are in the limelight at the moment and some change in sentiment towards general conditions might turn the market easily.

DOBBS & CO.

NEW YORK, June 14.—Adverse business developments were plentiful, but failed to bring out important liquidation in today's stock market session. We regard the display of firmness as confirming the view that influences are at work to bring about a greater degree of confidence. We refer particularly to the continued gains by the American dollar in the foreign exchange markets, which suggest that the gold export movement is running to its natural end. A reverse movement in the federal reserve gold ratio may be witnessed soon and this could hardly fail to have favorable stock market significance.

COURTS & CO.

NEW YORK, June 14.—The market acted today very much as it did yesterday. It has been swinging up and down but with the tone generally upwards. It is hoped that congress will adjourn, if not the end of this week the early part of next, and this brings encouragement. The market is so dull that there is really nothing about which to write. We are happy to say that there has been no liquidation for some time.

LIVINGSTON & CO.

NEW YORK, June 14.—News overnight and during the day was predominantly unfavorable. The condition statement of reporting member banks showed an intensification of the trend toward liquidation. Declines in loans, investments and deposits were unusually large.

Car loadings decreased over 73,000 from the preceding week though due allowance should, of course, be made for the Decoration Day holiday. The wheat market was again heavy, declining close to last year's record low. Bond prices did not alter much.

The general market acts well in the face of discouragement and the chances seem to favor a test of June high before long.

Grain Letters.

FENNER, BEANE & UNGERLEIDER.

CHICAGO, June 14.—An early break due to unexpected weakness in Liverpool established a new set of low prices for all currently trading deliveries but pressure spent its force almost immediately and there was a stubbornly firm undertone throughout balance of the day. The much better feeling in the stock market stimulated some short covering but failed to induce any volume of new investment buying. Liverpool weakness was attributed to indifferent continental demand as buyers are awaiting outcome of the Lausanne conference and American political convention.

There is no buying power and very little confidence in prices but we feel that all bearish factors have received full recognition in the recent decline.

Money Market.

NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, June 14.—Dollars rallied briskly against foreign exchanges today. Their strength was notable in the case of French francs, which sagged sharply coincident with word that France was completing earmarking of the metal she had on call here.

France cables closed ⅛ point off at 3.93¼ cents for cable transfers, a new low for the movement. Dutch guilders were down 5 points, well under the gold level, while Swiss francs at 19.50 were only a point above the level at which gold shipments would be profitable.

Great Britain in dollars, others in cents.

SUGAR.

NEW YORK, June 14.—There was a further advance of 1-32c in the raw sugar market today, bringing the spot price up to 2.75 with a continued good inquiry reported.

Sales confirmed were 55,800 bags of Philippines and 25,000 bags of Porto Rican all in prompt positions at 2.75 to local refiners with further interest at this level, but nothing firmed offered below 2.80.

Futures again showed firmness closing with net gains of 2 to 3 points. The market opened at advances of 1 to 4. July contracts sold up to .75 and December to .90, representing net advances of about 17 to 20 points from the low of the month.

There was considerable realizing on this upturn and setbacks followed with the market reacting to within a point of the previous close.

Trading was more active than for some time past with the day's transactions aggregating about 63,650 tons. July closed .75, September .81, December .89, January .91, March 96 and May 1.01.

In refined prices were unchanged today at 3.70 for fine granulated but all local refiners announced they would advance 10 points tomorrow to 3.80.

CHICAGO, June 4.—(AP)—All deliveries of wheat today broke the season's low price record.

Overwhelmed by such a sudden rush of selling that followed sharp breaks in quotations at Liverpool, the Chicago market for the first time in 193[illegible] plunged under 49 cents a bushel on July contracts representing the new domestic wheat crop now being harvested southwest.

Wheat closed nervous, 3-4 to 1 1-[illegible] under yesterday's finish, corn at 1-[illegible] decline to a shade advance, oats unchanged to 1-4 to 3-8 off, and provisions varying from 5 cents setback to 5 cents gain.

Corn was in better demand than wheat, and after an early dip showed comparative strength. Boston sent word of 16,000 bushels of white corn bought for export. Oats sympathized with wheat weakness. Rye imitated wheat, and touched new lows for the season.

Provisions were irregular, influenced by cereals, despite firmness of hog values.

Highlights of Wall Street

BY CHARLES W. STORM, Editor, the News Service of Wall Street.

NEW YORK, June 14.—Continued firmness in the general market today reflected the beginning of accumulation of stocks by Wall Street and important foreign interests in anticipation of the adjournment of congress.

It is believed that the house will complete its work by the latter part of next week.

The Street is not worrying about the veterans' bonus bill, confident it will be killed by the senate or vetoed by President Hoover, but the district is in a mood of anticipation.

The expansion of activities on the part of some speculative groups occurred in the face of an announcement of a decrease in car loadings of 73,575 cars for the week ended June 4, compared with the preceding week and the omission of the dividend of Western Union stock. The latter action was expected and did not have any unfavorable effect on the general list.

One favorable development was the death of the Garner bill in committee. Foreign exchange rates were lower, another way of stating that the American dollar showed improvement as expressed in foreign currencies. Improvement in the American dollar is due to a belief abroad that the outflow of gold from America has been stopped.

Foreigners also are exhibiting a more confident feeling toward the United States, indicated by the fact that there has been a fair amount of buying by them in the American stock market, particularly by speculative intertsts in Paris who for the last two years have been prominent on the selling side.

LOUISIANA HI-JACKERS SEIZE $2,000 IN RUM

NEW CASTLE, June 14—(AP)—The New Orleans States today reported that 20 shots were fired and an independent liquor runner lost a $2,000 load of imported liquors in a pitched battle with hi-jackers early today in the lonely marsh country south of New Orleans. No one was injured, so far as could be learned.

BRITISH KING'S AUNT UNDERGOES OPERATION

LONDON, June 14.—(AP)—A preliminary operation for removal of a cataract from the right eye was performed today on the Princess Beatrice, aunt of King George. The operation took place at Kensington palace.

Princess Beatrice is the daughter of Queen Victoria and the mother of former Queen Victoria of Spain. She was 75 years old in April.

Dividends Declared.

NEW YORK, June 14.—(AP)—Directors of the Virginian railway today declared a regular quarterly dividend of $1.50 a share on the common stock, payable July 1, to stock of record June 18.

American Brake Shoe and Foundry Company declared a dividend of [illegible] cents a common share, payable June 30 to stock of record June 24.

Dividend Omitted.

NEW YORK, June 14.—(AP)—Directors of the Western Union Telegraph Company at their meeting today decided to omit the dividend due on the capital stock at this time. Three months ago the company paid $[illegible] share.

NEW YORK, June 14.—(AP)—Issues of Germany and the United States government were the features of today's bond market which, in the case of domestic corporate loans, was inclined to irregularity.

Prices tended to firm moderately near the close of the session with the result that the average for 60 corporate securities recorded a gain of four-tenths of a point. Sales totaled $9,682,000, par value.

The reich bonds spurted at the opening and continued strong throughout. German 5 1-2s and 7s retained gains of from 3 5-8 to 5 3-4 points. Interest in the German section was attributed partly to improved sentiment regarding outcome of the nearby Lausanne conference.

All of the U. S. government issues were either up from fractions to around one-half point or unchanged. Most of them eased slightly from their day's high marks.

The rails, industrials and utilities followed a narrow range.

Monk Massacre

The massacre of 2,000 monks at the Battle of Chester, in 613 A. D., when they were helping the Welsh against the Northumbrian Saxons, will be re-enacted at the 1933 Welsh national Eisteddfod.

Paupers Prove Wealthy

The city welfare department of New Britain, Conn., started to check up on persons receiving assistance as paupers. One man was found to have $16,000 in a bank, another $12,000, and a third $9,000.

Unearth Skeletons

Three Indian skeletons have been unearthed in Deerfield, Wis., in recent months. The latest specimen was that of an adult male. An Indian pipe made of white sandstone was found near by.

Government Assists Chilean Merchants

SANTIAGO, Chile, June 14.—(AP)—Chile's new socialist government extended a helping hand to retail merchants today by decreeing a 30-day moratorium on all their debts and by extending their loans at the national savings banks.

Meanwhile the problem of dealing with the American-controlled $375,000,000 Cosach nitrate combine continued to occupy the attention of the junta.

On the heels of an announcement by the finance minister that nothing would immediately be done that was detrimental to foreign investors in Chilean enterprises, the government appointed Aurelio Nunez Morgado to the post of superintendent of nitrate mines. He is an active opponent of foreign interests, notably those involved in Cosach.

Roosevelt Backer Wins in Kentucky

FRANKFORT, Ky., June 14.—(AP)—Supporters of Franklin D. Roosevelt won a victory today when the Kentucky delegation to the democratic national convention chose Urey Woodson, retired Owensboro publisher and former member of the national committee, as Kentucky's member of the platform committee.

The delegation is instructed for Roosevelt. Woodson won the platform committee post by a vote of 14 3-5 to 11 3-10 over Desha Breckinridge, editor and publisher of the Lexington Herald, which has editorially criticized the New York governor.

Woodson had announced he would follow the wishes of Roosevelt in drafting the party's platform. Breckinridge had announced he would vote for a plank advocating repeal of the eighteenth amendment. Governor Ruby Laffoon was elected chairman of the delegation.

FLORIDA VETS FAVOR DEPORTATION OF 'REDS'

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., June 14.—(AP)—Florida Veterans of Foreign Wars, in convention here today, adopted resolutions, among them one urging deportation for any naturalized citizen found active in the promotion of communist doctrines, and then adjourned early to take part in Elks flag day services in city park and later to hold the annual department parade.

The resolution urging action against reds was offered by the Tampa post and J. J. O'Steen, Tampa delegate, speaking for it, said he believed many in the state do not appreciate the seriousness of the communist movement in Tampa.

CURB LIST SHOWS FIRM UNDERTONE

NEW YORK, June 14.—(AP)—Curb market shares in the main displayed a good undertone today. The turnover was light, aggregating 100,000 shares.

American Superpower 1st preferred encountered short covering on announcement of discontinuance of dividends, and closed up 2 1-2 points. Electric Bond and Share finished at 7, off 1-4, after early firmness.

In the industrials, Fajardo Sugar traded at 13, up 1 5-8, in response to advancing raw and refined prices. Oils were about steady, Indiana closed at 17 7-8, up 1-4.

HOOVER'S SIGNATURE STOPS TAX LOOPHOLE

WASHINGTON, June 14.—(AP)—The eight-day-old tax law was amended today in an effort to keep big users of goods subject to excise taxes from escaping levies totaling $40,000,000 to $50,000,000.

President Hoover, without comment or ceremony, signed a resolution adopted by the house and senate to insert the amendment. It was explained by Representative Crisp, of Georgia, acting chairman of the house ways and means committee when it handled the tax bill, that the change was necessary because of an oversight by congress.

It had been intended to keep persons buying things on the installment plan from having to pay the excise taxes if their contracts were made before the taxes became effective. Inadvertently, the bill was so worded that it also excluded big firms which had long-term contracts for taxable goods.

Therefore, both houses rushed through yesterday the amendment which President Hoover signed today, letting installment plan buyers complete their purchases free of taxes.

At the same time, though, the big companies which buy gasoline, automobiles, tires and similar things on long-time contracts will be required to pay the taxes on purchases not delivered before June 21.

Crisp estimated that without this amendment the treasury would have been unable to collect $40,000,000 to $50,000,000 expected to be raised by the $1,118,000,000 revenue act.

Cole Blease Favors Dry Law Referendum

LEXINGTON, S. C., June 14.—(AP) Cole L. Blease, former senator, declared the prohibition question should be submitted to the voters of the nation in the opening speech here today of the county-to-county campaign of the four aspirants for the democratic nomination to the United States senate.

Before the meeting Senator E. D. Smith, seeking renomination, issued a statement saying he would be bound by the democratic national platform's declaration on prohibition.

A third candidate, Ashton H. Williams, Florence attorney, advocated repeal.

Leon W. Harris, Anderson solicitor, avoided mention of prohibition.

RUM ANALYSIS MADE IN NEWSMAN'S DEATH

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., June 14. (AP)—A bottle of monshine liquor from which R. H. Donaldson, freelance newspaperman, was said to have been drinking before he died in a local hospital last night, will be analyzed under orders of a coroner's jury, it was decided today.

An inquest into Donaldson's death was started this morning. It developed that he was arrested at 11:15 o'clock Monday morning when found seated on a stairway in a local bank building. He was confined in the city jail for four and a half hours before being moved to the hospital for treatment.

HOLLYWOOD REALTOR SLAIN BY HILL BANDIT

HOLLYWOOD, June 14.—(UP)—Merton F. Jenks, wealthy Hollywood realty operator and associate of Police Commissioner Thomas Walkup, was killed tonight in a battle with a bandit in the Hollywood hills.

The only witness was Mrs. Helen E. Moffitt, of Venice, Cal., to whom Jenks was showing some property. She said an armed man leaped from behind the shrubbery and pointed the gun at Jenks, who grappled with him.

JUDGE DEFERS CASE AGAINST CALDWELL

NASHVILLE, Tenn., June 14.—(AP)—On motion of defense counsel, Judge Chester K. Hart in criminal court today passed until the September term the fraudulent breach of trust case against Rogers Caldwell, recently reversed by the state supreme court.

Shaft Marks Site Of Cowpens Battle

GAFFNEY, S. C., June 14.—(AP) A shaft marking the site of the Battle of Cowpens, turning point of the Revolutionary War in the Carolinas, was unveiled today at the spot 12 miles from here where patriots under General Daniel Morgan routed the British command by Colonel Banastre Tarleton.

Artillery from Fort Bragg gave a military touch to the ceremonies. Governor Ibra C. Blackwood, of South Carolina, presided. The principal address was by Dr. Henry Nelson Snyder, president of Wofford College at Spartanburg, S. C.

2 CAROLINA NEGROES CONVICTED OF MURDER

WALTERBORO, S. C., June 14. (AP)—Booker T. Copeland and Arthur Tucker, negroes, were convicted of murder today and sentenced to die in the electric chair July 29 for the slaying of R. C. McMillan, a farmer, near here in April.

TENNESSEE CANDIDATE FAVORS REFERENDUM

MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 14.—(AP)—One of Tennessee's candidates for the democratic nomination for governor favors a prohibition referendum.

Rufus Campbell, of Ripley, announced his stand today and said he would discuss the prohibition question in an address here Saturday night. He did not indicate whether he favored retention or repeal of the prohibition amendment.

His opponents include Judge M. R. Patterson, of Memphis; Hill McAlister and Lewis S. Pope, of Nashville. Other candidates have not touched on the prohibition question.

Gold 'Run' on U.S. Believed Near End As France 'Earmarks' $49,995,100

NEW YORK, June 14.—(UP)—The big foreign gold "run" on the United States, which has drained more than a billion dollars from this country's gold stocks since last September, was believed at an end tonight after the Bank of France had converted practically all of its dollar balances in this market into gold.

This gold, amounting to $49,995,100, was placed under "earmark," or reserved for future shipment. The action added the French bank to the other foreign central banks that have completed their conversion operations in this market.

These banks, the Bank of Holland, the Bank of Belgium, the Swiss National bank and the French bank, all of which have been on the other end of the long flow of gold out of this country, now are shipshape to finance trade recovery in their respective countries, bankers pointed out.

At the same time, it was said, foreign dollar balances here, which in 1929 exceeded three billion dollars, now total less than a half billion dollars and any further sudden withdrawals of gould will not affect credit stability in this country.

In addition to today's "earmarking" operation for the French bank, there were exports of $5,138,000 to France, $66,400 to Germany and $31,000 to Switzerland. No more important shipments of the yellow metal can be looked for in the near future, according to bankers, who, quoting precedent, expected a return flow of the metal later in the year.

In the meantime, the United States is left with an ample supply of gold for all needs, stocks of the metal being estimated at $3,900,000 today, allowing for the final French deal. The American stocks amount to more than 35 per cent of all the monetary gold in the world.

European banks still have from $350,000,000 to $400,000,000 gold in this country reserved for foreign shipment. This is expected to leave the country during the next few weeks, but will, of course, have no effect on Uncle Sam's present gold pile.

The end of the "run" on American gold was hastened, according to bankers, by progress toward balancing the country's budget. This inspired foreign confidence in the dollar, which today capped a period of advance with another sharp rise.

M'LEAN IS REMOVED AS PUBLISHER OF POST

WASHINGTON, June 14.—(AP)—A formal order relieving Edward B. McLean from the trusteeship of his father's estate as far as the Washington Post is concerned was signed today in the District of Columbia supreme court by Justice Jennings Bailey.

The decree follows a stipulation by counsel in which McLean agreed to resign as president and publisher of the paper. He will continue to act as co-trustee of the remainder of his father's estate.

MRS. POOLE TO HEAD WOMEN'S FEDERATION

SEATTLE, Wash., June 14.—(AP)—Mrs. Grace Morrison Poole, of Brockton, Mass., was assured the presidency of the General Federation of Women's Clubs for the next three years today when she became the sole nominee for that office. She is the present first vice president.

Mrs. Poole will succeed Mrs. John F. Sippel, of Baltimore, elected president in 1928 and re-elected two years ago. Under an amendment adopted yesterday, the president will serve one three-year term and conventions will be held triennially.

Among other nominations was that of Mrs. Edward M. Land, of Statesville, N. C., chairman of the committee on safety in the home and school.

TARZAN AND THE ANT MEN No. 123

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

The great surgeon made his examination. There was pressure on the brain from a fracture of the skull. An operation MIGHT restore the patient's mind and memory. It took place the following morning. Lady Greystoke and Korak awaited the verdict.

At last the surgeon entered the room. Their eyes asked him the question that their lips dared not voice. "I cannot tell you anything as yet," he announced, "other than that the operation was a success. What the results will be only time will tell."

"I have given orders," said the surgeon, "that no one is to enter the room, other than the nurses, for ten days. They are instructed not to speak to him or allow him to speak. I assure you that your husband has every chance for complete recovery." . . .

Off in Obebe's village the witch doctor had laid his hand upon the shoulder of the prisoner; in his other he clutched a red-hot iron. Suddenly the muscles of the prisoner leaped into action, and the cannibals went pop-eyed with amazement and terror.

The Real Estate Situation as Discussed by Those Who Know It—from A to Z

DRAPER-OWENS CO.
REAL ESTATE-INSURANCE-LOANS
GRANT BUILDING
ATLANTA, GA.

JESSE DRAPER
PRESIDENT

The Atlanta Constitution
Atlanta, Georgia

Gentlemen:

Real Estate is as essential a commodity as wheat, cotton or corn and when it sells below the cost of production it is inevitable that its sale's price must be eventually increased.

There are in Atlanta today properties, both residential and business, selling below the cost of production and when the winds of returning prosperity blow the present clouds of fear and doubt away, we will all be wondering what we were doing when these opportunities existed.

At this time of indefinite prices on commodities in general, one of the most attractive things about Real Estate is that the fee simple title holder is not subjected to market page quotations made by others on his property.

Land the world over is the fundamental basis of wealth, so why not buy the foundation rather than the flag pole, which may blow away?

Sincerely,

Jesse Draper
President.

The Association Pledge

MY BUSINESS standard shall include the best customs which have grown up amongst business men and the forbearance and sympathy which binds us into a common humanity. I shall regard every responsibility which comes to me as an opportunity and obligation to deserve it, every privilege as a duty to myself and others, and I shall so conduct myself in my business relations that my contributions to society shall be for the raising of all business standards.

I shall regard and maintain my business as an honorable and dignified profession, worthy of the respect of my fellow man.

My constant aim shall be to give each client my best efforts to the end that each transaction shall be an exchange to the profit and advantage of each of us.

To give earnest thought to increasing knowledge of my business, and developing skill in the practice of my profession.

To make justice and generosity the law of my life and conduct, and to so order my professional relations that my associates may be inspired by my example.

To hold friendship as the most cherished of all things to be gained by any person, friends as the worthiest asset of my business, and the confidence of friendship a sacred trust.

I agree that abuse or misuses of friendship is a direct violation of the principles upon which the success of this Association depends.

I shall refrain from securing any business at the cost of what my associates might consider questionable tactics, and shall fairly face and perform my duty to practice co-operation in all my dealings.

I will never use what I know to be an unfair advantage of my customer or an associate in my profession.

I will hold myself rigidly to these standards, regardless of the standards of those with whom I come in contact.

FOES OF LONG ELECT RIVAL DELEGATION

"Rump Convention" Group Plans Fight To Unseat "Kingfish" Unit.

SHREVEPORT, La., June 14.—(AP) A large wing of the democratic party in Louisiana today effected a definite break with United States Senator Huey P. Long when they defied the self-styled "kingfish of Louisiana politics" by holding a state convention and electing delegates to the national convention in Chicago. There an attempt will be made to unseat the delegation to be headed by Senator Long.

Going a step further, leaders in the local conclave announced plans for seeking to replace Senator Long and Mrs. Emile Bienvenu, New Orleans, on the national democratic committee, with committee members of their own choosing.

Long and Mrs. Bienvenu were named national committee members several weeks ago by the state central committee, which also appointed Louisiana's delegates to the Chicago convention.

Branding the committee appointment of delegates as "undemocratic," four state central committeemen and ten parish democratic chairmen joined in calling today's convention to name a rival delegation.

MRS. ANNA L. SWEET DIES IN OWEGO, N. Y.

Mrs. Anna L. Sweet, mother of Mrs. N. S. Noble, of 2525 Dellwood drive, N. W., Atlanta, died Saturday at her home in Owego, N. Y. Funeral services were held in Owego Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Sweet had been ill for several weeks. She leaves beside her daughter, Mrs. Noble, and granddaughter, Miss Marian Virginia Little, here, a son, George W. Sweet, of Boston.

Mrs. Sweet had visited in Atlanta several times and had a large number of friends here.

Mr. and Mrs. Noble and daughter are in Owego.

GERMANY FACES HEAVIEST TAXES

BERLIN, June 14.—(AP)—The heaviest tax burden ever carried by the German people was imposed today when President Paul Von Hindenburg signed a sweeping emergency decree submitted to him by his new chancellor Franz Von Papen.

Every German with a job is required to pay a tax on it under the new regulation. Every purchaser of salt will contribute his mite to the government through a new levy.

And, on the other side of the ledger, the government's dole to the unemployed and the war maimed was materially slashed.

With the extraordinary tax measures already in force, the new levies mean Germans will pay as they never have paid before.

A peculiar feature of the taxation burden is the fact that it was imposed by emergency decree. It was the president's objection to the "emergency decree government" of former Chancellor Heinrich Bruening that was largely responsible for Dr. Bruening's downfall. Now the aged field marshal has signed the most drastic decree of all.

The socialist newspaper Vorwaerts reported that one of the first results of the new measure was a deluge of protests. Organizations inundated the president with resolutions.

The new ministry asserted in a public statement that the taxation was made necessary by the problems inherited from the Bruening regime.

The salt tax of six pfennings a pound is expected to yield 60,000,000 marks (about $14,820,000) which will be used to further the government's homestead projects.

The tax on employed persons, which is graduated from 1 1-2 per cent up, will provide an estimated 400,000,000 marks (about $94,800,000) which will be applied on obligations in connection with the dole for the unemployed.

Citizens of Fairburn Are Given Tax Holiday

Citizens of Fairburn were enjoying a tax holiday Tuesday following the action of city council in declaring all taxes a thing of the past so far as the next 12 months are concerned.

Despite the economic depression, Mayor Guy Hearn explained, the Fairburn city treasury possesses $5,000 in cash, a sum sufficient to run the municipality for one year, and the city fathers deemed it wise to declare taxes off at a time when such action would be most welcome.

The tax exemption for the year applies to railroads running through Fairburn, public utilities and industries, as well as individual property owners. The city has a population of 2,503, according to the 1930 census.

W. H. VINCENT FUNERAL SET FOR THIS MORNING

Leading railroad executives and Atlanta businessmen will form honorary escorts at the funeral services at 11 o'clock this morning for William Holmes Vincent, comptroller of the Atlanta and West Point railroad and the Western Railroad of Alabama and Georgia railroad, who died Monday night at his home on Club drive, Brookhaven.

Services are to be held at St. Luke's Episcopal church, of which he was an active member. Dr. John Moore Walker, the rector, will officiate at the rites, and interment will be in West View cemetery.

Pallbearers will be E. C. Backer, J. J. O'Shea, P. M. Boyce, J. A. Craig, W. W. Hewitt, R. T. Pace, E. J. Mulhern and R. C. Ailor.

Mr. Vincent, a native of Charleston, S. C., had held the position of comptroller for the last eight years, and was one of the best known railroad executives in the south. He was particularly well known for his activities in railroad accounting and had served as chairman of the Southeastern Accounting conference. He was also auditor of the Atlanta Terminal Company. His entire business career had been spent in railroad companies.

Surviving Mr. Vincent are his wife; three daughters, Mrs. Durrie B. Hardin, wife of the minister of Prince Frederick, Md., and Miss Katherine Vincent and Mrs. J. C. Woolf, of Atlanta, and three sisters and a brother. H. M. Patterson & Son are in charge of arrangements.

MOTHER'S SLAYING LAID TO ATTORNEY

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., June 14.—(AP)—John R. Boyle, 37-year-old attorney, was charged today with the murder of his mother, Mrs. Jesse A. Boyle, 66, member of one of Birmingham's oldest and most prominent families.

Warrant for the attorney's arrest was ordered by County Investigator G. M. Evans, after investigating his story that his mother was stabbed to death yesterday by a man who attempted to rob them while they gathered flowers on Shades mountain, 12 miles from Birmingham.

After the warrant was served, Boyle was removed to the county jail from a hospital where he was under treatment for wounds he said were received when he went to the rescue of his mother. His injuries were described as "minor."

Boyle appeared at a mountain residence last night and said he had been unconscious since 2 p. m., when the attack occurred. His mother's body was found at the foot of a bluff, 50 feet off the highway, with her throat slashed and a jugular vein severed.

County officers said valuable diamond rings and a diamond brooch worn by Mrs. Boyle and a small sum of money in her purse was untouched. There was nothing, they said, to indicate robbery.

A towel found wrapped around Mrs. Boyle's head was said by her son to have been placed there after he regained consciousness last night. He also explained a bottle of chloroform found in his car was used for treating a skin ailment.

V. C. McAllister, operator of a filling station three miles from "Lover's Leap," where Mrs. Boyle was slain, said he saw Boyle and his mother on the mountain several times the past week. He said they passed his place twice yesterday, the last time about 1 p. m., traveling toward the scene of the killing.

McAllister said they stopped on two occasions at his place and that on one visit Boyle explained they were looking over some real estate. Servants said Boyle came to his mother's home at 8 a. m. yesterday to take her marketing and did not return during the day.

BIRTHDAY PARTY IS GIVEN OTTLEY BY BANK WORKERS

John K. Ottley, president of the First National Bank and prominent Atlantan, was given a surprise birthday party Tuesday night at Brookhaven Country Club by the First National Bank and Trust Company of Georgia Employes' Club.

About 300 persons were present, including employes, officers and directors of the bank and their wives. All branches of the bank were represented. Mr. Ottley had no knowledge of the affair until he reached the club.

Upon his arrival he was presented with an enormous cake, three tiers high and covered with designs of green and white frosting, which was made by Wilmer Greiner, and employe of the bank. The party then adjourned to the flower-banked terrace, where dancing was enjoyed.

Today marks the sixty-fourth birthday anniversary of Mr. Ottley, who has been prominent in Atlanta business and social life for a number of years.
